CIC Finances Transfer Of Patterson Valve Plant

Arrangements for financing the transfer of the former Ludlow - Rensselaer Valve Manufacturing Co. at Troy, N.Y., to the Patterson Division of Banner Industries here were completed Thursday.

The Community Improvement Corp. provided a loan of $200,000 to Banner for the transfer of heavy equipment of the valve concern to the plant here, marking a major expansion of Patterson.

The valve firm, which will be known as Patterson - Ludlow, was acquired by Patterson in 1960. Ludlow operated at Troy for 129 years and employed 200 workers with an annual payroll of over $1 million.

PATTERSON recently began construction of a new 10,000-square - foot addition to its plant in the East End to house a crane and other operations of its plate and fabrication shop.

William P. Barker, Banner president, said some 60,000 square feet have been "freed" for the new operations involving the valve production.

He estimated some 100 production jobs along with 30 engineering and technical jobs will be added to the Patterson operations, which now employ 200.

Production of valves, ranging from 3 inches to 96 inches, will be undertaken. Output already has begun with the first arrival of machinery earlier this month.

The CIC loan, which is non-interest - bearing and to be liquidated within three years, will finance the rail and truck transfer of 63 pieces of heavy equipment, including huge boring mills, turret lathes, conveyors and other items, along with four million pounds of inventory items such as castings.

PATTERSON officials pointed out the growing potential in the market for the large valves in connection with municipal water and sewer systems and pollution control projects.

At Troy, Lee Ross, vice president of marketing for Banner, said most of the workers there were machinists or machine operators who are finding jobs in other area plants.

Ross said the company's brass foundry will remain at Troy and expand. The foundry employs 17.

Completion of the transfer and installation of the Ludlow equipment is expected by the end of August, Barker said.

He expressed appreciation for the efforts of the CIC in aiding the corporate move, commending the officials for the CIC's continuing efforts to attract new industry and assist existing firms.

Ralph A. Finley, CIC president, referred to the important role Patterson has played in the East Liverpool area's economy for many years and declared the CIC is vitally concerned with helping in any way with the successes of Patterson and its ambitious plans for the future.

Patterson dates back to 1865 when the late A. J. Boyce started the Industrial Foundry & Machine Works on E. 6th St., and later purchased property at E. 6th and Walnut where he

Fall Claims Workman At Stratton Plant

A 19-year-old Follansbee resident killed in a 42-foot fall Thursday is the second construction worker to lose his life this month at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Edison Co.

Pronounced dead at Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville, at 11 a.m. was Alan Bennett, 19, of 231 Brookview Dr., who fell about five feet from a scaffold onto a piece of plywood covering a hole on the fourth story. The impact broke the board and Bennett fell another 42 feet.

Company officials said he may have slipped from the scaffold or jumped with enough force to split the board spanning the 2-by-8-foot hole.

Bennett landed on a concrete platform on the first story of one of two nine - story structures being constructed by the Townsend and Bottum Construction Co. of Ann Arbor, Mich.

The pipefitter, who was employed by the company when construction work began there Nov. 10, was the second fatality this month. Ronny Alan Ammons of Aliquippa, a boilermaker, was killed when he fell from the ninth to the fifth floor of one of the structures June 12.

Mr. Bennett was born at Steubenville in 1948, the son of Boyd

County Real Estate

Valuation Fixed At $433 Million

LISBON — The reappraisal of Columbiana County real estate shows an aggregate valuation of $433 million, according to County Auditor Kenneth Bell.

This compares with $380 million set during the previous reappraisal in 1962. The state requires a reappraisal every six years.

New valuations will be placed on the tax duplicate for the tax year 1968, payable in 1969.

UNITED Appraisal Co. of Cleveland completed the reappraisal this month. Crews checked approximately 65,000 parcels — industrial, commercial, agricultural, residential and exempt properties like schools and churches. The work took 23 months and cost $227,500.

United's contract calls for one other service — defending the appraisal figures when property owners protesting increased valuations bring their tax statements to the Courthouse early next year.

Some 6,000 owners came to the Courthouse early in 1963, Bell recalls, and he and his staff spent six weeks meeting with them individually.

While the sound or market value of county real property is $433 million, the assessed value for tax purposes is 186 million, or $33 million more than at the last reappraisal.

The auditor said the assessed valuation is about 43 per cent of the appraised market value, compared with 40 cent since 1962.

This 43 per cent factor is established by the state and the auditor must apply it uniformly to all classes of real property, Bell said.

Some time in the fall, probably in October after the Board of Review has completed its equalization program, the auditor said he will advertise that the reappraisal figures may be inspected at the Courthouse by individual property owners.

Johnson Says He Will Sign Holidays Bill

WASINGHTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will sign the bill making four national holidays fall always on Mondays, but the resulting long weekends won't start until 1971.

The new law will change the dates for Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day, and give Columbus Day status as a national holiday.

Washington's Birthday will fall on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

The bill applies only to federal employes andt he District of Columbia. But by Jan. 1, 1967, when the law takes effect, most states are expected to have decided to go along with the new holiday lineup, which, with Labor Day, will produce five three-day weekends a year.

"This is the greatest thing that has happened to the travel industry since the invention of the automobile," said Clarence A. Arata, president of the National Association of Travel Organizations.

Fire, Police Bill Rushed By Council

Final Reading Due On Saturday For Pay Legislation

Making good on a promise that sent East Liverpool firemen and police back to their jobs Thursday morning, Council gave first reading last night to an ordinance granting general $23-a-month pay boosts, effective Monday.

Since only four affirmative votes were mustered—against the six required for immediate passage — Council immediately scheduled another special meeting for tonight at 7:30 to give the legislation second reading. The third and final reading may come on Saturday in order to get the raise under the wire before the effective date.

WITH Councilman Floyd Murray absent, the remaining six members split, 4-2, on all the motions that moved the ordinance through the legislative mill. Affirmative votes were cast by Councilmen John Wilson, Donal I. Burcham, Robert W. Sample and Edward Massey.

The "no" votes came from Councilmen Frank Duffy and James Lowe.

Wilson will not attend tonight's special session, but Murray is slated to be present. If Murray votes with the majority, the ordinance will be moved through the second reading.

The new pay rates are:

Police and fire chiefs, $581 monthly; police captains, $525; police lieutenants and assistant fire chiefs, $515, and patrolmen and firemen, $480. New members of each department will draw $439 for a six - month probationary period, then advance to $480.

Grave Defeat, Hanoi Claims Of Khe Sanh

PARIS (AP) — The spokesman for North Vietnam's peace talks delegation said today American evacuation of Khe Sanh amounted to "a grave defeat for the United States."

Nguyen Thanh Le, the delegation press officer, said the United States had been "forced to retreat" from the base just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam.

He said the U.S. Military Command's explanation that the base was no longer essential made him think of the fable of the fox and the grapes. Unable to reach a bunch of grapes, the fox went away saying "they were sour anyway."

If there was any hope that the U.S. evacuation of the base was part of an over-all plan of de-escalation acceptable to North Vietnam, Le quickly scotched this.

"The retreat constitutes a grave defeat for the United States, tactically as well as strategically," he told a news conference.

"As long as the United States insists on pursuing its war of aggression, the United States will not avoid defeat, whatever tactics are used.

"The U.S. military commanders once decided to defend the base at all costs. They are now forced to retreat from the base," he said.

Le said North Vietnam wants peace, but "Peace goes hand in hand with independence, and we reject a pax Americana."

"After more than one month of official conversations and 10 meetings, the American side has refused to stop unconditionally its bombardments and other acts of war," Le said. "This shows the bad faith of the American side."

Vietnamese In Capital On Full Alert

Cong Forces Reported Pushing Toward Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong infiltrators were reported pushing in toward Saigon today, and Vietnamese forces in the capital were placed on full alert to meet a possible new major attack.

All leaves were canceled in the Saigon military district. Supply and administrative clerks were confined to quarters and told to be ready to fight.

Senior U.S. officers said no alert was necessary for American troops. "We're as fully alert all the time as we can be," said one.

Infiltration Stepped Up

South Vietnamese intelligence sources said enemy infiltration in the capital military district has been stepped up within the past 48 hours.

At military headquarters inside Saigon, the nerve center for combat operations around the capital, defenses were bolstered with additional machine guns and sandbags.

Such infiltration by the Viet Cong has always been followed by an attack in the past. This time they are expected to hit the same areas they did during the offensives in February and May—Cholon, the Chinese quarter in the southwest part of the city, and Gia Dinh, a suburb north of the city.

Attack Planned

Intelligence sources have reported that captured documents and prisoner interrogations indicate the Communist command is planning a full-scale attack on the capital late this month or early in July.

The aim, U.S. officers say, is to strengthen Hanoi's bargaining position at the peace negotiations in Paris.

Informants estimate that 12,500 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are within a 25-mile radius of Saigon.

The U.S. Command has 6,000 troops on the edges of Saigon, while 4,000 South Vietnamese are stationed inside the city.

To blunt the threatened attack, about 10,000 allied soldiers have been patrolling intensively within a 15-mile arc of Saigon. The Saigon area also has been given top priority for air strikes by B52 bombers in a campaign to smash infiltration and supply corridors from rear staging bases. An average of 50 B52s have been hitting enemy positions each day.

Concede Infiltration

Despite the massive air and ground effort, U.S. officers concede that the enemy will be able to slip troops through defensive lines. Because of the terrain, it is frequently difficult to pinpoint the enemy positions. In adjoining Hau Nghia Province, for example, they are said to be concealed in sugar cane fields, canals and swamps.

Over North Vietnam, American pilots flew 138 missions Thursday in the continuing effort to curtail the flow of war supplies and troops into the South. Pilots reported destroying or damaging 22 supply barges, 13 trucks and 7 warehouses.

The B52s flew eight missions in 24 hours against enemy build-up areas northeast, northwest and southeast of Saigon. In at least 40 of the eight-jet Stratoforts dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives on troop concentrations, base camps, infiltration corridors and ammunition distribution points.

Abandonment–New Concept Of Mobile Warfare

WASINHGTON (AP) — Military officers from the Joint Chiefs of Staff on down cited everything from psychology to infiltrationt of the possibility of a great victory as reason for holding Khe Sanh.

Now the Marine outpost below South Vietnam's demilitarized zone is being dismantled in an abrupt change in tactics for defense of the country's notherh-most provinces.

The U.S. Command in announcing abandonment of the base put emphasis on "a new concept of mobile warfare" to be used in the five-province 1st Corps area.

Different Emphasis

Earlier this year the emphasis was on something quite different.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, told the Senate Armed Services Committee Feb. 16, when Khe Sanh raised the specter of an U.S. defeat comparable to the French Loss at Dien Bien Phu:

"Since Khe Sanh is a part of Vietnam—and no one of whom I am aware has any idea of giving up a part of South Vietnam—it seems to me that we should not pay the price twice by giving it up and then having to retake it."

As recently as Monday night Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recalled his own memorandum to President Johnson on Jan. 29, saying the chiefs "have reviewed the situation at Khe Sanh and concur with Gen. William C. Westmoreland's assessment of the situation. They recommended that we maintain our position at Khe Sanh."

To Be Chief In July

Westmoreland, then commander in Vietnam, will become Army chief of staff in July.

In an Associated Press interview March 20, Gen. Leonard M. Chapman, commandant of the Marine Corps, which was entrusted with Khe Sanh's fate, said:

"It has several significant values to us, most important of which is that it sits astride north-south and east-west routes into the northern province ... It's a severe disadvantage to them for us to hold Khe Sanh. I think that is the material advantage. Of course, there is also the psychological aspect of the thing as it is now built up."

At a May 24 Pentagon news conference, Marine Col. David M. Lownds, who commanded the base during the months of siege, said:

"There's been much said about the desirability of defending Khe Sanh. Naturally I wouldn't want to get into any of the ramifications of how strate-

Two Industries Report On Smoke, Dust Controls

The clouds of black and the orange smoke and dust that have choked the skies above Midland for years should be abated considerably in about two months.

Midland Council Thursday night received reports from two of the borough's primary industries on the progress of air pollution controls and was told by a representative of the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. that the Top-Blown Oxygen Converter facility should be in operation within two weeks.

This will allow the firm to begin phasing out the open heart furnaces, the source of the clouds of orange dust, a familiar sight to many area residents. Representatives of the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. also rehearth furnaces, the source of ported on proposed pollution controls.

AL SMITH, chairman of the topblown oxygen converter facility at Crucible, said the TOC should be operating within two weeks, allowing for the gradual phasing - out of the open hearths by at least two months.

He said the orange oxide dust will be eliminated by the wet scrubber method of air pollution control.

"Dirty" gases will be forced through a pipe and will be sprayed with strong jets of water which will wet the dust particles. The dust will fall out of the stream and will be treated as refuse. The clean gas will then leave the stack accompanied by a steam plume.

Smith said the pollution control method meets specifications of .03 grains of solid matter per standard cubic foot of gas, conforming to an old Allegheny

Plans To Reduce Ohio Pen Inmates Revealed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes announced plans today to gradually reduce the number of inmates at the troubled Ohio Penitentiary.

At the same time Rhodes stressed that no probe is being made of the penitentiary or its management as a result of Monday's disastrous fire and riot.

Rhodes also said no investigation is planned.

Investigation is continuing into a traffic mishap Thursday, which claimed the life of a 56-year-old Pittsburgh man as he walked along the roadway on Alternate Route 14 near Washingtonville.

Louis Wentz of 921 James St., Pittsburgh, became Columbiana County's 14th traffic fatality of 1968 when he was pronounced dead at Salem City Hospital at 10:15 p. m.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Wentz was walking east in the eastbound lane about two miles east of Washingtonville at 9:45 when he was struck from behind by a 1966 coach driven by Miss Shryl Smith, 16, of 13755 Market St. Ext., North Lima.

Municipal Services Hit In Stoppage

Essential Posts Are Being Manned, However, In Rift

Virtually all municipal services were shut down or curtailed severely today as approximately 100 employes remained away from their jobs in the street, incinerator, water and sewage departments and some miscellaneous posts in City Hall offices.

At a special meeting Thursday night, the workers in the street, water and sewage departments voted to act "in sympathy" with incinerator department crews who walked out yesterday morning, protesting the fact they had not been included in pay increases Council granted Wednesday night to the police and fire departments.

The workers are members of Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

A GROUP of the employes gathered about 7 this morning on W. 6th St. in front of City Hall. Lewis Campbell of Youngstown, a business agent for Council 18 of the AFSCME, hurried here at 4 a. m. today. He said four-man picket teams already had been established at the landfill dump in Madison Township, at the street department barn on Pennsylvania Ave. and at the water department pumping and filtration plant in Klondyke.

There was no communication between the union officials and the city administration until about 10:30 a. m., when John Kelly of Youngstown, another district business agent, called on Mayor George E. Willshaw.

The mayor said there may be a meeting early this afternoon when Solicitor J. Michael Kapp and three members of Council return from Lisbon, where they were conferring with county commissioners on a Shadyside Ave. project. President Norman Bucher and Councilman James Lowe and Donal Burcham were at the Lisbon meeting.

But Campbell indicated that essential services will be maintained despite the strike.

County Real Estate

Valuation Fixed At $433 Million

LISBON — The reappraisal of Columbiana County real estate shows an aggregate valuation of $433 million, according to County Auditor Kenneth Bell.

This compares with $380 million set during the previous reappraisal in 1962. The state requires a reappraisal every six years.

New valuations will be placed on the tax duplicate for the tax year 1968, payable in 1969.

UNITED Appraisal Co. of Cleveland completed the reappraisal this month. Crews checked approximately 65,000 parcels — industrial, commercial, agricultural, residential and exempt properties like schools and churches. The work took 23 months and cost $227,500.

United's contract calls for one other service — defending the appraisal figures when property owners protesting increased valuations bring their tax statements to the Courthouse early next year.

Some 6,000 owners came to the Courthouse early in 1963, Bell recalls, and he and his staff spent six weeks meeting with them individually.

While the sound or market value of county real property is $433 million, the assessed value for tax purposes is 186 million, or $33 million more than at the last reappraisal.

The auditor said the assessed valuation is about 43 per cent of the appraised market value, compared with 40 cent since 1962.

This 43 per cent factor is established by the state and the auditor must apply it uniformly to all classes of real property, Bell said.

Some time in the fall, probably in October after the Board of Review has completed its equalization program, the auditor said he will advertise that the reappraisal figures may be inspected at the Courthouse by individual property owners.

Grave Defeat, Hanoi Claims Of Khe Sanh

PARIS (AP) — The spokesman for North Vietnam's peace talks delegation said today American evacuation of Khe Sanh amounted to "a grave defeat for the United States."

Nguyen Thanh Le, the delegation press officer, said the United States had been "forced to retreat" from the base just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam.

He said the U.S. Military Command's explanation that the base was no longer essential made him think of the fable of the fox and the grapes. Unable to reach a bunch of grapes, the fox went away saying "they were sour anyway."

If there was any hope that the U.S. evacuation of the base was part of an over-all plan of de-escalation acceptable to North Vietnam, Le quickly scotched this.

"The retreat constitutes a grave defeat for the United States, tactically as well as strategically," he told a news conference.

"As long as the United States insists on pursuing its war of aggression, the United States will not avoid defeat, whatever tactics are used.

"The U.S. military commanders once decided to defend the base at all costs. They are now forced to retreat from the base," he said.

Le said North Vietnam wants peace, but "Peace goes hand in hand with independence, and we reject a pax Americana."

"After more than one month of official conversations and 10 meetings, the American side has refused to stop unconditionally its bombardments and other acts of war," Le said. "This shows the bad faith of the American side."

Johnson Says He Will Sign Holidays Bill

WASINGHTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will sign the bill making four national holidays fall always on Mondays, but the resulting long weekends won't start until 1971.

The new law will change the dates for Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day, and give Columbus Day status as a national holiday.

Washington's Birthday will fall on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

The bill applies only to federal employes andt he District of Columbia. But by Jan. 1, 1967, when the law takes effect, most states are expected to have decided to go along with the new holiday lineup, which, with Labor Day, will produce five three-day weekends a year.

"This is the greatest thing that has happened to the travel industry since the invention of the automobile," said Clarence A. Arata, president of the National Association of Travel Organizations.

Fall Claims Workman At Stratton Plant

A 19-year-old Follansbee resident killed in a 42-foot fall Thursday is the second construction worker to lose his life this month at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Edison Co.

Pronounced dead at Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville, at 11 a.m. was Alan Bennett, 19, of 231 Brookview Dr., who fell about five feet from a scaffold onto a piece of plywood covering a hole on the fourth story. The impact broke the board and Bennett fell another 42 feet.

Company officials said he may have slipped from the scaffold or jumped with enough force to split the board spanning the 2-by-8-foot hole.

Bennett landed on a concrete platform on the first story of one of two nine - story structures being constructed by the Townsend and Bottum Construction Co. of Ann Arbor, Mich.

The pipefitter, who was employed by the company when construction work began there Nov. 10, was the second fatality this month. Ronny Alan Ammons of Aliquippa, a boilermaker, was killed when he fell from the ninth to the fifth floor of one of the structures June 12.

Mr. Bennett was born at Steubenville in 1948, the son of Boyd

Two Industries Report On Smoke, Dust Controls

The clouds of black and the orange smoke and dust that have choked the skies above Midland for years should be abated considerably in about two months.

Midland Council Thursday night received reports from two of the borough's primary industries on the progress of air pollution controls and was told by a representative of the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. that the Top-Blown Oxygen Converter facility should be in operation within two weeks.

This will allow the firm to begin phasing out the open heart furnaces, the source of the clouds of orange dust, a familiar sight to many area residents. Representatives of the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. also reported on proposed pollution controls.

AL SMITH, chairman of the topblown oxygen converter facility at Crucible, said the TOC should be operating within two weeks, allowing for the gradual phasing - out of the open hearths by at least two months.

He said the orange oxide dust will be eliminated by the wet scrubber method of air pollution control.

"Dirty" gases will be forced through a pipe and will be sprayed with strong jets of water which will wet the dust particles. The dust will fall out of the stream and will be treated as refuse. The clean gas will then leave the stack accompanied by a steam plume.

Smith said the pollution control method meets specifications of .03 grains of solid matter per standard cubic foot of gas, conforming to an old Allegheny

Plans To Reduce Ohio Pen Inmates Revealed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes announced plans today to gradually reduce the number of inmates at the troubled Ohio Penitentiary.

At the same time Rhodes stressed that no probe is being made of the penitentiary or its management as a result of Monday's disastrous fire and riot.

Rhodes also said no investigation is planned.

DON'T TEMPT FATE IN '68

Investigation is continuing into a traffic mishap Thursday, which claimed the life of a 56-year-old Pittsburgh man as he walked along the roadway on Alternate Route 14 near Washingtonville.

Louis Wentz of 921 James St., Pittsburgh, became Columbiana County's 14th traffic fatality of 1968 when he was pronounced dead at Salem City Hospital at 10:15 p. m.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Wentz was walking east in the eastbound lane about two miles east of Washingtonville at 9:45 when he was struck from behind by a 1966 coach driven by Miss Shryl Smith, 16, of 13755 Market St. Ext., North Lima.

Miss Smith told officers an unidentified vehicle was overtaking her car when she spotted Wentz, dressed in dark clothes, walking on the roadway. She

Coincidence Plus

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Two men, both named Miller, lost control of identical pickup trucks within seconds of each other and crashed into utility poles 59 feet apart on the same street.

Richard T. Miller and Kenneth R. Miller lost control of 1967 trucks of the same make on wet pavement Wednesday. They crashed into poles on the west side of Getwell Street.

Each was charged with failure to maintain proper control of a vehicle.

Tentative Agreement Announced In Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The four-week strike of ironworkers against central and southern Ohio contractors may be near an end. A tentative agreement on a new contract was reached Thursday by negotiators.

Ironworkers Local 172 went on strike when its old contract expired May 31, and construction projects in 25 counties have been affected. Union members, who have rejected one contract offer, will hold another ratification vote July 8.

Wages

tween Duffy and Massey, fellow Democrats.

DUFFY charged that Solicitor J. Michael Kapp and some members of Council met with the employes privately Tuesday night, although Council had taken the position it would not negotiate until they went back to duty. He also castigated Kapp for meeting at the Holiday Inn in Hancock County "over drinks and lunch" to talk with out-of-town representatives of the Fraternal Order of Police and the International Association of Firefighters.

Massey replied that Duffy's remarks in reference to Kapp were "dirty and uncalled for" and that the solicitor went to the meeting in order to get the stalled negotiations moving. Massey said he attended a meeting with the FOP and firemen's representatives Tuesday afternoon at City Hall. But he said the meeting was with international representatives, not local firemen and police.

In explaining his vote against the ordinance, Duffy said he felt Council should treat all city employes alike. Therefore, he said, Council should defeat the legislation raising police and firemen's salaries, agree on a common pay raise for all workers and then enact the legislation.

LOWE, chairman of the Council labor relations committee, was the first to speak.

"In all the negotiations, I never have told these men that I thought they made enough money," he said. "But I have an obligation to the community as well as to the police and fire department."

"There are 160 city employes, and we have to consider them all," Lowe added. Then he referred to the fact that Council has agreed to negotiate with police and firemen for three additional 5 per cent raises over the next 18 months.

"This could mushroom into $200,000 a year that we don't have," Lowe said. "Anytime there's money available for the services to citizens and also for wage increases, I will willingly give pay increases."

Duffy said Council offered the police and firemen a $20-a-month raise Monday, while the safety forces asked for $50. After each side had rejected the other's offer, all seven members of Council voted Tuesday night not to negotiate until the men went back to work, he continued.

Then he cited a series of unofficial meetings held Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon that brought the employes' representatives and Council together Wednesday night and led to a settlement.

"WE DO our business here, not outside, and you had no right to deal with those people," he said.

"I'll vote against this because the other employes will be in here for a raise," Duffy said. "If you give all the employes the same raise, I'll vote for it. I'm opposed to a six-month deal," he said, referring to the fact negotiations are due on another raise before Jan. 1. "We should have a contract for two or three years. Where are we going to get the money? I say defeat this tonight and give all the employes the same amount.

"A lot of money is being wasted. We have a coordinator and an inspector getting fat salaries and doing nothing. There are too many chiefs. We should cut some of the deadwood out of City Hall."

"My obligation is to do the best for the community under prevailing circumstances," Sample said. "The police and firemen were out and now they're back."

MASSEY commented that "the police and firemen had us up pretty tight — the city had no protection."

"I knew we had no money for any raises of any kind," he continued. "But then it became possible to grant raises by not filling two jobs that are already vacant. The firemen and police had objected, but they withdrew their objections.

"My main concern was the safety of East Liverpool," Massey added. "I don't like what they did, but they did have a crew on duty in each department. We all know if there had been a major emergncy, they would have been on duty. I feel the police and firemen have the interest of the city at heart, just as we do. I felt the only way we could increase salaries was if they were willing to work one man short in each department.

"As far as I am concerned, there can't be any other raises unless we cut back. If the other departments want a raise and if they conscientiously feel they can lop off one or two men, then we can grant a raise. But I don't know what the picture will be at the first of next year. Of the original eight - tenths of one per cent income tax, 70 per cent went for wages and salaries. That didn't leave much for other expenses."

"I can't vote for this," Lowe said, taking the floor again. "I feel we can't meet our obligation. But I certainly hope that we do."

REFERRING to Duffy's earlier remarks, Bucher said: "I missed out on the 'party' if there was one."

Patrolman William A. Devon, an FOP negotiator, then told Council that "there was no party." He added: "I had something to eat, that's all." He said the meeting was held at the Holiday Inn because it was the only motel in the area where an FOP representative at Canton could get a room when he got to town late Tuesday night to aid in the negotiations.

Wilson asked Devon: "What will happen Jan. 1 if our financial status won't allow a raise?"

"I can't answer that question," Devon replied. He thanked Council for granting the wage increase and promising to meet later on the question of three further steps in the pay structure.

Midland's Rotary Has Gavel Night

Committee chairmen were named. They are Ruggeri, club service; James Migliore, attendance; Dr. Thomas Boyd, classification and membership; Ernie Dostalik, fellowship; Dr. Bonfiglio, Rotary information; Leonard Tepsic, vocational service; David Schwerha, community service; Julius Jacob, Rotary leadership; James Ferretjans, bulletin, magazine and public relations; Joseph Scalise, program; Sid Riezner, sergeant-at-arms; Sal Glorioso, crippled children; Tom Fannin, international service, and C. L. Deffenbaugh, music.

Pat Caruso, Midland barber, was enrolled as a new member. Migliore reported on a coming attendance contest.

Smith discussed a Rotary seminar he attended Wednesday at the Churchill Country Club, Pittsburgh. Also attending were Ruggeri, Jonas, Dr. Bonfiglio and Ferretjans.

Members will work Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights on the club's float entry in the borough July 4 parade. It will be constructed behind Ruggeri's store.

Smith said beginning July 11 programs will be held at the outdoor sessions. A Geneva College graduate will speak on youth problems at the next meeting July 11.

West End Crash Damages Sedan

The mishap at W. 8th and Division Sts. involved the 1963 model car of Jefferson Perry, 65, of 1323 Center St., Wellsville, and a 1967 model truck driven by Harold E. Gardner, 50, of Columbus and owned by the Belmont Casket Co. of Columbus, officers said. The right front fender, bumper and grill of the auto were damaged.

Perry told police he was driving west on W. 8th St. and had started to pass the truck when Gardner began a left turn into Division St. The auto hit the left rear tires of the truck, he said. Gardner reported he checked and saw no traffic before starting the turn.

County Code which is a model code for air pollution situations.

SMITH SAID the company had considered two other methods of control, bag filters and an electrostatic precipitator, but these were considered unsatisfactory.

Smith said two large fans, 2500 horsepower each, will be used in the pollution control. He said that in case of a breakdown of these, emergency dampers in the stack will automatically send the smoke out the stack. He pointed out that in the event of a breakdown of equipment, there will be a period of dust emission until repairs are made.

George Ford Jr., director of community relations for Crucible, gave a brief report he received from Thomas Centi, Crucible's pollution engineer, on what is being done to curb the black smoke. He reported that the new No. 17 boiler which will soon be operational will have electrostatic equipment to curb the fly-ash.

JAMES COLEMAN, plant manager, and J. W. Dorsey, plant engineer at Mackintosh, reported that the company is experimenting in using iron ore rather than oxygen for carbon refinement in the manufacture of steel rolls.

Coleman said the April report shows that the plant's use of oxygen was only 16 or 17 minutes on each 24-hour period, compared to a greater amount previously. In this way, the amount of smoke pouring from the stack has been greatly reduced.

Councilman Joseph Hibbard remarked on the clarity of both reports as submitted by the representatives of Crucible and Mackintosh. William Vinovich Sr., Council president, asked that both companies submit periodic reports of any advances in air pollution control.

IN OTHER business, Council authorized a $3.81 monthly premium increase per employe on Blue Cross hospital insurance from $15.92 to $19.73. Blue Shield insurance coverage was reduced from $7.85 to $7.80 for a five-cent decrease per employee per month.

In accord with Senate Bill 1343, the Midland Police Department filed with Council a letter requesting the right to meet with Council and discuss police salaries, pensions and fringe benefits for 1969.

Police Chief Vincent D'Itri will attend the police chiefs convention at Philadelphia July 22-26 with expenses not to exceed $250. Fire Chief William Monac will attend a fire seminar and demonstration at Elmira, N.Y., July 31-Aug. 5 with expenses not to exceed $250.

MONAC reported to Council that he wil hold fire training drills for members of the Midland volunteer department and the Midland Heights volunteers. The drills will be Aug. 11, 18, 25 and Sept. 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29 from 8:30 a. m. until noon at the Midland fire hall.

The instruction will include fire hydrants, hose hookup, forward lay, reverse lay, gas masks, survive air packs, fire gear, fire extinguishers, pumper class and aerial truck. The firemen must bring hats, coats and boots to each session and should attend as many sessions as possible.

Vinovich reported that a senior lifesaving course on water safety will be offered at the Veterans Memorial Pool July 8-13. Those who are 16 years old or will be at least a high school junior and are physically fit are eligible to attend. They may register with the cashier at the pool.

Council will meet again July 10 at 8 p.m.

'Not Guilty' Plea Filed At Lisbon

LISBON — Mathew Carroll, 44, of Fayetteville, Ark., pleaded not guilty Thursday in Columbiana County Southwest Court to a charge of malicious entry of a Lisbon home.

Through court-appointed counsel, Kennedy and Beck of Lisbon, Carroll asked for a preliminary hearing. Judge J. L. MacDonald ordered that he be held in the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond until the hearing can be arranged.

The defendant is charged with taking a set of golf clubs and a cart Tuesday afternoon from an enclosed porch at the Kenneth Morris home, 816 N. Market St. Police recovered the equipment which Carroll had sold to a local businessman.

tween Duffy and Massey, fellow Democrats.

DUFFY charged that Solicitor J. Michael Kapp and some members of Council met with the employes privately Tuesday night, although Council had taken the position it would not negotiate until they went back to duty. He also castigated Kapp for meeting at the Holiday Inn in Hancock County "over drinks and lunch" to talk with out-of-town representatives of the Fraternal Order of Police and the International Association of Firefighters.

Massey replied that Duffy's remarks in reference to Kapp were "dirty and uncalled for" and that the solicitor went to the meeting in order to get the stalled negotiations moving. Massey said he attended a meeting with the FOP and firemen's representatives Tuesday afternoon at City Hall. But he said the meeting was with international representatives, not local firemen and police.

In explaining his vote against the ordinance, Duffy said he felt Council should treat all city employes alike. Therefore, he said, Council should defeat the legislation raising police and firemen's salaries, agree on a common pay raise for all workers and then enact the legislation.

LOWE, chairman of the Council labor relations committee, was the first to speak.

"In all the negotiations, I never have told these men that I thought they made enough money," he said. "But I have an obligation to the community as well as to the police and fire department."

"There are 160 city employes, and we have to consider them all," Lowe added. Then he referred to the fact that Council has agreed to negotiate with police and firemen for three additional 5 per cent raises over the next 18 months.

"This could mushroom into $200,000 a year that we don't have," Lowe said. "Anytime there's money available for the services to citizens and also for wage increases, I will willingly give pay increases."

Duffy said Council offered the police and firemen a $20-a-month raise Monday, while the safety forces asked for $50. After each side had rejected the other's offer, all seven members of Council voted Tuesday night not to negotiate until the men went back to work, he continued.

Then he cited a series of unofficial meetings held Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon that brought the employes' representatives and Council together Wednesday night and led to a settlement.

"WE DO our business here, not outside, and you had no right to deal with those people," he said.

"I'll vote against this because the other employes will be in here for a raise," Duffy said. "If you give all the employes the same raise, I'll vote for it. I'm opposed to a six-month deal," he said, referring to the fact negotiations are due on another raise before Jan. 1. "We should have a contract for two or three years. Where are we going to get the money? I say defeat this tonight and give all the employes the same amount.

"A lot of money is being wasted. We have a coordinator and an inspector getting fat salaries and doing nothing. There are too many chiefs. We should cut some of the deadwood out of City Hall."

"My obligation is to do the best for the community under prevailing circumstances," Sample said. "The police and firemen were out and now they're back."

MASSEY commented that "the police and firemen had us up pretty tight — the city had no protection."

"I knew we had no money for any raises of any kind," he continued. "But then it became possible to grant raises by not filling two jobs that are already vacant. The firemen and police had objected, but they withdrew their objections.

"My main concern was the safety of East Liverpool," Massey added. "I don't like what they did, but they did have a crew on duty in each department. We all know if there had been a major emergncy, they would have been on duty. I feel the police and firemen have the interest of the city at heart, just as we do. I felt the only way we could increase salaries was if they were willing to work one man short in each department.

"As far as I am concerned, there can't be any other raises unless we cut back. If the other departments want a raise and if they conscientiously feel they can lop off one or two men, then we can grant a raise. But I don't know what the picture will be at the first of next year. Of the original eight - tenths of one per cent income tax, 70 per cent went for wages and salaries. That didn't leave much for other expenses."

"I can't vote for this," Lowe said, taking the floor again. "I feel we can't meet our obligation. But I certainly hope that we do."

REFERRING to Duffy's earlier remarks, Bucher said: "I missed out on the 'party' if there was one."

Patrolman William A. Devon, an FOP negotiator, then told Council that "there was no party." He added: "I had something to eat, that's all." He said the meeting was held at the Holiday Inn because it was the only motel in the area where an FOP representative at Canton could get a room when he got to town late Tuesday night to aid in the negotiations.

Wilson asked Devon: "What will happen Jan. 1 if our financial status won't allow a raise?"

"I can't answer that question," Devon replied. He thanked Council for granting the wage increase and promising to meet later on the question of three further steps in the pay structure.

Midland's Rotary Has Gavel Night

Committee chairmen were named. They are Ruggeri, club service; James Migliore, attendance; Dr. Thomas Boyd, classification and membership; Ernie Dostalik, fellowship; Dr. Bonfiglio, Rotary information; Leonard Tepsic, vocational service; David Schwerha, community service; Julius Jacob, Rotary leadership; James Ferretjans, bulletin, magazine and public relations; Joseph Scalise, program; Sid Riezner, sergeant-at-arms; Sal Glorioso, crippled children; Tom Fannin, international service, and C. L. Deffenbaugh, music.

Pat Caruso, Midland barber, was enrolled as a new member. Migliore reported on a coming attendance contest.

Smith discussed a Rotary seminar he attended Wednesday at the Churchill Country Club, Pittsburgh. Also attending were Ruggeri, Jonas, Dr. Bonfiglio and Ferretjans.

Members will work Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights on the club's float entry in the borough July 4 parade. It will be constructed behind Ruggeri's store.

Smith said beginning July 11 programs will be held at the outdoor sessions. A Geneva College graduate will speak on youth problems at the next meeting July 11.

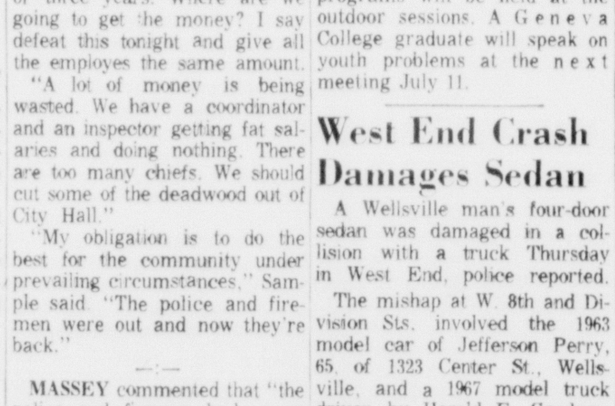

West End Crash Damages Sedan

A Wellsville man's four-door sedan was damaged in a collision with a truck Thursday in West End, police reported.

The mishap at W. 8th and Division Sts. involved the 1963 model car of Jefferson Perry, 65, of 1323 Center St., Wellsville, and a 1967 model truck driven by Harold E. Gardner, 50, of Columbus and owned by the Belmont Casket Co. of Columbus, officers said. The right front fender, bumper and grill of the auto were damaged.

Perry told police he was driving west on W. 8th St. and had started to pass the truck when Gardner began a left turn into Division St. The auto hit the left rear tires of the truck, he said. Gardner reported he checked and saw no traffic before starting the turn.

County Code which is a model code for air pollution situations.

SMITH SAID the company had considered two other methods of control, bag filters and an electrostatic precipitator, but these were considered unsatisfactory.

Smith said two large fans, 2500 horsepower each, will be used in the pollution control. He said that in case of a breakdown of these, emergency dampers in the stack will automatically send the smoke out the stack. He pointed out that in the event of a breakdown of equipment, there will be a period of dust emission until repairs are made.

George Ford Jr., director of community relations for Crucible, gave a brief report he received from Thomas Centi, Crucible's pollution engineer, on what is being done to curb the black smoke. He reported that the new No. 17 boiler which will soon be operational will have electrostatic equipment to curb the fly-ash.

JAMES COLEMAN, plant manager, and J. W. Dorsey, plant engineer at Mackintosh, reported that the company is experimenting in using iron ore rather than oxygen for carbon refinement in the manufacture of steel rolls.

Coleman said the April report shows that the plant's use of oxygen was only 16 or 17 minutes on each 24-hour period, compared to a greater amount previously. In this way, the amount of smoke pouring from the stack has been greatly reduced.

Councilman Joseph Hibbard remarked on the clarity of both reports as submitted by the representatives of Crucible and Mackintosh. William Vinovich Sr., Council president, asked that both companies submit periodic reports of any advances in air pollution control.

The Need For Public Servants

One of the difficult problems requiring solution in this republic of ours is how best to encourage qualified men of unquestionable integrity to dedicate portions of their lives to public service.

They include not only those who must put their reputations on the public block in seeking elective office, but those who frequently must make personal sacrifices to accept appointments to important posts in all levels of our government — township, county, city, state and federal.

In a nation founded on democratic principles, it is necessary that those with leadership ability, whether they are from business, industry, labor or the professions, step to the forefront and accept the responsibilities of guidance.

All too frequently these people are vilified without reason.

They are subjected to unwarranted criticism and allegations that have no justifiable base, and frequently they find themselves caught in the crossfire of partisan politics.

Unfortunately this causes many leaders in business, industry, labor and the professions to be reluctant to become involved in public or governmental activities which so sorely need their leadership.

Perhaps someday more people in the political mainstream will rise above their instincts for petty carping and attract more competent leaders to assist in directing our future at all levels of governmental activity.

Hippie Hazards

Our own attitude toward Hippies has been live and let live, preferably at a distance, for it is an obvious human right to turn one's back on the world and exist in whatever milieu one choses.

True Hippies are tolerable, if pitiable in their own self-conscious conformity to non-conformity.

But when they begin to become health hazards, as is the group near Meadville, Pa., carrying infectious hepatitis, or obscene, as were the 30 odd invaders of a New York television station this week, we have to change our judgement.

Please, O hairy and introspective ones, untouched by soap and unblessed by social grace, do at least one thing for humanity—stay away?

Sports Telecast Is Local Issue

We have some serious doubts about whether it is a good idea to permit live telecasts of high school football and basektball games.

It is bound to have some adverse effect on attendance, especially when weather conditions make it more comfortable to stay at home.

We don't, however, believe that all available information on the subject has yet been tabulated, and it may be that experience will show that receipts from telecasting rights will offset any decline in attendance.

Of one thing we are sure. The Ohio High School Athletic Association, which has ruled against the live telecasts, has no cotton-pickin' right to project itself into the picture.

This is a matter for the local board of education to decide, and when the state association extends its authority beyond prescribing rules for the game and eligibility for the players, it has, in our judgment, strayed out of bounds.

Live telecasting is not an interscholastic issue so long as the competing schools agree to it and no ill effects to the athletic programs of either result from it.

No one need advise a local school board when, if ever, to call a halt. The economics of the situation will be the final and deciding factor.

This should not be interpreted as a defense of live telecasts. It is a defense only of the local board's right to make the decision without inappropriate interference from the state association.

Air Bus Contract Bonanza

Selection of General Electric Co.'s jet engine for the American Airlines air bus that will be in service in late 1971 is a bonanza for Ohio.

The reason is that GE will assemble the engines at its Evendale plant, north of Cincinnati.

GE places the value of American Airlines' selection of its engines over Rolls-Royce Lt., in England at more than $270 million.

Last February, American became the first U.S. carrier to order the big 252-passenger, 600-mile-an-hour planes from McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis.

But until last week it hadn't selected the type of engine. Three of the GE CF6 engines will be used on each of the McDonnell DC10 models. American has ordered 25 of the planes with an option for 25 more.

Each engine costs about $700,000 of the $15.5 million price of each plane.

Besides, American will order about 35 spare GE engines. This would put the value of American's selection of the engine at nearly $130 million, but GE said the value could exceed $270 million including replacement of engines over the life of the aircraft involved.

Several months ago, United Air Lines also picked GE's engine for the 30 DC10 jets it ordered, plus an option for 30 of the air bus model.

Foiling The Litter Bug

There is at least one case where a $54,000 grant has been awarded for an intensive study into the matter.

A Swedish paper carton manufacturer has marketed a combination plastic and paper beer bottle designed specially to combat the litter problem.

It's not a run of the mill bottle, however. It is so constructed that if it is tossed alongside the road, its paper content will rot and its plastic will be decomposed by sunlight and the acids in the soil.

And for the nonlitter bug, who is considerate enough to dispose of his containers in a more civilized manner, the bottle can be burned to ashes.

The idea sounds worth looking into.

Letter To The Editor

Life As A Book

Wellsville people are of mixed emotions over Dr. W. G. Jones' leaving. We wish him well in his new career that he is entering for study and research in the field of cancer, a worthy cause.

This is the way we who had the privilege of knowing the Jones family feel:

Our life is many ways comparable to a book. All that we do and say goes on record somewhere. In our own heart we create our own book of memories. Those whom we come to know and hold dear are in that book. When they go out of our lives, we do not forget them—God just turns the page and we go on.

For in the book of life there are more pages, whole chapters with new faces. The new ones do not take the ulace of the old, but add to the list of memories in the parade of life.

How often we would rather linger on, and not have to turn the page. But we know, in quiet times, we can leaf back in memory, as I so often recall those in other chapters of the past.

Some day the final chapter for all will be written. And then in another time, another place there will be a great reunion for all those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of Life.

VICTOR RIESEL

Union Chief Weighs Future

"Abe" Abel, leader of the militant United Steelworkers of America, is known inside labor as the quiet man. He is quiet. But as will be seen in the coming weeks, he and his union do not suffer from that silence.

Victor Riesel

As can be noted in his current negotiations with the massive steel industry, he projects. Looking ahead is his forte. So I asked this leader of one million unionists what the union of the year 2,000 will be like. What will it demand?

Here is his reply — guaranteed not to permit American industrialists much sleep. And here is why, in his own words:

By I. W. (Abe) Abel, President of the United Steelworkers of America and the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department.

PITTSBURGH — It is a pleasure for me to comply with the request of the usual writer of this column and do a guest column on the subject that he suggested: A trade union view of the year 2000.

Mr. Riesel's suggested topic and my compliance rate at least some kind of an award for confidence that man will arrive safely in the 21st century and that he will have managed peace and justice in the meantime.

Our condition when we arrive in the next century and the state of our spiritual, emotional and physical luggage will depend upon how well we travel the intervening years.

We cannot expect to arrive at some promised land merely by our ability to survive soiled skies, polluted waters and to exist in a congested, turbulent and scarred society.

The shaping of tomorrow's policies depends on bravely confronting today's problems and issues. We will travel the route together — black and white, young and old, rich and poor — with understanding, patience and determination or there is a danger we may not make the trip at all.

On that great day when we discover that we have resolved — as a nation of many races and nationalities — to make our society work for all, then we will know that we will be able to meet whatever the years after 2000 may hold for us.

The one dominating force, for good or bad — once we have put aside the nuclear bomb from the horizon and the problem of city ghettos — is our rapid transformation to a society of automation, computers, and cybernetics.

Some say there is no need to fear the computer age because technological advances in the past have worked out for the common good. But listen to the cautionary words of Dr. Norbert Wiener, an outstanding pioneer of automa-good and evil knocks at the door."

Can anyone guarantee that there won't be great upheavals in our future economy as the machine begins to take over? No one ever tion: "The hour is very late and the choice of thought we would see what we have seen in the cities of America in recent summers. So, there is no guarantee as to what we will see in our industrial society.

So far, unfortunately, the economic and political processes of this nation have been dominated by an emphasis and concern for private enterprise and the compiling of profits.

The worker is still more the servant of industry than a full partner in its affluence. The consumer is still more a victim of management than a beneficiary of increased efficiency and profits. The worker and consumer still do not share fairly in America's riches through fair wages and prices.

(To really hear the rhythms of history shout their warnings, and to have a full appreciation of their meaning, I suggest that white Americans visit our city slums and ghettos as I have done as a member of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

Our economic and industrial system, as we know it, will no doubt change in the 21st century. As a matter of fact, there are strong indications that the whole concept of free enterprise will be scrapped — unless it works toward a more proper and equitable distribution of the fruits of our labor.

As our industrial society changes and becomes more computerized, we are going to arrive at a point where a small portion of our available work force can produce all that is needed. When we arrive at that point we will have to take care of those who do not have a job and who are not needed for work.

The proposals for guaranteed income, or negative tax, will likely become a reality out of sheer necessity. We migrt have to, in effect, pay people for not working in the 21st century just as we pay farmers for not growing things in the 20th century.

Unions will play a vital role in the future, as they have in the past and do in the present. In fact, we can expect labor to have a greater impact on the society of tomorrow.

In the next century the interests of unions will become still broader and more worldwide in scope. Organized labor will play a larger political role as government seeks answers to the problems of ever greater population, the care of the jobless and a more equitable economic system.

Unions will become more involved in the broad economic planning that will be necessary in the 21st century. They will seek new and startling provisions in collective bargaining agreements. Workers should not be expected to bear the brunt of problems resulting from automation.

Unions of the future will negotiate guaranteed annual salaries to protect the income and living standards of their members. The economic system must be made to work for the benefit of all or it won't even be able to exist for the benefit of the few.

Unions will concentrate on contracts that will protect jobs, allow more time for education and study, provide training to develop new skills needed to operate the new machines and computers. In short, man must be the prevailing consideration.

One thing is certain in the future: No matter how industry changes, unions will respond and adapt to represent and protect the interests of their members. Unions have responded and adapted in the past and, in fact, are responding all the time to industrial changes.

A major problem in the next century will involve leisure time. The shorter work week, long vacations and earlier retirement will provide leisure in ever-increasing quantities. Therefore, we must find a way to use leisure wisely, perhaps through more emphasis on education, the arts, other cultural activities and increased dedication to human service.

In the 21st century we will have — as we do now — the resources, the genius and the ability to do what we will. But the big questions are: Can we overcome lethargy and resistance to-change to make progress rapidly enough; and can our political institutions react quickly enough to a time of rapid change and demands?

This new world that we will be stepping into In the 21st century will be unbelievably exciting and it will demand leadership with the genuine courage to make needed changes. I hope that tomorrow's leaders will measure up, and that today's leaders will lead us into the 21st century fully prepared for the years that follow.

Odd Facts

The first newspaper cartoon was designed by Benjamin Franklin, entitled "Join or Die," and published in Franklin's newspaper, "The Pennsylvania Gazette," of Philadelphia, on May 9, 1754. This cartoon depicted a snake cut up into segments, each representing a colony.

The tallest monument in the world is the Gateway Arch, which was erected in St. Louis to commemorate the westward expansion after the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. Completed in 1965, it is a sweeping arch spanning 630 feet and rising to 630 feet.

The wheel and the wagon developed at the same time, at least 5,000 years ago, when man first found that he could pull his sledges more easily if he had them fitted with wheels made of solid pieces of wood. The Egyptians were among the first people to use wagons.

The country of the world with the greatest number of vehicles per mile of road is the United Kingdom.

New Trend

Public indignation has at last exerted an influence.

The people have wondered how long the federal government was going to bow to intimidation as it permitted the "poor people's crusade" to continue to encamp on national parkland and to create disturbances in and around government buildings in Washington.

The authorities finally moved in Monday to force the evacuation of "Resurrection City" despite the defiance and threats of the leaders.

EVEN MORE significantly, the government of the District of Columbia — under a Negro mayor — took prompt and firm action to prevent the recurrence of the kind of rioting and looting that was triggered by the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in April.

Rev. Ralph Abernathy, Dr. King's successor, had last week predicted that attempts to evict the "poor people" would lead to outbreaks of violence in Negro ghettos across the nation.

This time, when crowds started to gather and incidents began to occur, the governing officials were not hesitant, as they had been in April.

Police were present in force, backed up by national guardsmen.

Tear gas was used almost immediately as they moved to clear the streets of small bands which had been stirred up to "protest" the day's happenings. Looting and arson were discouraged by prompt arrests, and a citywide curfew was imposed.

There had been criticism among Negroes as well as whites when the authorites were slow to act against the looters and arsonists who participated in the riots in April. There was concern about what would happen if and when action was taken against the "poor people" encamped in "Resurrection City" near the Lincoln Memorial.

The federal government had issued a permit for this "demonstration," and was patient even when it became apparent that the concessions made were merely being used as excuses for bigger and bigger demands.

When the extension of the permit expired, the "March' leaders defiantly dared the government to enforce its notice that the land must be evacuated — and the people who live and work in Washington doubted that anyone in authority would implement the order.

They had their answer when district and federal officials moved together with firmness, arrested those who refused to comply with the law, and made it clear that no disturbances or repetition of the April riots would be tolerated.

While President Johnson himself did not take any direct part in ordering the evacuation, the White House said that he had concurred in what was being done, and added that "this has been a government action which the President is well aware of."

The Negroes in the District of Columbia were as relieved as were the whites over what happened. The great majority are law-abiding and they are victims, too, of crime and disorder. In fact, they are likely to suffer most when riots are precipitated.

For a long time, members of the two races got along together in Washington without serious friction, but bitter feelings have been aroused on both sides in recent years. Agitators have seized on any racial tension to stir up trouble.

Both groups have, however, suffered from the same conditions — particularly from what occurred during and after the April riots. There was a falling off in local trade and the tourist business — which is one of the largest sources of revenue for the nation's capital.

Business profits and individual employment were adversely affected. But mostly both white and Negro families were scared to move even a few blocks, especially at night, to shop at stores or visit friends or relatives.

THE LAXITY of the past several years has encouraged lawlessness in Washington as well as in the rest of the country. The younger generation particularly has been led to assume that "justifiable" protest against "discrimination" goes to the point that a Negro can commit a crime, rob a store, steal an automobile, or engage in gang vandalism without risking punishment.

Maybe the new trend just begun by the mayor and other officials of the city of Washington will change all this. Certainly the residents of Washington, both white and Negro, have breathed a sigh of relief. Perhaps the rest of the country, too, will see that order can be preserved when officials possessed of courage resolutely do their duty.

The Need For Public Servants

One of the difficult problems requiring solution in this republic of ours is how best to encourage qualified men of unquestionable integrity to dedicate portions of their lives to public service.

They include not only those who must put their reputations on the public block in seeking elective office, but those who frequently must make personal sacrifices to accept appointments to important posts in all levels of our government — township, county, city, state and federal.

In a nation founded on democratic principles, it is necessary that those with leadership ability, whether they are from business, industry, labor or the professions, step to the forefront and accept the responsibilities of guidance.

All too frequently these people are vilified without reason.

They are subjected to unwarranted criticism and allegations that have no justifiable base, and frequently they find themselves caught in the crossfire of partisan politics.

Unfortunately this causes many leaders in business, industry, labor and the professions to be reluctant to become involved in public or governmental activities which so sorely need their leadership.

Perhaps someday more people in the political mainstream will rise above their instincts for petty carping and attract more competent leaders to assist in directing our future at all levels of governmental activity.

Hippie Hazards

Our own attitude toward Hippies has been live and let live, preferably at a distance, for it is an obvious human right to turn one's back on the world and exist in whatever milieu one choses.

True Hippies are tolerable, if pitiable in their own self-conscious conformity to non-conformity.

But when they begin to become health hazards, as is the group near Meadville, Pa., carrying infectious hepatitis, or obscene, as were the 30 odd invaders of a New York television station this week, we have to change our judgement.

Please, O hairy and introspective ones, untouched by soap and unblessed by social grace, do at least one thing for humanity—stay away?

Sports Telecast Is Local Issue

We have some serious doubts about whether it is a good idea to permit live telecasts of high school football and basektball games.

It is bound to have some adverse effect on attendance, especially when weather conditions make it more comfortable to stay at home.

We don't, however, believe that all available information on the subject has yet been tabulated, and it may be that experience will show that receipts from telecasting rights will offset any decline in attendance.

Of one thing we are sure. The Ohio High School Athletic Association, which has ruled against the live telecasts, has no cotton-pickin' right to project itself into the picture.

This is a matter for the local board of education to decide, and when the state association extends its authority beyond prescribing rules for the game and eligibility for the players, it has, in our judgment, strayed out of bounds.

Live telecasting is not an interscholastic issue so long as the competing schools agree to it and no ill effects to the athletic programs of either result from it.

No one need advise a local school board when, if ever, to call a halt. The economics of the situation will be the final and deciding factor.

This should not be interpreted as a defense of live telecasts. It is a defense only of the local board's right to make the decision without inappropriate interference from the state association.

Air Bus Contract Bonanza

Selection of General Electric Co.'s jet engine for the American Airlines air bus that will be in service in late 1971 is a bonanza for Ohio.

The reason is that GE will assemble the engines at its Evendale plant, north of Cincinnati.

GE places the value of American Airlines' selection of its engines over Rolls-Royce Lt., in England at more than $270 million.

Last February, American became the first U.S. carrier to order the big 252-passenger, 600-mile-an-hour planes from McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis.

But until last week it hadn't selected the type of engine. Three of the GE CF6 engines will be used on each of the McDonnell DC10 models. American has ordered 25 of the planes with an option for 25 more.

Each engine costs about $700,000 of the $15.5 million price of each plane.

Besides, American will order about 35 spare GE engines. This would put the value of American's selection of the engine at nearly $130 million, but GE said the value could exceed $270 million including replacement of engines over the life of the aircraft involved.

Several months ago, United Air Lines also picked GE's engine for the 30 DC10 jets it ordered, plus an option for 30 of the air bus model.

Foiling The Litter Bug

There is at least one case where a $54,000 grant has been awarded for an intensive study into the matter.

A Swedish paper carton manufacturer has marketed a combination plastic and paper beer bottle designed specially to combat the litter problem.

It's not a run of the mill bottle, however. It is so constructed that if it is tossed alongside the road, its paper content will rot and its plastic will be decomposed by sunlight and the acids in the soil.

And for the nonlitter bug, who is considerate enough to dispose of his containers in a more civilized manner, the bottle can be burned to ashes.

Life As A Book

Wellsville people are of mixed emotions over Dr. W. G. Jones' leaving. We wish him well in his new career that he is entering for study and research in the field of cancer, a worthy cause.

This is the way we who had the privilege of knowing the Jones family feel:

Midland NAACP Names Groups To Make Studies

Mrs. Aaron Golding, president, appointed committees to study local problems and recommend channels of action when the Midland Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People met Thursday night at the USA-CIO Hall.

Mrs. Golding said the hall was filled to capacity. She listed the results of four requests made by the chapter to the Midland Council May 29.

She stressed labor and education are two prime areas where studies are needed.

Named to committees were Mrs. Willie Burks, community coordinator; William Love, housing; Mrs. Robert Preston, political action; the Rev. Oscar Arnal, church; Mrs. J. C. Singleton, youth; Claude Stewart, veterans, and Aaron Golding, labor and industry.

The NAACP's requests included hiring of more Negroes in Midland banks, hiring of Negroes in the Midland water department, removal of Mrs. William Spisak as head of the Hi-Spot Youth Center and Better housing.

Mrs. Golding reported both the Beaver Trust Co. and First National Bank have agreed to hire Negro girls in August and September. A Negro has been hired at the water works. Mrs. Golding reported Mrs. Spisak publicly announced her forthcoming retirement, but indicated it is not a resignation.

Love announced a housing program has been started. Mrs. Golding reported Mayor Eli Corak had discussed housing with her. She said the chapter is satisfied its efforts have prompted those in authority to act against discrimination in these areas.

Mrs. Golding stated "In the future we hope to be able to settle our differences with dialogue. One of the serious problems is the communications gap."

Samuel Krakoff, Pennsylvania governor's branch representative, presented state programs available for sponsorship by the local branch.

Mrs. Mary T. Wilson, chairman of the freedom fund, is attending the national NAACP convention at Atlantic City.

The next meeting will be July 23, with all interested invited to attend.

Vacation Curbed Briefly By New Bridge Accident

The vacation of a Bentlyville, Pa., family was interrupted briefly Thursday night when their camper hit the "I-beam" on the West Virginia side of the Chester Bridge, Chester police said.

John Perchinsky and his family were riding in a pickup truck with a sleeping - camper attached and pulling a regular camper. He told police he didn't feel warning on the height limit was well enough marked.

The front of the camper struck the barrier, bending backwards and crinkling the sides, allowing the doors to spring open about 5 p. m. Nearly $1,000 damage resulted, police estimated.

The Perchinsky famiily secured the camper's doors and went on their way.

Construction Resumes With End Of Strike

ABERDEEN, Ohio (AP) — Construction work at the J. M. Stuart generating plant here was resumed Thursday when 533 striking electrical workers returned to their jobs.

The workers, members of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 575, struck last week after a testing crew of Dayton Power and Light Co., one of the owners of the plant, went on the work site. Dayton Power officials said they had no idea why the men objected to testing.

Dayton Power withdrew its unfair labor practices claim with the National Labor Relations Board after the men returned.

The late Monroe Patterson founded the Patterson Foundry and Machine Works at E. 4th and Walnut about 1874. After Boyce's death, Patterson organized the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. which took over operation of both concerns.

R. L. Cawood joined the firm in 1900, became general manager in 1906 and president in 1922. The firm first produced pottery and clay mine equipment and machinery, but in 1941 branched out to produce machinery and equipment for other industries. Mr. Cawood sold his interests in 1956, and the firm has re-organized since.

Early this year, the Patterson firm merged with Banner Industries, Inc., a retail store corporation which has a listing on the American Stock Exchange. Banner operates four Giant Value retail stores.

Patterson, which produces processing equipment such as mixers, blenders and agitators, also has plants at Erie, Pa., Toronto, Canada, Toccoa, Ga., and Cleveland.

Check Cases Due Tuesday

Granting additional time for the defendants to obtain counsel, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today allowed continuances until Tuesday in the cases of a man and woman accused of using "false pretense" in cashing checks at the Loblaw, Inc., market on Bradshaw Ave.

The defendants are Mrs. George Gaines, 22, of Smiths Ferry RD 1 and George R. McHenry of 2200 Crawford Ave.

The two were before the court Thursday and were granted continuances until today to obtain counsel. When neither had counsel in court this morning, the judge granted the new continuances after entering a "not guilty" plea on behalf of each defendant.

Mrs. Gaines, previously held in lieu of a $500 bond, was released on her own recognizance in custody of a relative on the motion of Solicitor J. Michael Kapp. McHenry's $500 bond was continued and he was returned to jail.

The judge explained to the two he could not appoint counsel for them except in a felony case. The charges they face are misdemeanors.

Mrs. Gaines is accused of cashing a $25 check at the market May 29. The affidavit says the check was made payable by her, signed by a "John A. White" and drawn on the Potters Bank & Trust Co. At the time the check was cashed, the woman knew there was no account in that name at the bank, the affidavit says.

McHenry is accused of cashing a $50 check April 24, drawn on the same bank. The check was signed by the defendant, who knew he had no account at the bank, the affidavit says.

Miss Inez L. Plate, a lifelong resident of Route 45 in Madison Township, near Glasgow, died this morning at her home. She was 48.

Miss Plate was born Sept. 26, 1919, a daughter of Mrs. Estle Lightner Plate and the late Lewis Harvey Plate. She was an honor graduate of the high school at the D. T. Watson Home for Crippled Children in Sewickley. She was a member of the Yellow Creek United Presbyterian Church.

In addition to her mother, she leaves four brothers, Clarence Plate, Raymond Plate, Charles Plate and Lawrence Plate, all of Wellsville RD. Her father died March 8.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. James A. McCollam, pastor of the Yellow Creek Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Remarks That Irk Hippies

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that hippies get tired of hearing:

"You don't look like such a bad sort, young fellow. Cut that mop off your head, and I'll give you a steady job."

"Here come the cops!"

"I'll tell you what I'd do if he were my kid—I'd send him to the laundry."

"His ideas are as artificial as that rose he's got stuck behind his ear."

"He's just another flower child that has gone to seed."

"Don't get funny with me, funny boy, or I'll bust your beads for you."

"Get the butterfly net—here comes another."

"As your mother, Jason, I'm getting mighty sick and tired of having a son your age running around the streets barefooted. No, I'm not going to let you into this house until you go to the back yard and get the garden hose and wash off those filthy feet."

"Jason, the lady in the white house across the street said someone picked all her flowers last night. It wasn't you, was it?"

"I hear he tried to run away to India and become a mystic, but he stubbed his toe walking across the Brooklyn Bridge, and came back home for a bandage."

"This looks like a heavy one, lieutenant. You get him by the hair and I'll swing him up by the ankles. Ready? One, two—up he goes."

"The quickest way to clear them off the pavement is to call the Sanitation Department and have them send over a street spray truck. They're all deathly afraid of water."

"Zenobia says she's turning in her peacock feather. She's decided to get married and live like a normal human being."

"Well, if you can't think up anything new to protest, neither can I. Maybe we'd better just call off the demonstration and see if we can't all crash a movie."

"What's the use of drafting him? He might wind up in our regiment."

"My mother doesn't mind me being a hippie, Jason. See, she even fixed me a box lunch to take to our protest meeting."

"When I was your age, son, I was demonstrating, too—but I was demonstrating vacuum cleaners for a living."

"In a way you have to admit these hippies are consistent—they've got holes in their pants and holes in their heads."

"That's a cute one over there, Myrtle. Tell him we'll give him a dime if he holds still while I take his picture."

"The whole day was an utter waste. We demonstrated from morning to night, and the newspapers only gave up two paratraphs. What's nonviolence coming to, anyway?"

Khe Sanh

gic decisions are made. I do know that certainly it must have been considered important if the North Vietnamese would have put the number of forces around it that they did . . ."

20,000 To 40,000 Reds

Estimates of the numbers of North Vietnamese surrounding Khe Sanh at the height of the battle ranged from 20,000 to 40,000.

According to Pentagon figures, 199 Marines died at Khe Sanh and another 1,600 were wounded between Jan. 20 and April 1.

The North Vietnamese, by Pentagon count, lost "in excess of 10,000" dead during the same period.

The North Vietnamese poured in thousands of artillery and mortar shells but in turn were subjected to an unprecedented U.S. air bombardment campaign.

Col. Lownds told Pentagon newsmen he never felt Khe Sanh was being used as bait to lure the North Vietnamese into a trap but he acknowledged there had been a decision at high levels to make the situation what he termed "a set-piece battle."

Gen. Wheeler said in a speech at Westbury, N.Y., Monday night: "Gen. Westmoreland's Khe Sanh campaign plan as he told me before the fact was to let the enemy commit himself and then beat him to death with airpower."

Midland's Lions Install Officers

Truman E. Rodfong, charter president, installed officers of the Midland Lions Club Thursday night at the Suburban Motel in Chippewa.

They are Lester Trainer, president; Anthony Martell, first vice president; John F. Shovlin III, second vice president; Louis Morace, third vice president; Paul Adams, treasurer; Nile H. Wain, secretary; Paul Plevich, Lion tamer, and Morie Silverman, tail twister.

William Robertson and Paul McGeehan were seated as new board members.

Twenty - five attended. The next meeting will be July 11 at 6:30 p. m. at the Willows Motel, Industry. Shovlin will be program chairman.

Boy Drowns While Mother Visits Friend

The boy got past a retaining wall in a lagoon and fell into the eight-foot deep water.

Walkout

gency pickups of garbage in situations where public health might be endangered, such as at City Hospital, he said.

Crews also will make themselves available to repair any serious water line breaks, he said. Campbell said the sewage treatment plant may set up its bypass system to allow wastes to flow directly into the river instead of processing them. The bypass system is used especially during heavy rains when the flow into the plant is so heavy it cannot be handled.

Two employes were on duty at the water department plant—a pumping employe and a filter operator — but they said they were "doing nothing" and said the plant was "all tied up." Supervisory employes were reported preparing to take over water processing tasks to assure a supply will be maintained.

Hand - lettered placards reading "On Strike" were propped against flower boxes on either side of the main entrance to City Hall. The city income tax office was closed briefly this morning, apparently because of a misunderstanding. It is staffed by four, two of whom are members of the local. However, the office opened for business shortly before 10. All other offices were open, although a few of the clerical workers joined in the stoppage.

A contractor's crew quit work on surfacing an addition to the city parking lot on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall.

Supt. Charles Huddlestun was maintaining operation of the sewage treatment plant singlehandedly. Normally three others are on duty on the daylight shift. Huddlestun said waste was being processed normally, at least for the present.

IN RESPONSE to a query on the local's position, Campbell replied:

"We're on strike. We're waiting for sign shops to open so we can get signs painted."

In addition to the four major departments, the work stoppage affects the "Meter Maid" forces and some miscellaneous employes, including a few clerical workers at City Hall.

"The local had a meeting last night and voted to be in sympathy with the incinerator employes," Campbell said.

The city has an overall total of about 160 employes. The police and fire departments together total approximately 55. Most of the balance of the employes are members of the local except for the elected officials at City Hall and some of their office help.

Campbell said this morning the local had been in negotiation with Council for six or seven months. Council already had made a verbal promise of overtime pay and had granted an additional uniform allowance for the "Meter Maids," he said.

The incinerator department employes reported for work Thursday at 7 a. m. and then left their jobs a few minutes later, asserting that they had been "ignored" when Council granted pay raises to police and firemen.

Council agreed to give the two safety departments $23-a-month raises after most of the police and firemen absented themselves from their jobs for three days, claiming illness.

At its special meeting last night, Council made no mention of the incinerator crew's walkout, either in its caucus session or in the public meeting which followed.

The city evidently was relying on its working agreement, signed with union officers last April 9, which calls for processing of any grievance through channels. The final step in the procedure, the agreement provides, is arbitration by a three-member board. The agreement provides the union will select a member and the two then will pick a third party.

In addition, the incinerator crew's walkout had been termed "unauthorized" by James McKinnon, president of Local 677.

said she applied her brakes, but hit Wentz, who rolled onto the hood of the car, then fell off onto the south berm as the car came to a halt.

Officers said the car skidded 68 feet.

Funeral arrangements will be made by the Gmiter Funeral Home at 2323 E. Carson St., Pittsburgh.

Beating Victim In City Hospital

They said Raymond Householder of the old Irondale Rd. called at 4:07 a. m. to report the victim had come to his house for help.

Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman said Husk was bleeding from the face. Husk told Wellman he was in a red Ford convertible with some men he did not know and they took his wallet and beat him up. The amount taken was not determined. Husk had some bills hidden in his sock.

The beating occurred near No. 16 school west of Wellsville. Husk was admitted to City Hospital for treatment and X-rays. His condition is "fair."

4-H Club Begins Exchange Plans

LISBON — The Columbiana County 4-H Junior Leadership Club is planning an exchange program with eight or nine boys and girls from St. Joseph County, Mich.

Plans were launched Thursday night when the club met at St. George parish hall, with David Wilhelm of Salem RD in charge. Gordon McDonald, new county 4-H agent, attended.

They also discussed the possibility of buying a stereo and public address system.

It was announced that Alan Gibson of Salem RD 2 will be host to an International Farm Youth Exchangee from Norway beginning July 20.

Chester Brautigam, United School District superintendent, was scheduled to speak, but could not attend. Peggy and Wade Zimmerman of Salem and John Sebrell of Lisbon reported on their experiences at club congress last week at Ohio State University. Vince Andrulis of Lisbon called for square dancing.

Council agreed to give the two safety departments $23-a-month raises after most of the police and firemen absented themselves from their jobs for three days, claiming illness.

At its special meeting last night, Council made no mention of the incinerator crew's walkout, either in its caucus session or in the public meeting which followed.

The city evidently was relying on its working agreement, signed with union officers last April 9, which calls for processing of any grievance through channels. The final step in the procedure, the agreement provides, is arbitration by a three-member board. The agreement provides the union will select a member and the two then will pick a third party.

In addition, the incinerator crew's walkout had been termed "unauthorized" by James McKinnon, president of Local 677.

said she applied her brakes, but hit Wentz, who rolled onto the hood of the car, then fell off onto the south berm as the car came to a halt.

Officers said the car skidded 68 feet.

Funeral arrangements will be made by the Gmiter Funeral Home at 2323 E. Carson St., Pittsburgh.

Beating Victim In City Hospital

They said Raymond Householder of the old Irondale Rd. called at 4:07 a. m. to report the victim had come to his house for help.

Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman said Husk was bleeding from the face. Husk told Wellman he was in a red Ford convertible with some men he did not know and they took his wallet and beat him up. The amount taken was not determined. Husk had some bills hidden in his sock.

The beating occurred near No. 16 school west of Wellsville. Husk was admitted to City Hospital for treatment and X-rays. His condition is "fair."

4-H Club Begins Exchange Plans

LISBON — The Columbiana County 4-H Junior Leadership Club is planning an exchange program with eight or nine boys and girls from St. Joseph County, Mich.

Plans were launched Thursday night when the club met at St. George parish hall, with David Wilhelm of Salem RD in charge. Gordon McDonald, new county 4-H agent, attended.

They also discussed the possibility of buying a stereo and public address system.

It was announced that Alan Gibson of Salem RD 2 will be host to an International Farm Youth Exchangee from Norway beginning July 20.

Chester Brautigam, United School District superintendent, was scheduled to speak, but could not attend. Peggy and Wade Zimmerman of Salem and John Sebrell of Lisbon reported on their experiences at club congress last week at Ohio State University. Vince Andrulis of Lisbon called for square dancing.

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — Officers were elected when the Wednesday Evening Discussion Group held a coverdish picnic supper at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry at Guilford Lake.

Named were: John Halverstadt, president; Ray Beers, vice president, and Mrs. Charles McKenzie, secretary-treasurer.

Games and contests were played under the direction of Mrs. Richard Kennedy, with prizes awarded.

Seventeen attended.

The annual cookout breakfast will be held July 28 at 6:30 a.m., concluding activities until fall.

Lodge Honors Mrs. Pike

Mrs. Tom Pike, District 27 representative, was honored during a reception Wednesday night by Caldwell Rebekah Lodge.

Fifty visitors were among the 80 who attended. Lodges represented included Columbiana, Salem, Sebring and East Palestine.

Mrs. Orrie Taylor, noble grand, was in charge.

Mrs. Pike was presented a corsage from her Past Grand Club "secret pal," other gifts and a silver tray from the local lodge.

The decorations in front of the noble grand station depicted the emblem of the lodge, the moon and stars, each star bearing the name of one of the seven lodges comprising the district and with white streamers flowing down to Barbie dolls dressed in formals and wearing the name of the noble grand of that particular lodge. Over all was another doll representing Mrs. Pike.

A variety program was presented by the visiting lodges and closed with a vocal solo by Mrs. Robert Peterson of Lisbon.

The luncheon committee was Mrs. George Riggle, chairman, Mrs. George Everett, Mrs. Lloyd Hanna and Mrs. Albert Prasco.

The buffet table was laid in white, centered with a floral arrangement of pink rose buds and carnations flanked with write candles in crystal holders, with silver accessories. Mrs. Taylor presided.

Meetings will resume Sept. 11 when birthdays for a six-month period will be observed.

Priest Addresses Group

Fr. William Stikle discussed plans for the coming year when Holy Trinity Episcopal Church met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Robert Bailey of Maple St.

Reports were given on fund-raising projects.

Mrs. Bailey, president, discussed plans for the next meeting Sept. 25 with Mrs. Maurice Bell of Signal.

Bridge Club Meets

The Wednesday Night Bridge Club met with Mrs. Lodge Thorne of S. Lincoln Ave. Mrs. Victor Williams and Mrs. A. E. Christopher won honors.

Mrs. John Chillik will entertain the group at her home on the Lisbon - Salem Rd. July 10.

Homemakers Meet

Mrs. Harvey Everett of W. Washington St. was hostess and Mrs. James Berry co-hostess when the Center Township Homemakers met Wednesday. Mrs. Tom Hutchison was a guest.

Due to inclement weather, they did not go to Willow Grove Park as planned, but held their picnic at noon at the Everett home.

Mrs. Thomas Wetzel, president, conducted a short business session when the table was discussed for the "Christmas At Home Tea" next fall.

Meetings will resume in September.

4-H Group Meets

The Junior Lucky Penny 4-H group was received by Candy Weaver of the East Liverpool Rd. Wednesday afternoon.

Roll call was a "health hint." Kim Mullen, a member of the Churchhill Chippers, was a guest.

The girls had just returned from 4-H camp and reviewed their activities there.

Sorosis Club Holds Picnic

Fourteen members of the Sorosis Club held a noon picnic luncheon on the patio at the summer home of Mrs. Aubrey Blocksom of Scroggs Rd. Wednesday.

A short business session was conducted by Miss Helen Ramsey, president.

Mrs. W. D. Edgerton discussed program assignments for the coming season, beginning in September.

Circles of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church met Tuesday, with 62 members and guests present.

All the circles followed the central theme, "Where Is Your Concern?" The discussion concerned the church, community and world situation.

Ruth Circle held a picnic at the home of Mrs. Robert Gardner of the Salem Rd., with Mrs. Gregg Ramsey co-hostess.

Mrs. Paul Gerrard had charge of the spiritual life and the fellowship of the least coin. Mrs. Graham Kearney moderated the program.

Mrs. Opal Cammon of Columbiana Rd. entertained members of Esther Circle at a coverdish dinner. Her co - hostesses were Mrs. Walter Eells and Mrs. Jay Eells.

Mrs. Richard Kennedy conducted the fellowship of the least coin. Mrs. Dale Gates, program chairman, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Jay Eells, who reported on synodical. Miss Ruth Bye presented the program.

Naomi Circle held a picnic at the home of Mrs. Robert Williams of the Roller Coaster Rd. Mrs. Harold Hawkins gave the fellowship of the least coin. Mrs. A. H. Timmerman served as spiritual life leader. The discussion was led by Mrs. C. J. Yoos.

Mrs J. L. McBride of Sunset Dr. hosted Mary Circle for a picnic supper. The co-hostesses were Mrs. Milan Garick, Mrs. Ralph Farmer and Mrs. Russell Harsh.

The fellowship of the least coin was conducted by Mrs. McBride. Mrs. Guy Anderson had charge of spiritual life and Mrs. Kenneth Hull led the discussion.

Martha Circle met at the home of Mrs. Hoyte Sexton of E. Chestnut St. in the evening. Mrs. Willis Coleman Sr. and Mrs. Garrett Willis were co - hostesses. The spiritual life chairman, Miss Gladys Loudon, conducted devotions. Mrs. Willis led the fellowship of the least coin and Mrs. Dan Libby gave the program.

Have Busy Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Freshly of E. Chestnut St. had a busy Sunday.

They attended a noon cookout at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Ulbrich at East Palestine, in honor of the sixth birthday of the Ulbrichs' son Wayne.

In the afternoon, they went to the home of Mrs. Juanita Boron at Homeworth, where an open house reception was held from 1 to 5 in honor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Freshly of South Bend, Ind., who were visiting here. Another daughter, Mrs. Eldis Imobersteg, assisted with the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Freshly and four daughters from California were among those present, their first trip east in 11 years. Some 150 were present during the day.

Surprises SenateDemocratic Leader

Foes Of Johnson Naming Fortas See New Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of President Johnson's naming a new chief justice are claiming increasing support in both parties and the offensive seems to have taken the Senate Democratic leadership by surprise.

The opposition, centered so far largely on a petition being circulated by Senate Republicans, is "a little more emphatic than I anticipated it would be," Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Thursday night.

"I don't know what these people can do," commented Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which will consider Johnson's appointments of Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice.

Fortas would replace the retiring Earl Warren with Thornberry stepping up from the U.S. Court of Appeals in Austin, Tex., to fill the vacancy created by Fortas' elevation.

Mansfield and Eastland commented in the wake of two major developments:

—Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., circulator of the petition, claimed support of most of his GOP colleagues and some Democrats and said "I really think the nominations can be blocked."

—A question was raised in the Judiciary Committee about whether a vacancy really exists on the court since President Johnson said, when announcing Warren's retirement, it was "subject to the appointment of a qualified successor."

The committee called Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to testify on the question July 11. But the Justice Department hastened to cite what it called numerous precedents for approving court appointees before a predecessor actually stepped out.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who said he won't sign the Griffin petition but has not taken a public stance on the nominations, said "It is a fine question. If no vacancy exists there is nothing to fill."

There are 18 signatures on the petition which specifically opposes President Johnson, as an outgoing president, making court appointees that will exert influence for years. This is half the Senate's GOP members, but Griffin forces say some senators are on the fence and others are still considering signing.

Mansfield, answering questions from United Nations correspondents on a speechmaking trip to New York, raised the possibility that Warren could be forced to stay on indefinitely as chief justice if the nomination is blocked.

"There's always that very strong possibility if an impasse should develop in the Senate," he said.

Referring to the petition signers, Eastland commented in Washington "Will they vote against cloture (the rule to shut off prolonged debate)? Will they filibuster? I don't know. I just don't know."

Eastland declined to say what his position was, but as a Southern Democrat he is part of the bloc that has criticized the court's liberal decisions.

Griffin forces said they have been approached by Southern Democrats whom they expect to vote with them as well as Northern Democrats. They don't expect Northerners to vote with them, but they could provide behind the scenes support.

There were these other developments Thursday relating to the controversy:

—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller defended Johnson's appointments and said he could not understand the criticism by Richard M. Nixon and other prominent Republicans.

"The President, under the Constitution, has a responsibility to make the appointments," Rockefeller said while campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination in Sioux City, Iowa.

—Warren, interviewed in California where he is vacationing, said his decision to step down was a hard one because it plunged him from a "very active situation into a vacuum."

The 77-year-old former California governor said he had been afraid to think about the decision because he was "afraid it might dissuade me."

Warren declined to discuss the controversy swirling about his retirement, saying "I am entirely nonpolitical. I have to be."

Reflects On Chief Justice Term

Warren Says Some Raps At High Court Outlandish

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren says he would like the 15 "Warren years" of the U.S. Supreme Court recorded "as an honest effort to meet the problems of our day."

The 77-year-old jurist reflected on his term as chief justice during an interview on radio and television Thursday and commented:

—Criticism and dissent are healthy for the court and the entire system of American government. "I wouldn't want to take the Supreme Court out of controversy." But he said some attacks on the court have been "outlandish."

—Critics of the Warren Commission investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy have failed to develop facts "contrary to the findings of the commission."

—Controversial civil rights issues have come to the court; the court has not deliberately sought them out.

—He is not personally bothered by billboards put up in some parts of the country during the past several years calling for his impeachment. "I learned to accept criticism as well as praise. . ."

Warren was interviewed by reporters for radio station KFBK and television station KOVR during a brief visit Thursday to Sacramento, where Warren served 10 years as the state's Republican governor before being appointed chief justice by President Eisenhower.

Warren rejected the argument of some court critics that it has injected itself into civil rights controversies.

"There are a great many people who are of the opinion that if the Supreme Court doesn't like something, it just reaches out and takes the issue and brings it to the Supreme Court.

"Well, that's the farthest thing from the truth. Every case that we have starts in a trial court or the state courts. The case progresses through until eventually it comes to us.

"When it does come to us, it's usually of a very controversial nature and our decision therefore becomes controversial because. . .somebody has to win and somebody has to lose."

In earlier days, Warren said, "the question was whether the U.S. government had enough authority under the Constitution to survive. There wasn't any thought given to the Bill of Rights. Those issues hadn't arisen. There weren't any movements of that kind."

J. M. Blazer Speaks

1900 Graduate Presents Diplomas At OVBC Rites

Joseph M. Blazer, retired finance executive who was graduated from the Ohio Valley Business College 68 years ago, awarded diplomas and certificates to 39 students during the OVBC commencement exercises Thursday night.

Mr. Blazer, retired vice president of the Potters Savings and Loan Co., spoke briefly at the ceremonies, for which Harold P. Graham, former area resident and comptroller of St. Elizabeth Hospital at Youngstown, was guest speaker.

Graham cited the value of his two years at OVBC and urged the graduates to continue their education for themselves and for their communities.

"You should use your education to engage in various activities in the community which needs people to give their time and talents," he said.

"You, who are graduating tonight, are just beginning on the road to success, if you will use what you have learned to help others as well as yourselves," Graham declared.

Mrs. Marie Stier, manager, gave remarks, as did Howard S. Graham, twin brother of the speaker and co-operator of the college with Mrs. Stier.

Domenic Alfano, president of the OVBC Fellowship Club, presented an award to Theresa Daniels Lewis as the student who contributed the most to the welfare of the club.

Police Overtime Fund Exhausted, Council Advised

The $5,000 fund appropriated for police department overtime pay during 1968 will be virtually exhausted at the close of the current payroll period Sunday, Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger reported in a letter sent to Council Thursday afternoon.

Zollinger pointed out that $851.20 in overtime was paid in the two - week payroll period that ended June 15, leaving only $834.20 in the fund. The unencumbered balance will be exhausted in the pay period for the last half of June, he predicted. That payroll will be disbursed July 5.

"After June 30, there should be no police overtime turned in, as I will not be allowed to pay it," Zollinger's letter concluded.

Receives Radio Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced Thursday receipt of an application from Bellefontaine, Ohio, for assignment of the license of radio station WOHP by Hi-Point Broadcasting Co. to WOHP, Inc.

The American Philosophical Society evolved from Benjamin Franklin's Junto in Philadelphia.

Police Maintain Calm After Racial Unrest

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — Heavy police patrols maintained calm Thursday night and today after two previous nights of racial unrest.

The trouble began Tuesday night in predominantly Negro North Richmond after a teenager was shot and wounded by police. Officers said the youngster refused to stop while running from a car believed stolen.

SUNGLASSES

Q. I read in a popular magazine that sunglasses tinted gray are best, those tinted green somewhat less protective, and that the reddish ones are the poorest. Is this true?

A. The primary purpose of sunglasses is to reduce exceptionally high outdoor brightness to tolerable levels. Lightly tinted lenses, regardless of color offer little protection against glare. Pink or rose tints transmit more than 60% of light rays. For this reason most people find the gray (smoke or neutral) or green lenses to be more satisfactory.

JET SPRAYS FOR TEETH

Q. Recently I have seen ads in magazines for a device to clean teeth by means of a stream of water. Is this method both safe and effective?

A. Such devices may be useful to supplement the toothbrush but there is no evidence at this time to support claims that the jet spray itself is efficacious for cleaning the teeth. In fact some concern has been expressed about the possible harmful effects of this type of device. Here again, however, there is no evidence at this time to substantiate or disprove this contention.

Surprises SenateDemocratic Leader

Foes Of Johnson Naming Fortas See New Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of President Johnson's naming a new chief justice are claiming increasing support in both parties and the offensive seems to have taken the Senate Democratic leadership by surprise.

The opposition, centered so far largely on a petition being circulated by Senate Republicans, is "a little more emphatic than I anticipated it would be," Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Thursday night.

"I don't know what these people can do," commented Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which will consider Johnson's appointments of Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice.

Fortas would replace the retiring Earl Warren with Thornberry stepping up from the U.S. Court of Appeals in Austin, Tex., to fill the vacancy created by Fortas' elevation.

Mansfield and Eastland commented in the wake of two major developments:

—Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., circulator of the petition, claimed support of most of his GOP colleagues and some Democrats and said "I really think the nominations can be blocked."

—A question was raised in the Judiciary Committee about whether a vacancy really exists on the court since President Johnson said, when announcing Warren's retirement, it was "subject to the appointment of a qualified successor."

The committee called Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to testify on the question July 11. But the Justice Department hastened to cite what it called numerous precedents for approving court appointees before a predecessor actually stepped out.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who said he won't sign the Griffin petition but has not taken a public stance on the nominations, said "It is a fine question. If no vacancy exists there is nothing to fill."

There are 18 signatures on the petition which specifically opposes President Johnson, as an outgoing president, making court appointees that will exert influence for years. This is half the Senate's GOP members, but Griffin forces say some senators are on the fence and others are still considering signing.

Mansfield, answering questions from United Nations correspondents on a speechmaking trip to New York, raised the possibility that Warren could be forced to stay on indefinitely as chief justice if the nomination is blocked.

"There's always that very strong possibility if an impasse should develop in the Senate," he said.

Referring to the petition signers, Eastland commented in Washington "Will they vote against cloture (the rule to shut off prolonged debate)? Will they filibuster? I don't know. I just don't know."

Eastland declined to say what his position was, but as a Southern Democrat he is part of the bloc that has criticized the court's liberal decisions.

Griffin forces said they have been approached by Southern Democrats whom they expect to vote with them as well as Northern Democrats. They don't expect Northerners to vote with them, but they could provide behind the scenes support.

There were these other developments Thursday relating to the controversy:

—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller defended Johnson's appointments and said he could not understand the criticism by Richard M. Nixon and other prominent Republicans.

"The President, under the Constitution, has a responsibility to make the appointments," Rockefeller said while campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination in Sioux City, Iowa.

—Warren, interviewed in California where he is vacationing, said his decision to step down was a hard one because it plunged him from a "very active situation into a vacuum."

The 77-year-old former California governor said he had been afraid to think about the decision because he was "afraid it might dissuade me."

Warren declined to discuss the controversy swirling about his retirement, saying "I am entirely nonpolitical. I have to be."

Reflects On Chief Justice Term

Warren Says Some Raps At High Court Outlandish

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren says he would like the 15 "Warren years" of the U.S. Supreme Court recorded "as an honest effort to meet the problems of our day."

—Criticism and dissent are healthy for the court and the entire system of American government. "I wouldn't want to take the Supreme Court out of controversy." But he said some attacks on the court have been "outlandish."

—Critics of the Warren Commission investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy have failed to develop facts "contrary to the findings of the commission."

—Controversial civil rights issues have come to the court; the court has not deliberately sought them out.

—He is not personally bothered by billboards put up in some parts of the country during the past several years calling for his impeachment. "I learned to accept criticism as well as praise..."

Warren was interviewed by reporters for radio station KFBK and television station KOVR during a brief visit Thursday to Sacramento, where Warren served 10 years as the state's Republican governor before being appointed chief justice by President Eisenhower.

Warren rejected the argument of some court critics that it has injected itself into civil rights controversies.

"There are a great many people who are of the opinion that if the Supreme Court doesn't like something, it just reaches out and takes the issue and brings it to the Supreme Court.

"Well, that's the farthest thing from the truth. Every case that we have starts in a trial court or the state courts. The case progresses through until eventually it comes to us.

"When it does come to us, it's usually of a very controversial nature and our decision therefore becomes controversial because...somebody has to win and somebody has to lose."

In earlier days, Warren said, "the question was whether the U.S. government had enough authority under the Constitution to survive. There wasn't any thought given to the Bill of Rights. Those issues hadn't arisen. There weren't any movements of that kind."

J. M. Blazer Speaks

1900 Graduate Presents Diplomas At OVBC Rites

Joseph M. Blazer, retired finance executive who was graduated from the Ohio Valley Business College 68 years ago, awarded diplomas and certificates to 39 students during the OVBC commencement exercises Thursday night.

Mr. Blazer, retired vice president of the Potters Savings and Loan Co., spoke briefly at the ceremonies, for which Harold P. Graham, former area resident and comptroller of St. Elizabeth Hospital at Youngstown, was guest speaker.

Graham cited the value of his two years at OVBC and urged the graduates to continue their education for themselves and for their communities.

"You should use your education to engage in various activities in the community which needs people to give their time and talents," he said.

"You, who are graduating tonight, are just beginning on the road to success, if you will use what you have learned to help others as well as yourselves," Graham declared.

Mrs. Marie Stier, manager, gave remarks, as did Howard S. Graham, twin brother of the speaker and co-operator of the college with Mrs. Stier.

Domenic Alfano, president of the OVBC Fellowship Club, presented an award to Theresa Daniels Lewis as the student who contributed the most to the welfare of the club.

Police Overtime Fund Exhausted, Council Advised

The $5,000 fund appropriated for police department overtime pay during 1968 will be virtually exhausted at the close of the current payroll period Sunday, Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger reported in a letter sent to Council Thursday afternoon.

Zollinger pointed out that $851.20 in overtime was paid in the two - week payroll period that ended June 15, leaving only $834.20 in the fund. The unencumbered balance will be exhausted in the pay period for the last half of June, he predicted. That payroll will be disbursed July 5.

"After June 30, there should be no police overtime turned in, as I will not be allowed to pay it," Zollinger's letter concluded.

SUNGLASSES

Q. I read in a popular magazine that sunglasses tinted gray are best, those tinted green somewhat less protective, and that the reddish ones are the poorest. Is this true?

A. The primary purpose of sunglasses is to reduce exceptionally high outdoor brightness to tolerable levels. Lightly tinted lenses, regardless of color offer little protection against glare. Pink or rose tints transmit more than 60% of light rays. For this reason most people find the gray (smoke or neutral) or green lenses to be more satisfactory.

JET SPRAYS FOR TEETH

Q. Recently I have seen ads in magazines for a device to clean teeth by means of a stream of water. Is this method both safe and effective?

A. Such devices may be useful to supplement the toothbrush but there is no evidence at this time to support claims that the jet spray itself is efficacious for cleaning the teeth. In fact some concern has been expressed about the possible harmful effects of this type of device. Here again, however, there is no evidence at this time to substantiate or disprove this contention.

Romance In Hawaii Leads To Altar For Chester Girl

A vacation romance in Hawaii culminated in marriage for Miss Charmil Kay Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Pugh of 104 Carolina Ave., Chester, when she became the bride of James E. Drumheller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Drumheller of Ravenna, June 15 at 4 p.m. in the First Christian Church of Chester.

The Rev. Daniel Davis officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of palms and candelabra, which were decorated with white mums, pink roses and baby breath tied with pink streamers. The family pews were marked with white satin bows touched with white carnations and baby breath.

Mrs. Elmer Kell presented a half - hour recital of organ music. Thomas Schneidmiller sang "The Hawaiian Wedding Song." as the bride came down the aisle.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar by her brother, F. Davis Pugh, and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor - length, skimmer-style gown of white linen which flared slightly at the hemline. Swiss - embroidered Venice lace bordered the Kabpki sleeves and neckline with a double-row accenting the hemline. The same lace edged the Watteau train which fell from the shoulders to a diamond - cut backline.

Matching medallions of Venice lace adorned her pillbox headpiece which held a two-tier, shoulder - length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of orchids, pink rosebuds, bachelor buttons, bells of Bethlehem, purple and blue status and baby breath.

Her only jewelry was a heart-shaped diamond pendant, the gift of her parents on her 21st birthday anniversary. In observing the traditions, she borrowed the handkerchief from her matron of honor, Mrs. William McKeown,, and a sixpence from Mrs. Blaine Pinney Jr.

A PALE aqua, full - length, sleeveless skimmer designed with a batteau neckline was worn by Mrs. McKeown. The stand-a-way collar was fashioned from matching Venice lace. Her illusion veil was attached to a forward look of blossoms and stringed lily-of-the-valley. She carried a cascade of pink roses, bachelor buttons, purple and blue status, baby breath and orchids.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of mint green silk linen accented with Venice lace. She had matching accessories and wore a headpiece designed of pink roses, purple and blue status, bachelor buttons and baby breath.

MRS. JAMES DRUMHELLER
Resides In Connecticut.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in an aqua silk shantung dress and jacket ensemble with white halo hat. White accessories and an orchid corsage completed her attire.

A RECEPTION followed at the Chester VFW hall where a buffet dinner was served to 200 under the supervision of Lady Elks. Mrs. Robert Dreier, chairman, was assisted by Miss Bobbie Ann Dreier, Miss Beth Ann Farnsworth and Miss Judy Farnsworth.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth accented with pink streamers. The centerpiece of pink roses and snapdragons, white mums and baby breath was flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra. Another table accented with pastel color streamers was centered with a three - tier cake placed on swan separators and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Pink carnations and baby breath encircled the base of the cake.

For her honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride chose a beige linen dress and coat ensemble with yellow accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Chester High School, formerly was employed as a desk clerk at the Holiday Inn. Her husband was graduated from Ravenna High School and Kent State University and served four years in the Navy.

The newlyweds will reside in Hartford, Conn., where the bridegroom is participating in the employe traing program of the National Cash Register School.

Romance In Hawaii Leads To Altar For Chester Girl

A vacation romance in Hawaii culminated in marriage for Miss Charmil Kay Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Pugh of 104 Carolina Ave., Chester, when she became the bride of James E. Drumheller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Drumheller of Ravenna, June 15 at 4 p.m. in the First Christian Church of Chester.

The Rev. Daniel Davis officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of palms and candelabra, which were decorated with white mums, pink roses and baby breath tied with pink streamers. The family pews were marked with white satin bows touched with white carnations and baby breath.

Mrs. Elmer Kell presented a half - hour recital of organ music. Thomas Schneidmiller sang "The Hawaiian Wedding Song." as the bride came down the aisle.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar by her brother, F. Davis Pugh, and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor - length, skimmer-style gown of white linen which flared slightly at the hemline. Swiss - embroidered Venice lace bordered the Kabpki sleeves and neckline with a double-row accenting the hemline. The same lace edged the Watteau train which fell from the shoulders to a diamond - cut backline.

Matching medallions of Venice lace adorned her pillbox headpiece which held a two-tier, shoulder - length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of orchids, pink rosebuds, bachelor buttons, bells of Bethlehem, purple and blue status and baby breath.

Her only jewelry was a heart-shaped diamond pendant, the gift of her parents on her 21st birthday anniversary. In observing the traditions, she borrowed the handkerchief from her matron of honor, Mrs. William McKeown,, and a sixpence from Mrs. Blaine Pinney Jr.

A PALE aqua, full - length, sleeveless skimmer designed with a batteau neckline was worn by Mrs. McKeown. The stand-a-way collar was fashioned from matching Venice lace. Her illusion veil was attached to a forward look of blossoms and stringed lily-of-the-valley. She carried a cascade of pink roses, bachelor buttons, purple and blue status, baby breath and orchids.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of mint green silk linen accented with Venice lace. She had matching accessories and wore a headpiece designed of pink roses, purple and blue status, bachelor buttons and baby breath.

MRS. JAMES DRUMHELLER
Resides In Connecticut.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in an aqua silk shantung dress and jacket ensemble with white halo hat. White accessories and an orchid corsage completed her attire.

A RECEPTION followed at the Chester VFW hall where a buffet dinner was served to 200 under the supervision of Lady Elks. Mrs. Robert Dreier, chairman, was assisted by Miss Bobbie Ann Dreier, Miss Beth Ann Farnsworth and Miss Judy Farnsworth.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth accented with pink streamers. The centerpiece of pink roses and snapdragons, white mums and baby breath was flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra. Another table accented with pastel color streamers was centered with a three - tier cake placed on swan separators and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Pink carnations and baby breath encircled the base of the cake.

The bride, a graduate of Chester High School, formerly was employed as a desk clerk at the Holiday Inn. Her husband was graduated from Ravenna High School and Kent State University and served four years in the Navy.

The newlyweds will reside in Hartford, Conn., where the bridegroom is participating in the employe traing program of the National Cash Register School.

Safecracking Quiz Goes On

The Jefferson County sheriff's office and U. S. postal inspectors are continuing their investigation into the safecracking at the Hammondsville Post Office some time early Thursday morning.

W. H. Atkins, postal inspector from the Youngstown office, said a small quantity of cash and a few stamps were taken by the thieves, whose work appeared to be "professional."

County Slates Discussion In Road Closing

LISBON — County commissioners will hold a public hearing July 18 at the Courthouse on a petition for vacation of a portion of old Route 45 near Long's Crossing about 4.5 miles north of Lisbon.

The petitioners are Warren N. Bricker, who owns land on either side, Iona D. Bricker, Dewey McLaughlin, Myrtle McLaughlin, Hazel Griffith, Carl C. Griffith, Norman Shaw, Kathryn Shaw, Thelma Rockwell, Robert Rockwell, Robert Bartholow, Shirley A. Bartholow and Galen E. Bricker.

Salem Township trustees approved the vacation May 29.

The section of road mentioned in the petition is in the southeast quarter of Section 28—just east of the new Route 45 overpass of the Erie - Lackawanna Railroad. Commissioners viewed the road Thursday.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 of Lisbon was allowed $50 for Memorial Day expenses.

Commissioners announced that all offices in the Courthouse will be closed Thursday in observance of Independence Day.

Ex-Resident Gets New School Post At Glencoe, N.Y.

Dr. Robert M. Finley, former city resident and veteran educator, has been named superintendent of schools at Glen Cove, N.Y.

Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Finley of Lantana, Fla., former city residents, has been superintendent of schools at Barrington, N.Y., for seven years. Prior to that he was superintendent at Chagrin Falls for three years.

A graduate of Ohio University, where he also received a master's degree, he earned his doctorate at Northwestern University.

He began his teaching career here in 1947 as a high school history and English instructor. In 1948 he taught first through sixth year classes at Ohio University Laboratory School, where he became principal the following year.

From 1950 to 1953 he was on the staff of the Glencoe (Ill.) Public Schools as assistant superintendent and teacher of an experimental group. In 1954-56, he was an assistant professor of education at Kent State University and director of the Teacher Education Center.

He has written a book on team teaching and numerous articles on education, and is currently working on a manuscript about the middle school.

Valuation

Few people responded to this opportunity the last time, Bell said.

Robert R. Kinney of the state's Division of County Affairs checked the reappraisal figures recently against properties in the field. He notified the auditor he has recommended to the Ohio board of Tax Appeals that it approve the real property valuations for Columbiana County providing the aggregate assessed value approximates $186 million.

Reappraisal crews found many structures which have not been on the tax duplicate for two years and more. Only three or four communities require building permits, Bell said, and his office has been unable to keep ahead of new construction except for big projects like markets or plazas. He said he believes it will pay to employ a couple of men full time to check on new construction and place it on the tax duplicate.

Huong Warns Supporters Of Pro-Reds

By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong warned today that anyone directly or indirectly supporting pro-Communist or proneutralist policies will be subject to immediate military trial and imprisonment at hard labor.

A communique from Huong's office said the warning was issued because "a number of organizations have recently issued communiques appealing for peace in a rather vague way, sowing confusion among the population."

Citing a 1965 decree by the military junta which ruled South Vietnam at that time, Huong said sentences at hard labor would be applied to:

—"Those who directly or indirectly disseminate the policy, slogans and orders of the Communists, of individuals or groups directed or influenced by the Communists.

—"Those who carry out activities intended to weaken the national anti-Communist will and affect the struggle of the people and the armed forces.

Huong's statement said offenders would be brought before a court-martial within 24 hours.

Peace appeals have been issued recently by Saigon students and by the militant and moderate political wings of the Buddhists in Saigon.

The government recently fired a minister without portfolio, Phan Quang Dan, after he said in the United States that his government should take the initiative and seek talks with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Mother Receives Medals Awarded Son Killed In Viet

The mother of a 19-year-old Rogers soldier received two medals today awarded by the Army posthumously at her home.

Mrs. Nellie M. Hebron of Rogers, mother of the late Pfc. Charles E. Mellott, accepted the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star on behalf of her son who was fatally wounded March 2 while on duty in Vietnam.

Mellott received the star for "outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against hostile forces," Maj. William J. Bender of the ROTC instructor group at Youngstown State University said. Bender made the presentation at the Hebron home today at 11:30 a. m.

Mellott also was lauded for his "professional ability."

He was shot in the back while on duty in Vietnam where he had been since December 1967. A son of Mrs. Hebron and the late Jacob Mellott, he entered the service May 8, 1967. He was employed by the Rogers Feed Mill at one time.

Mellott was serving with "C" Co., 4th Battalion, 9th Infantry, 25th Infantry Division, when he was wounded.

Poor People Due Plea To Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, speaking from jail, says his Poor People's Campaign will appeal to the Republican and Democratic national conventions to adopt stands on eliminating poverty.

Abernathy was sentenced to 20 days in jail Tuesday after pleading no contest to the charge that he violated laws against demonstrating on Capitol grounds.

He said he will take no solid food while in jail, just fruit juices and medicine. The fast will give him spiritual strength to carry on the work of the Poor People's Campaign, he said.

The campaign, he said, will press its views to the platform committees of the national conventions in August.

Abernathy also predicted, without elaborating, that new Resurrection Cities "will spring up all over the country, including Washington."

The original Resurrection City was the shantytown which housed campaign demonstrators from mid-May until this past Monday, when the demonstrators were evicted from their plywood huts after their government-issued permit ran out.

Man To Face Hancock Jury

An area man charged with attempted robbery of a Chester art pottery was bound over to the Hancock County grand jury in September when he appeared Thursday night before Chester Mayor Burton Ward.

Maynard Baker of Chester RD 1 pleaded "guilty" to a charge of attempted robbery of the Barnhouse Art Pottery on 1st St. and Carolina Ave. June 20 about 3:45 p. m. He will appear before the grand jury Sept. 11. He posted $5,000 bond.

Another man, Columbus Ramey, 50, of 523 7th St., Huntington, W. Va., at first was thought to be an accomplice. Ramey was "not involved," however, Ward said.

Teen-Age Center Set In Palestine Program

EAST PALESTINE — The new city recreation council has named a youth committee to direct a new teen - age center which will be located at 63 N. Market St. in the former Johnson Clothing Store.

Students named to the committee were Lynn Fruit, freshman; Carla Ulbrich, sophomore; Robert Strawn, junior, and Billie Ann Brown, senior. The students will organize their own committees and obtain equipment.

Probation Bid Rejected

LISBON — Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court Thursday overruled a motion from a penitentiary inmate for suspension of a sentence imposed for armed assault on a Leetonia priest.

James T. Martin, 31, of 13 Whittier Court, Poland, made application for probation under the so - called "Shock Treatment" statute.

Martin and James Black, 32, of New Castle were sentenced April 30 to 1 to 5 years in Ohio Penitentiary for an armed attack Sept. 3 on the Rev. Fr. Thomas Beldue in the rectory at St. Patrick's Church. The priest exchanged gunfire with the two men when they forced their way into the rectory and wounded both of them.

Smith Eyeing Matters For Legislature

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Hulett Smith says he hopes to begin preparing legislation soon for consideration at a special session of the West Virginia legislature later this summer.

Smith said his meeting with top federal officials in Washington Wednesday helped solve problems concerning a new program to put more unemployed fathers to work, the major roadblock to calling a special session.

The governor met with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Wilbur J. Cohen and Mary E. Switzer, administrator of HEW's social and rehabilitation service. He said he would be able to prepare legislation and determine the funds needed for the new program when two federal agencies put in writing what was said at the conference.

The new program, called Work Incentive, or WIN, provides for screening of unemployed fathers and placing those who aren't qualified for private enterprise in jobs with state agencies.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I repair mortar joints that are cracked and crumbling?

A. — Chip out the broken mortar, and blow out the crumbs with your vacuum cleaner. Then pack in one part cement and three parts sand mixed to the consistency of damp earth. Finish to match the old joints.

Q. — What can I do about work shoes and boots whose leather has become hardened by water?

A.—Kerosene will soften these shoes and make them pliable again — also saddle soap.

Q. — How can I perform a good job of cleaning the white side walls of my automobile tires?

A. — One of the easiest and most effective methods I know of is the use of soap-filled steel wood pads.

Scholarship, Loan Funds Get Approval

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House has passed and sent to Gov. Shafer a 53.2 million appropriation to finance state scholarship and student loans for the coming year.

Final action came on a vote of 180-8 after the House had beaten back attempts to place additional restrictions on the granting of scholarships. The amendments were offered by Rep. John Stauffer, R-Chester.

Stauffer proposed that the scholarships be awarded solely on the basis of need. In the past, state scholarships have been granted on the basis of need and scholastic ability.

Stauffer's other proposed changes would have:

— Made the maximum scholarship grant $800 at private colleges.

— Made the maximum scholarship $400 at state colleges and state-related universities.

Medical Missions Program Outlined By Church Groups

Plans for the annual medical missions program were announced during the group meetings of the Women's Association of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Tuesday.

Dr. Alex Fisher will be guest speaker at the Tuesday event in Fellowship Chapel. Children of the Primary Department will present songs. Officers will be elected, with Miriam Miller Circle the hostess unit.

The first three groups met in the Bethany Room at the church. Mrs. Barbara Talbott conducted devotions for Faith Circle, which met in the morning.

Mrs. Jane Hagerty dedicated the least coin and Mrs. Mandy Blazer and Mrs. Jo Pomeroy led the Bible study.

During business directed by Mrs. Pomeroy, circle leader, Mrs. Shirley Russell was named treasurer to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Jane Peschel, who is moving to Findlay. Mrs. Donna Todd served as acting secretary.

Six lap robes and a layette were completed.

Refreshments were served 10 by Mrs. Shirley Russell and Mrs. Ruth Russell.

REPORTS from Synodical were heard at the meeting of Miriam Miller Circle in the afternoon.

Mrs. Audrey Stacey, circle chairman, and Mrs. Frances Thornton reported on the sessions at Wooster. Mrs. Stacey conducted devotions using material, which she brought from the conference entitled "The Ability To Hear."

Mrs. Sara Weltner led devotions and the Bible study.

Bandages were rolled by the eight attending. The next session will be Sept. 24.

SACHET holders were made for the shut - ins during the meeting of the Bethany Circle in the evening at the home of Mrs. Homer Huston of Blackmore St.

Members also signed cards for the servicemen, to which they added glowing crosses before mailing. Quilt patches were cut.

Mrs. Ann Claypool, circle chairman, opened the session with a reading, "Nothing To Fear." The least coin was dedicated by Mrs. Sara Fannin, who used the topic "Abiding."

The Bible study was led by Miss Helen Hannahs, assisted by Miss Grace Deidrick, Mrs. Dorothy Evans and Mrs. Evelyn Gamble, who also offered the prayer for missions. Mrs. Carol Toot gave the offertory prayer.

Refreshments were served 19, including the guests, Mrs. Leone Wood and Mrs. Mollie Eason.

MRS. VIRGINIA Montgomery led the Bible study during the meeting of the Country Cousins Circle at the home of Mrs. Helen Wood of Kinsey St.

The purpose of United Presbyterian Women was read by Mrs. Grace Lawrence. The prayers for missions, led by Mrs. Evelyn Garner, included the Ohio Synod and Switzerland.

Safecracking Quiz Goes On

The Jefferson County sheriff's office and U. S. postal inspectors are continuing their investigation into the safecracking at the Hammondsville Post Office some time early Thursday morning.

W. H. Atkins, postal inspector from the Youngstown office, said a small quantity of cash and a few stamps were taken by the thieves, whose work appeared to be "professional."

County Slates Discussion In Road Closing

LISBON — County commissioners will hold a public hearing July 18 at the Courthouse on a petition for vacation of a portion of old Route 45 near Long's Crossing about 4.5 miles north of Lisbon.

Salem Township trustees approved the vacation May 29.

The section of road mentioned in the petition is in the southeast quarter of Section 28—just east of the new Route 45 overpass of the Erie - Lackawanna Railroad. Commissioners viewed the road Thursday.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 of Lisbon was allowed $50 for Memorial Day expenses.

Commissioners announced that all offices in the Courthouse will be closed Thursday in observance of Independence Day.

Ex-Resident Gets New School Post At Glencoe, N.Y.

Dr. Robert M. Finley, former city resident and veteran educator, has been named superintendent of schools at Glen Cove, N.Y.

Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Finley of Lantana, Fla., former city residents, has been superintendent of schools at Barrington, N.Y., for seven years. Prior to that he was superintendent at Chagrin Falls for three years.

A graduate of Ohio University, where he also received a master's degree, he earned his doctorate at Northwestern University.

He began his teaching career here in 1947 as a high school history and English instructor. In 1948 he taught first through sixth year classes at Ohio University Laboratory School, where he became principal the following year.

From 1950 to 1953 he was on the staff of the Glencoe (Ill.) Public Schools as assistant superintendent and teacher of an experimental group. In 1954-56, he was an assistant professor of education at Kent State University and director of the Teacher Education Center.

He has written a book on team teaching and numerous articles on education, and is currently working on a manuscript about the middle school.

Concert Scheduled

BEAVER—A free public concert, the first of the season, will be held Sunday at 7 p. m. at Brady's Run Park band shell by the Krepps Civic Band of Beaver Falls. The concert is sponsored by the Beaver County Recreation Department in cooperation with recording industries trust funds obtained by Local 82, American Federation of Musicians.

A nickel - plated formula racing car, the Brabham Vegantune Formula B, was exhibited at the 1968 New York International Auto Show. The entire chassis, most of the suspension and many parts of the engine are nickel-chrome plated.

Valuation

Few people responded to this opportunity the last time, Bell said.

Robert R. Kinney of the state's Division of County Affairs checked the reappraisal figures recently against properties in the field. He notified the auditor he has recommended to the Ohio board of Tax Appeals that it approve the real property valuations for Columbiana County providing the aggregate assessed value approximates $186 million.

Reappraisal crews found many structures which have not been on the tax duplicate for two years and more. Only three or four communities require building permits, Bell said, and his office has been unable to keep ahead of new construction except for big projects like markets or plazas. He said he believes it will pay to employ a couple of men full time to check on new construction and place it on the tax duplicate.

Huong Warns Supporters Of Pro-Reds

By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong warned today that anyone directly or indirectly supporting pro-Communist or proneutralist policies will be subject to immediate military trial and imprisonment at hard labor.

A communique from Huong's office said the warning was issued because "a number of organizations have recently issued communiques appealing for peace in a rather vague way, sowing confusion among the population."

Citing a 1965 decree by the military junta which ruled South Vietnam at that time, Huong said sentences at hard labor would be applied to:

—"Those who directly or indirectly disseminate the policy, slogans and orders of the Communists, of individuals or groups directed or influenced by the Communists.

—"Those who carry out activities intended to weaken the national anti-Communist will and affect the struggle of the people and the armed forces.

Huong's statement said offenders would be brought before a court-martial within 24 hours.

South Vietnam's constitution prohibits procommunism and proneutralism. Persons accused of either leaning were barred from the residential and legislative elections last fall.

Peace appeals have been issued recently by Saigon students and by the militant and moderate political wings of the Buddhists in Saigon.

The government recently fired a minister without portfolio, Phan Quang Dan, after he said in the United States that his government should take the initiative and seek talks with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Mother Receives Medals Awarded Son Killed In Viet

The mother of a 19-year-old Rogers soldier received two medals today awarded by the Army posthumously at her home.

Mrs. Nellie M. Hebron of Rogers, mother of the late Pfc. Charles E. Mellott, accepted the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star on behalf of her son who was fatally wounded March 2 while on duty in Vietnam.

Melott received the star for "outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against hostile forces," Maj. William J. Bender of the ROTC instructor group at Youngstown State University said. Bender made the presentation at the Hebron home today at 11:30 a. m.

Melott also was lauded for his "professional ability."

He was shot in the back while on duty in Vietnam where he had been since December 1967. A son of Mrs. Hebron and the late Jacob Melott, he entered the service May 8, 1967. He was employed by the Rogers Feed Mill at one time.

Melott was serving with "C" Co., 4th Battalion, 9th Infantry, 25th Infantry Division, when he was wounded.

Poor People Due Plea To Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, speaking from jail, says his Poor People's Campaign will appeal to the Republican and Democratic national conventions to adopt stands on eliminating poverty.

Abernathy was sentenced to 20 days in jail Tuesday after pleading no contest to the charge that he violated laws against demonstrating on Capitol grounds.

He said he will take no solid food while in jail, just fruit juices and medicine. The fast will give him spiritual strength to carry on the work of the Poor People's Campaign, he said.

The campaign, he said, will press its views to the platform committees of the national conventions in August.

Abernathy also predicted, without elaborating, that new Resurrection Cities "will spring up all over the country, including Washington."

The original Resurrection City was the shantytown which housed campaign demonstrators from mid-May until this past Monday, when the demonstrators were evicted from their plywood huts after their government-issued permit ran out.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Did criticism of his 15 years as U.S. Chief Justice disturb Earl Warren?

"Someone sent me the original cartoon showing a little old lady stitching our 'Impeach Earl Warren' on her needlepoint," Warren said.

"I have it in my study at home, and I get a laugh out of it every time I notice it on the wall."

The 77-year-old Warren is planning to attend the 60th reunion Saturday of his Kern County High School graduating class.

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie and Patricia Nixon are "going out on their own" beginning next week on behalf of their father, presidential aspirant Richard M. Nixon.

District Motorist Cited In Mishap

A New Cumberland area man was cited following a two - car mishap south of Lisbon Thursday.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Aaron Bragg, 49, of New Cumberland RD 2 was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1957 sedan rammed the rear of a 1964 convertible on Route 45, 6½ miles south of Route 517.

The accident occurred at 9:10 p. m. when the convertible, operated by Norman Guy, 22, of 509 18th St., Wellsville, stopped for an unidentified vehicle, which in turn had halted to avoid hitting dogs.

The Bragg car failed to stop in time and slid into the convertible, officers reported.

Personalities In The News

Her husband is due to join her next Wednesday for a short rest and some campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination. Mrs. Rockefeller, however, declined to discuss politics.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Did criticism of his 15 years as U.S. Chief Justice disturb Earl Warren?

"Someone sent me the original cartoon showing a little old lady stitching our 'Impeach Earl Warren' on her needlepoint," Warren said.

The 77-year-old Warren is planning to attend the 60th reunion Saturday of his Kern County High School graduating class.

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie and Patricia Nixon are "going out on their own" beginning next week on behalf of their father, presidential aspirant Richard M. Nixon.

District Motorist Cited In Mishap

A New Cumberland area man was cited following a two - car mishap south of Lisbon Thursday.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Aaron Bragg, 49, of New Cumberland RD 2 was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1957 sedan rammed the rear of a 1964 convertible on Route 45, 6½ miles south of Route 517.

The accident occurred at 9:10 p. m. when the convertible, operated by Norman Guy, 22, of 509 18th St., Wellsville, stopped for an unidentified vehicle, which in turn had halted to avoid hitting dogs.

The Bragg car failed to stop in time and slid into the convertible, officers reported.

Are You Prepared For A Tornado?

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP — Only one out every 10 towns in the U.S. tornado belt has an adequate warning system, says Allen Pearson, director of the Weather Bureau's National Severe Storms Forecast Center.

"And this is an improvement from what it was a few years ago," he adds.

Pearson and others were asked about the nation's tornado readiness status in the wake of a near-record barrage of twisters that battered the Midwest May 15.

The winds killed 45 persons in northeastern Arkansas and 16 in northeastern Iowa, with property damage estimated at more than $45 million.

Alerts Distributed

Pearson reported that on May 15 his office issued 11 tornado watches—alerts disseminated to news media, Civil Defense officials and others that conditions were right for twisters to develop.

But the May 15 alerts did not prevent death and destruction.

Take for example the town of Jonesboro, Ark., where 34 persons were killed.

Jonesboro was included in a tornado watch issued at 9:20 p.m. The twister struck about 30 minutes later and caught most citizens by surprise, many of them in their beds.

Jonesboro, although situated in an area frequently raked by tornadoes, has no warning siren. Officials explained they did not feel they needed one, since the town it said had never been hit before.

Gene Talbert, Arkansas Civil Defense director, said Jonesboro and Craighead County now plan jointly to hire a fulltime Civil Defense chief.

"Actually, I think we've got a good tornado warning system in Arkansas," said Talbert. "The Weather Bureau does a tremendous job cooperating with us."

Siren Wasn't Sounded

The same day of the Arkansas tornado, the Weather Bureau issued a watch at 2:35 p.m. for an area including Charles City, Iowa. A twister funnel was spotted southwest of town at 4:20 p.m., and the storm struck at 4:52 p.m. Thirteen persons died.

Although they had plenty of warning, Charles City officials did not sound the town's fire siren to get citizens into a shelter.

Charles City Mayor Harry L. Brenton said the town's fire chief decided against sounding the fire alarm because it would have "pulled a lot of kids out in the streets. It always does. I think it was a wise decision."

Brenton said the town's factory whistles now are coordinated with the fire department and they will be sounded in case of tornadoes until a new city hall, with tornado siren is erected.

Pearson and his Weather Bureau companies emphasize all they can do is warn residents of the possibility of twisters, and the rest is up to them.

"There's nothing you can do to save property," Pearson explained, "but give people five minutes, and they can save themselves."

Pearson advocates that every community set up a Civil Defense group or similar organization of volunteers to act as tornado spotters when alerted by the Weather Bureau.

Proper Method Offered

He suggests radio and television stations—the prime means of communicating storm warnings—install Weather Bureau news printers.

The ideal method, said Pearson, is the Emergency Broadcast System, EBS in which radio stations transmit a special signal that automatically turns on radio sets to broadcast warnings.

EBS radios are installed in the principal's office of every school in Kansas City, the meteorologist said.

"Generally, if people have been affected by a tornado before or know someone who has, they do all the right things," said Pearson.

"You don't have to tell people in, say, Topeka what to do. They've been through it, and they're believers.

"But most people go through their entire life without ever seeing a tornado. These are the people we've got to work on."

Judge Fines, Jails Drivers

A Glenmoor man and a Calcutta woman were fined and jailed for driving while intoxicated by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine Thursday.

Fined $250 and costs, jailed for three days and given a 30-day license suspension were Thomas Woods of Glenmoor and Clara V. Gourley of Calcutta. The woman was also fined $10 and costs for public intoxication.

Others fined were Richard B. Adams of 1048 Huston Ave., $15 and costs for an unsafe vehicle; Aubrey J. Blocksom of 329 E. Washington St., Lisbon, $20 and costs for a stop sign violation.

Lola V. Avent of 1517½ St. Clair Ave., $30 and costs for driving left of center; Gary V. Jackson of Carnell Rd., $40 and costs for reckless operation, and James B. Andrason of 1645 Cleveland Ave., $30 and costs for speeding.

A $5 fine and costs were suspended for Emma Joan Smith of Gardendale, charged with driving with an expired permit.

Teacher Militancy Top Issue At Convention

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Teacher militancy is the issue getting the most attention at the convention of the Education Commission of the States, which closes today.

Dr. Nathan P. Feinsinger, a labor mediator, said at Thursday's session he had some advice for public school teachers: "Don't let the success of last year go to your heads."

"School administrators will be ready for you next time," said the University of Wisconsin law professor. He told the commission he referred to strike action by teachers.

Enlarging on this at a news conference, Feinsinger said, "There is trouble with a capital T ahead for teachers if they go on strike."

He said he thinks school boards and administrations are more determined than ever to resist such walkouts and public pressures against striking teachers will build up formidably.

"School teachers now are more militant than the old trade unions," Feinsinger said.

He said voluntary agreements, including arbitration, would be far more effective. "Mediation does not necessarily imply compromise," he said.

The teacher's viewpoint was expressed by Albert Shanker of New York in another panel discussion. Shanker, president of the United Federation of Teachers, said, "teachers go out on the picket line not to protect the status quo, but to change things for the better."

James F. Redmond, superintendent of Chicago schools, said he is opposed to "school boards, administrations, community groups and teachers being placed in an adversary position and they should not be pushed into an adversary position."

Rehabilitation Group Is Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Establishment of a Rehabilitation Services Commission to help an estimated 230,000 Ohioans was called for Thursday by a special governor's council.

The proposal is from the Governor's Council on Vocational Rehabilitation. The council said the commission is needed to put the rehabilitation self-help concept in a high priority position in state government.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who reviewed a long list of council proposals, urged members to start drafting legislative proposals to implement the recommendations.

Police Head Gives Warning In Pittsburgh Fire Bombing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police Supt. James W. Slusser has given a stern warning to those persons who've been throwing firebombs in the city.

He said persons who take a firebomb in their hands, "are quite likely to die . . . They're quite likely to be shot in the process of that bombing."

Slusser made the remark on WJAS radio station's "Comment" program Thursday. Slusser had not been scheduled to appear on the program but came to the studio after listening to an interview with the Rev. Leigh Jarvis, a minister from Pittsburgh's Northview Heights.

Slusser made the statement after Jarvis had said, "It has been inferred that I condone firebombing, stone throwing and general disturbances. I am for law and order but I'm also concerned with the use of overforce on the part of the police department."

Slusser's comment came after a series of firebombings in the city over the past several weeks. The latest incident happened Thursday night when persons tossed a lighted gasoline bomb into a store in the Garfield section. Police said there was minor damage.

Firebombings in the Hazelwood section early Thursday gutted three buildings and injured six persons. Fire Chief Harry Keller estimated damage at about $40,000.

Following the bombings, Slusser had issued an order to all policemen to "use every means at your command" to protect the safety of innocent lives.

Leaders of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the United Negro Protest Committee, the Poor People's caampaign and several clergymen said Slusser's remarks have been "harsh and vindictive."

They said they're going to arrange a meeting with Mayor Joseph M. Barr to discuss Slusser's comments and incidents of "alleged brutality."

Kentuckian Sees U.S. Hard Way, By Pedaling Bike

A tanned and friendly Joe Bowen, 25-year-old Kentuckian, bicycled through East Liverpool Thursday afternoon, 11,000 miles and 29 states on his goal of discovering America.

Joe, a four-year Air Force veteran who decided he wanted to get a close look at his own country, left California April 8, 1967, on his venture, which he expects will put 14,000 miles on his 10-speed lightweight bike by the time he calls it quits in August to head for college.

Son of a tobacco farmer at Bowen (named after his great-great - grandfather) near Lexington, Joe is enrolled at Eastern Kentucky Universty, where he plans to major in education.

He keeps himself neat and shaven in an effort to symbolize what he believes young Americans should be, rather than the hairy and unwashed examples in Hippiedom.

Joe came in via Route 39 from Salineville and Wellsville, having been at Marion, Ind., last week where he was speaker at a national convention of bicyclists.

He thinks cycling is a better way to learn about the nation and the people who live in it. "You can't do it at 70 miles an hour in a noisy auto," he said.

Dressed in a T-shirt and shorts, his garb throughout the long trip (he spent the winter in the Southwest and was caught in the heavy snow in New Mexico), Joe was to visit an Air Force buddy at Aliquippa last night, then head for Cleveland, Niagara Falls and Washington.

Joe, who simply stops and gets a job when he runs out of money, says he will work for airplane fare once he gets to the capital. No more bikes, he declares firmly.

National Mayors Group Slated To Back Humphrey

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nine big city mayors, including Cleveland's Carl B. Stokes, will be named in Minneapolis Monday as co-chairmen of a national Mayors for Humphrey Committee, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said today.

Stokes will be joined by Thomas Currigan, Denver; Arthur Naftalin, Minneapolis; James H. J. Tate, Philadelphia; Joseph Alioto, San Francisco; Ivan Allen Jr., Atlanta; Joseph M. Barr, Pittsburgh; Thomas Byrne, St. Paul, and A. J. Cervantes, St. Louis, the newspaper said.

Following a luncheon at Humphrey's suburban Minneapolis home, Stokes and other mayors will accompany the vice president here on a 24-hour presidential campaign visit.

Besides Stokes, three of the Ohio mayors invited to take part in the Minneapolis announcement are delegates to the Democratic national convention. They are John M. Petruska of Parma, Maynard E. Sensenbrenner of Columbus and Anthony B. Flask of Youngstown.

DAV Auxiliary Elects Officers

They are: Mrs. Edison Watson, commander; Mrs. Vernon Barnes, senior vice commander; Mrs. Rolly Barnes, junior vice commander; Miss Margaret Flora, chaplain; Mrs. Robert Matthews, treasurer, and Mrs. Larry Diddle, adjutant.

Installation of elected and appointed officers will be July 10 at 8 p. m. at the meeting hall on Smith St.

Meetings have been changed to the second Wednesday of each month.

The auditing committee includes Mrs. Vernon Barnes, Mrs. Rolley Barnes and Mrs. Cody Deering, with books to be audited before the next meeting.

Mrs. Matthews presided.

Are You Prepared For A Tornado?

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP — Only one out every 10 towns in the U.S. tornado belt has an adequate warning system, says Allen Pearson, director of the Weather Bureau's National Severe Storms Forecast Center.

"And this is an improvement from what it was a few years ago," he adds.

Pearson and others were asked about the nation's tornado readiness status in the wake of a near-record barrage of twisters that battered the Midwest May 15.

The winds killed 45 persons in northeastern Arkansas and 16 in northeastern Iowa, with property damage estimated at more than $45 million.

Alerts Distributed

Pearson reported that on May 15 his office issued 11 tornado watches—alerts disseminated to news media, Civil Defense officials and others that conditions were right for twisters to develop.

But the May 15 alerts did not prevent death and destruction.

Take for example the town of Jonesboro, Ark., where 34 persons were killed.

Jonesboro was included in a tornado watch issued at 9:20 p.m. The twister struck about 30 minutes later and caught most citizens by surprise, many of them in their beds.

Jonesboro, although situated in an area frequently raked by tornadoes, has no warning siren. Officials explained they did not feel they needed one, since the town it said had never been hit before.

Gene Talbert, Arkansas Civil Defense director, said Jonesboro and Craighead County now plan jointly to hire a fulltime Civil Defense chief.

"Actually, I think we've got a good tornado warning system in Arkansas," said Talbert. "The Weather Bureau does a tremendous job cooperating with us."

Siren Wasn't Sounded

The same day of the Arkansas tornado, the Weather Bureau issued a watch at 2:35 p.m. for an area including Charles City, Iowa. A twister funnel was spotted southwest of town at 4:20 p.m., and the storm struck at 4:52 p.m. Thirteen persons died.

Although they had plenty of warning, Charles City officials did not sound the town's fire siren to get citizens into a shelter.

Charles City Mayor Harry L. Brenton said the town's fire chief decided against sounding the fire alarm because it would have "pulled a lot of kids out in the streets. It always does. I think it was a wise decision."

Brenton said the town's factory whistles now are coordinated with the fire department and they will be sounded in case of tornadoes until a new city hall, with tornado siren is erected.

Pearson and his Weather Bureau companies emphasize all they can do is warn residents of the possibility of twisters, and the rest is up to them.

"There's nothing you can do to save property," Pearson explained, "but give people five minutes, and they can save themselves."

Pearson advocates that every community set up a Civil Defense group or similar organization of volunteers to act as tornado spotters when alerted by the Weather Bureau.

Proper Method Offered

He suggests radio and television stations—the prime means of communicating storm warnings—install Weather Bureau news printers.

The ideal method, said Pearson, is the Emergency Broadcast System, EBS in which radio stations transmit a special signal that automatically turns on radio sets to broadcast warnings.

EBS radios are installed in the principal's office of every school in Kansas City, the meteorologist said.

"Generally, if people have been affected by a tornado before or know someone who has, they do all the right things," said Pearson.

"You don't have to tell people in, say, Topeka what to do. They've been through it, and they're believers.

"But most people go through their entire life without ever seeing a tornado. These are the people we've got to work on."

Judge Fines, Jails Drivers

A Glenmoor man and a Calcutta woman were fined and jailed for driving while intoxicated by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine Thursday.

Fined $250 and costs, jailed for three days and given a 30-day license suspension were Thomas Woods of Glenmoor and Clara V. Gourley of Calcutta. The woman was also fined $10 and costs for public intoxication.

Others fined were Richard B. Adams of 1048 Huston Ave., $15 and costs for an unsafe vehicle; Aubrey J. Blocksom of 329 E. Washington St., Lisbon, $20 and costs for a stop sign violation.

Lola V. Avent of 1517½ St. Clair Ave., $30 and costs for driving left of center; Gary V. Jackson of Carnell Rd., $40 and costs for reckless operation, and James B. Andrason of 1645 Cleveland Ave., $30 and costs for speeding.

A $5 fine and costs were suspended for Emma Joan Smith of Gardendale, charged with driving with an expired permit.

Teacher Militancy Top Issue At Convention

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Teacher militancy is the issue getting the most attention at the convention of the Education Commission of the States, which closes today.

Dr. Nathan P. Feinsinger, a labor mediator, said at Thursday's session he had some advice for public school teachers: "Don't let the success of last year go to your heads."

"School administrators will be ready for you next time," said the University of Wisconsin law professor. He told the commission he referred to strike action by teachers.

Enlarging on this at a news conference, Feinsinger said, "There is trouble with a capital T ahead for teachers if they go on strike."

He said he thinks school boards and administrations are more determined than ever to resist such walkouts and public pressures against striking teachers will build up formidably.

"School teachers now are more militant than the old trade unions," Feinsinger said.

He said voluntary agreements, including arbitration, would be far more effective. "Mediation does not necessarily imply compromise," he said.

The teacher's viewpoint was expressed by Albert Shanker of New York in another panel discussion. Shanker, president of the United Federation of Teachers, said, "teachers go out on the picket line not to protect the status quo, but to change things for the better."

James F. Redmond, superintendent of Chicago schools, said he is opposed to "school boards, administrations, community groups and teachers being placed in an adversary position and they should not be pushed into an adversary position."

Rehabilitation Group Is Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Establishment of a Rehabilitation Services Commission to help an estimated 230,000 Ohioans was called for Thursday by a special governor's council.

The proposal is from the Governor's Council on Vocational Rehabilitation. The council said the commission is needed to put the rehabilitation self-help concept in a high priority position in state government.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who reviewed a long list of council proposals, urged members to start drafting legislative proposals to implement the recommendations.

Police Head Gives Warning In Pittsburgh Fire Bombing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police Supt. James W. Slusser has given a stern warning to those persons who've been throwing firebombs in the city.

He said persons who take a firebomb in their hands, "are quite likely to die . . . They're quite likely to be shot in the process of that bombing."

Slusser made the remark on WJAS radio station's "Comment" program Thursday. Slusser had not been scheduled to appear on the program but came to the studio after listening to an interview with the Rev. Leigh Jarvis, a minister from Pittsburgh's Northview Heights.

Slusser made the statement after Jarvis had said, "It has been inferred that I condone firebombing, stone throwing and general disturbances. I am for law and order but I'm also concerned with the use of overforce on the part of the police department."

Slusser's comment came after a series of firebombings in the city over the past several weeks. The latest incident happened Thursday night when persons tossed a lighted gasoline bomb into a store in the Garfield section. Police said there was minor damage.

Firebombings in the Hazelwood section early Thursday gutted three buildings and injured six persons. Fire Chief Harry Keller estimated damage at about $40,000.

Following the bombings, Slusser had issued an order to all policemen to "use every means at your command" to protect the safety of innocent lives.

Leaders of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the United Negro Protest Committee, the Poor People's caampaign and several clergymen said Slusser's remarks have been "harsh and vindictive."

They said they're going to arrange a meeting with Mayor Joseph M. Barr to discuss Slusser's comments and incidents of "alleged brutality."

ANN LANDERS

Heavy Wife Sets A Goal

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Today I made up my mind to face a problem that has been causing me a lot of unhappiness—overweight.

"I'm going to master my mouth and look like a woman instead of a blimp."

Here is my plan: My husband's birthday is exactly 110 days away. I'm going to give him as a birthday gift the figure he married nine years ago. This means I must knock off 30 pounds.

Please print my letter so I can cut it out of the paper and paste it on my bathroom mirror as a daily strength-giver. Thanks, Ann. — BETTER CURVES AHEAD.

Dear Better: Here's your letter but don't paste it on the bathroom mirror. Glue it to the refrigerator door.

Your plan provides you with the motivation you've been needing. And it's a gift only YOU can give him. Heartiest congratualtions.

Waltz Time

Dear Ann: I've been happily married for 12 years to an attractive man whose virtues outnumber his faults by far. His shyness with women is extremely appealing and, I reasoned, a comforting safeguard.

One of the minor sacrifices I made during courtship was his refusal to learn to dance. He was too self-conscious (he said) to hold a woman in his arms and move about to the rhythm of seductive music.

But something has happened to change things. This past year my husband has been doing some business traveling. He reports that the wives of his associates often ask him to dance and he wishes he could. Now he wants to take dancing lessons.

Should I say yes to the lessons or would I be wise to discourage his sudden new interest which might lead to real trouble? — DILEMMA IN THE DISTRICT.

Dear Dilemma: Not all dancers are chasers—and not all nondancers are true to their wives. If a husband wants to slip his collar he'll find a way—and he won't need music.

Encourage him to take lessons and be his best partner.

Romping Duet

Dear Ann: My 38-year-old husband and 14-year-old daughter have a "father-son" relationship which I once thought was wonderful. Now I'm beginning to have some doubts.

Every evening Dad and Cora romp on the floor, wrestling and rolling around. She's a fully developed young lady and, in my opinion, she should not be horsing around like this.

We have a 16-year-old son who never has been at ease with his father. I've suggested it would make more sense if he wrestled with Junior and left his daughter alone. He says I have an evil mind. Have I? — WORRIED.

Dear Worried: A fully developed 14-year-old girl should not be rolling around on the floor with any man—not even her father. The horseplay which may well have started out in complete innocence could set off some unexpected [illegible].

Your husband's attitude toward his son, as well as his daughter, suggests he could use counseling. The man needs to gain some insight into his feelings toward his children. If you think it will help, tell him I said so.

Confidentially

To Can't Get Thru to Him: Stop trying. It sounds to me as if he's doing his best. Sometimes when the other person seems to be out of step it is because he hears a different drummer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A duck, a sheep and a rooster were the first airborne passengers. On Sept. 19, 1783, the first large lighter-than-air craft with live cargo was successfully flown in France. The linen-and-paper balloon, designed by Joseph and Jacques Montgolfier, was filled with smoke, causing it to rise about 1,500 feet. The Montgolfier brothers were inspired by watching smoke rise in a chimney.

Two More Ohioans Claimed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army man from Ohio has been killed in recent action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Thursday.

He was identified as W. O. James B. Tasker of Troy.

Another Ohioan, Army Sgt. Gregory M. Ross of Youngstown, has been changed from the list of missing to dead not as a result of hostile action.

Another Top-Level Meeting Slated On Ohio Prison Riot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another top-level meeting was scheduled in Gov. James A. Rhodes' office today as state officials mulled over the problems of the fire-wracked, riot-torn Ohio Penitentiary.

One problem being analyzed is the manpower situation involving guards at the prison in downtown Columbus where rioting inmates set fires Monday, causing more than $1 million damage.

"The problem is not money to hire the guards, it is the availability of guards," reported John McElroy, the governor's executive assistant, following a preliminary meeting Thursday afternoon.

Rhodes, McElroy, State Personnel Director Wayne Ward, State Finance Director Howard Collier and Corrections Commissioner Maury Koblentz were in on Thursday's meeting.

McElroy said that Martin A. Janis, director of mental hygiene and correction for Ohio, was out of town but planned to attend today's session.

Also absent was Warden Ernie Maxwell, who was busy at the penitentiary, McElroy reported.

Asked following the closed meeting if state officials had been warned of possible trouble at the prison, McElroy replied:

"There are always rumors and you check to see if there is any foundation.

"To my knowledge there was no specific warning."

National Guard troops called in after the rioting broke out remained at the penitentiary today, about 200 strong. Initially, 800 were called out but most have been relieved of the emergency duty.

The number of inmates implicated in the rioting reached 71 Thursday, officials reported.

Indians' 'Camp' Set In Bid To Get Land Back

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Another Washington had its Resurrection City today—a teepee and tent encampment set up by Indians who say they want their land back because white men haven't lived up to their treaties.

The camp, established on a corner of the state capitol grounds, is referred to by Indian leader Janet McCloud as "Resurrection City II." Some of its leaders also were active in the life of the first Resurrection City in the nation's capital.

When the camp started, Mrs. McCloud announced the Indians were reclaiming a good part of the state—including Olympia. She said the white man had broken the Medicine Creek Treaty of 1854.

The current nighttime population of the camp, consisting of three 20-foot canvas teepees and four tents is 29, Mrs. McCloud said.

ANN LANDERS

Heavy Wife Sets A Goal

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Today I made up my mind to face a problem that has been causing me a lot of unhappiness—overweight.

"I'm going to master my mouth and look like a woman instead of a blimp."

Here is my plan: My husband's birthday is exactly 110 days away. I'm going to give him as a birthday gift the figure he married nine years ago. This means I must knock off 30 pounds.

Please print my letter so I can cut it out of the paper and paste it on my bathroom mirror as a daily strength-giver. Thanks, Ann. — BETTER CURVES AHEAD.

Dear Better: Here's your letter but don't paste it on the bathroom mirror. Glue it to the refrigerator door.

Your plan provides you with the motivation you've been needing. And it's a gift only YOU can give him. Heartiest congratualtions.

Waltz Time

Dear Ann: I've been happily married for 12 years to an attractive man whose virtues outnumber his faults by far. His shyness with women is extremely appealing and, I reasoned, a comforting safeguard.

One of the minor sacrifices I made during courtship was his refusal to learn to dance. He was too self-conscious (he said) to hold a woman in his arms and move about to the rhythm of seductive music.

But something has happened to change things. This past year my husband has been doing some business traveling. He reports that the wives of his associates often ask him to dance and he wishes he could. Now he wants to take dancing lessons.

Should I say yes to the lessons or would I be wise to discourage his sudden new interest which might lead to real trouble? — DILEMMA IN THE DISTRICT.

Dear Dilemma: Not all dancers are chasers—and not all nondancers are true to their wives. If a husband wants to slip his collar he'll find a way —and he won't need music.

Encourage him to take lessons and be his best partner.

Romping Duet

Dear Ann: My 38-year-old husband and 14-year-old daughter have a "father-son" relationship which I once thought was wonderful. Now I'm beginning to have some doubts.

Every evening Dad and Cora romp on the floor, wrestling and rolling around. She's a fully developed young lady and, in my opinion, she should not be horsing around like this.

We have a 16-year-old son who never has been at ease with his father. I've suggested it would make more sense if he wrestled with Junior and left his daughter alone. He says I have an evil mind. Have I? — WORRIED.

Dear Worried: A fully developed 14-year-old girl should not be rolling around on the floor with any man—not even her father. The horseplay which may well have started out incomplete innocence could set off some unexpected [illegible].

Your husband's attitude toward his son, as well as his daughter, suggests he could use counseling. The man needs to gain some insight into his feelings toward his children. If you think it will help, tell him I said so.

Confidentially

To Can't Get Thru to Him: Stop trying. It sounds to me as if he's doing his best. Sometimes when the other person seems to be out of step it is because he hears a different drummer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Twenty years ago, amateur baseball flourished in East Liverpool. The old city league, composed of 10 teams from town or the Newell-Chester area, drew big crowds at Patterson Field and Columbian Park in East End.

THIS WAS before the advent of youth baseball, and many of the establishments that sponsor teams in the youth leagues now sponsored teams in the city league then. But with the coming of first the Little League an then Colt and Pony leagues, interest waned in amateur ball by older players. Two probable causes of this were the rise in the influence of the woman, and her desire to see her children play ball rather than her husband, and the rise in popularity of golf, which took men away from the ball fields.

More fields were built for the youth, and the sites for the independent teams slipped away. Columbian Park is now the location of a trucking firm and a car dealer.

Still the killing blow was the loss of Patterson Field for baseball when football bleachers were erected. Many people are indignant about this, contending that the field was left for the use of the townspeople and not of the school district. As Mr. Miller states, smaller towns like Wellsville and Irondale have places to play, and East Liverpool does not.

Even the high school program is affected by the lack of a field. East Liverpool High's baseball team played virtually no home games this year, and those that were at home were on a borrowed field, the Colt League field. Small wonder the voters won't pass a levy for baseball when they can never see the team play.

THE SUPPOSED agreement, when the bleachers were erected at Patterson Field, was that when the new high school was built there would be a field there. But no such field was included in the plans.

Superintendent of Schools Paul Blair says that the school board wants to have not only a baseball field, but a practice football field and a track adjacent to the new school, and is working toward that end. But some ground will have to be leveled, and the expense of this is undetermined.

It is hoped that the board can see its way clear to approving the project, preferably in time for play next spring, so that not only amateur baseball but high school baseball may flourish in East Liverpool.

Letter To The Editor

I'm writing this letter in behalf of myself and other men I play ball with.

I just got out of the service and came back to my home town to live.

I enjoy playing baseball and always have, but ever since I got out of high school and turned 18 I was too old to play in smaller leagues. There hasn't been a ball field for the older guys to play ball in.

There are a lot of men in town who play baseball but are losing interest because our team always has to go to another town to get use of a ball field.

In 1965 our team (the East Liverpool entry in the Tri-County League) had to use Midland's ball field for its home field, but this year the Midland Legion has that field so we can't practice at all or have any home baseball games.

The men who play also live here, work in the area and support our businesses. I feel we're at least entitled to a baseball field to play on just the same as the Pony League, Colt League and Legion teams.

It seems that smaller towns around here can get the use of ball fields for their citizens who enjoy playing baseball the same as we do.

We have played Irondale and Wellsville, both of which have very nice fields. Those are just two of the small towns we play, and every one we do play has its own field.

HIHS Loop Second Half Under Way

The second half of play, delayed by rain, finally got under way in the HIHS league last night with four games.

The Highlandtown Apaches edged the Irondale Indians 8-6 as Jeff Corbin bested Bill Allen. Jon Talbott homered for the winners.

WVU Eleven To Face 3 New Foes In 1969

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia University will open its 1969 football schedule with three new teams.

The Mountaineers open the 1969 season with Cincinnati, then entertain Maryland and travel to New Orleans for their first meeting with Tulane.

Also on the schedule announced Thursday by Athletic Director Robert N. Brown are Pitt, Penn State, Syracuse, William and Mary, VMI, Kentucky and Richmond.

Hookstown, Lawrenceville Win Easily

Lawrenceville and Hookstown easily won senior division games in the South Side Athletic Club League Thursday night.

Lawrenceville whipped Newell 13-3 and Hookstown blanked Hanover 12-0. Bill Lyons was the winner for Lawrenceville and Dave Jividen the loser. Jay Mumaw had three hits, including a homer and double, to pace Lawrenceville while Bruce Haun had a double and single and Duke Reed and Rick Strosnider two hits. Jim Stine and Dave Williams had two hits for Newell.

NEWELL	100 011 0—	3 5
LAWRENCEVILLE	840 010 x—13	10

Hookstown pounded out 23 hits at Hanover in support of Sam Laughlin, who allowed four hits and fanned 13. Larry Anderson went 3 for 3 including two homers and Ed Ashcroft was 3 for 3 including a double. Stan Tate, Jeff Wilson and Steve Potts all had three hits each and Steve Trimble two triples. Chuck Read took the loss.

In a junior division game Hanover whipped Shippingport 16-1 on the losers' diamond. Martin Williamson was the winning pitcher and had a double and triple. C. Cox and West each had a single and triple and Mickey Mahaffey had two hits for the losers. Chuck Flaim took the loss.

Cunningham's Hit Key To Win

American Legion Post 374's baseball team avenged its only loss of the season with a 2-1 win over Salem at Midland last night.

Bill Montgomery was the winner, giving up a home run to Markovich in the first inning. Post 374 scored two in the bottom half, routing Palmer and bringing on Jim Ciotti, who dueled Montgomery on even terms the rest of the way.

After Markovic homered the next two batters singled, but Montgomery got the third out and then allowed only one more hit the rest of the game. He walked two and fanned eight in raising his record to 2-1. Post 374 is 7-1 overall and 3-1 in Columbiana County League play.

Bob Bartram singled to lead off the first for the locals. Gary (Mike) Caruso walked and Dan Cunningham, hitting at .437, singled to tie the score, with Caruso taking third. Ciotti came on at this point and Cunningham tried an "early steal". When the ball was thrown to second Caruso scored and Cunningham was safe. Ciotti slammed the door at that point, allowing only two more hits the rest of the way.

Atlanta Edges Phillies

Mets Creep Toward .500; Dodgers Beat Marichal

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here come the Mets! Again!

New York's grown-up expansion babes soared within a stride of hitherto unreachable heights Thursday night ... for the fifth time this month ... by trimming Houston 3-1 behind right-handers Don Cardwell and Ron Taylor.

The victory put the Mets' season record at 35-36. They never have reached the .500 level, after the first week, in any of their previous six National League seasons. But for the past two weeks it's been touch and go.

A four-game winning streak brought the Mets within a step of the elusive break-even point on June 14. The next day they rattled 16 hits off San Francisco's Juan Marichal ... and lost 9-5.

Last Saturday, Gil Hodges' youngsters were knocking at the door again, but Los Angeles' Don Drysdale applied the brakes. Then, two shots at .500 in Cincinnati this week became a pair of one-run losses.

Tonight in the Astrodome, Nolan Ryan, a 21-year-old rookie with a 6-5 record and speed to burn, leads the uphill assault against last-place Houston and fireballer Larry Dierker, 7-10 on the season.

In Thursday's only other NL games, Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 6-5 on Zoilo Versalles' 11th-inning homer, ending Marichal's personal winning streak at 10 games, and Atlanta shaded Philadelphia 4-3 under the lights as brothers Hank and Tommie Aaron combined to drive in three runs.

Cardwell, who went into the Houston game with six straight setbacks and a 1-8 record, blanked the Astros for seven innings before leaving under fire in the eighth. With one run in, Taylor came out of the Met bullpen and got the third out, stranding two base runners, then retired the Astros in order in the ninth.

Two of Ed Charles' three hits figured in the New York scoring. Singles by Cleon Jones and Charles, a late throw to the plate on Jerry Grote's grounder, a balk by losing pitcher Denny Lemaster and Jerry Buchek's sacrifice fly sent two runs across in the seventh. Singles by Charles, Grote and Don Bosch produced an insurance run in the ninth.

Versalles' leadoff homer off Marichal in the 11th ruined the Giant ace's bid for his 15th victory and dropped San Francisco into third place, one-half game behind Atlanta and seven back of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie McCovey drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers, staking Marichal to an early 5-2 lead. The Dodgers rebounded on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the fifth and tied it on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's run-scoring single in the sixth.

Four LA relievers then battled Marichal, 14-3, to a standoff until Versalles' second homer broke the tie.

Hank Aaron drilled his 14th homer ... and 495th of his career ... and brother Tommie delivered two runs with a pair of singles, helping the Braves take a 4-2 lead into the ninth.

But winner Pat Jarivs needed relief help from Cecil Upshaw, who retired Rich Allen on a sharp grounder to third baseman Marty Martinez for the fi-

Bosox Rout McDowell, Wallop Indians 9-3

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam McDowell was fine as long as he was throwing strikes. It was only when he let the Red Sox hit the ball that he got in trouble.

McDowell, selected as a member of the American League All-Star pitching staff earlier in the day, struck out the side in the first inning against Boston Thursday night. But between strikeouts the Red Sox scored six unearned runs on their way to a 9-3 romp over Cleveland.

Joe Foy opened the Red Sox first against McDowell with a bloop single and raced to third when Larry Brown threw wild on Jerry Adair's grounder. McDowell struck out Carl Yastrzemski but Ken Harrelson stroked the first of his three hits, scoring Foy.

Brown's second error of the inning gave Boston another run and Rico Petrocelli singled for the third one. George Scott struck out but Russ Gibson walked, loading the bases and Jose Santiago singled for two runs. McDowell wild pitched the sixth run in and walked Foy before fanning Adair for the third out.

Santiago, also an All-Star, worked five innings before leaving with a slight sorness in his right elbow. He got his ninth victory in 13 decisions.

McDowell lasted 2 1-3 innings, allowing seven unearned runs and striking out four. The loss evened his record at 7-7.

Minnesota moved into second place, one-half game in front of Baltimore and Cleveland and one game up on idle Oakland, by whipping the Orioles in a rain-abbreviated game.

Like McDowell, loser Jim Hardin was the victim of unearned runs. The Twins scored twice in the second when Tony Oliva opened with a wind-blown double and moved to third on brooks Robinson's error on Bob Allison's grounder.

Allison was caught off first as Frank Quilici struck out but reached second when the Orioles tried in vain to trap Oliva off third.

Tiant, McDowell All-Stars

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — New Faces of 1968 could well be the name for the youthful and relatively inexperienced pitching corps which will represent the American League in the All-Star game at Houston July 9.

Not a single repeater from 1967 was on the seven-man staff named Thursday by Manager Dick Williams. Four were chosen for the first time in their careers, while the other three—Denny McLain of Detroit, Sam McDowell of Cleveland and Mel Stottlemyre of New York—have hurled in just one previous classic each.

McLain, the league's big winner with a 13-2 record, was the starting pitcher the only other time he was selected in 1966, hurling three perfect innings.

McDowell, 7-6, pitched two innings in the 1965 game, giving up one run in taking the 6-5 loss. The fireballing left-hander also was selected in 1966, but had arm trouble and was replaced on the squad by teammate Sonny Siebert.

The 1968 starting team except for the pitcher, chosen by vote of the players and announced earlier includes catcher Bill Freehan, Detroit; first baseman Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota; second baseman Rod Carew, Minnesota; third baseman Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; shortstop Jim Fregosi, California; and outfielders Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, Frank Howard, Washington, and Willie Horton, Detroit.

The rest of the squad will be selected by Williams and named later.

Cleveland Open Golf Led By Jacklin's 66

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Jacklin appears to be in the groove again and he owes it all to an unintentional layoff.

The young British golfer failed to make the cut in last week's Canadian Open and did not qualify for the U.S. Open two weeks ago.

"I was mentally exhausted. I overplayed myself. I only had two weeks off in the last six months," the 23-year-old pro said Thursday after taking a three-stroke lead in the $110,000 Cleveland Open with a torrid five-under-par 66.

Jacklin figures only two rounds of golf in the last two weeks are putting him in stride again.

Gusty winds and temperatures in the 60s plagued most of the 144 golfers on the 6,742-yard Lakewood Country Club course but hardly bothered the popular Englishman.

Chasing Jacklin were a quartet of pros at 69. They were Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, Hideyo Sugimoto of Tokyo, Dave Stockton and Wayne Yates.

All-time leading money-winner Arnold Palmer, who shot a fine 67 in Wednesday's pro-amateur, soared to a 75 and was in danger of missing the cut.

Palmer suffered a double bogey on the 603-yard No. 14 when he drove into the rough, his ball landing under a tree. He used an iron trying to get out but his ball still was in the rough.

Post 374 Nips Salem 2-1 Behind Montgomery's 4-Hitter

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Twenty years ago, amateur baseball flourished in East Liverpool. The old city league, composed of 10 teams from town or the Newell-Chester area, drew big crowds at Patterson Field and Columbian Park in East End.

THIS WAS before the advent of youth baseball, and many of the establishments that sponsor teams in the youth leagues now sponsored teams in the city league then. But with the coming of first the Little League an then Colt and Pony leagues, interest waned in amateur ball by older players. Two probable causes of this were the rise in the influence of the woman, and her desire to see her children play ball rather than her husband, and the rise in popularity of golf, which took men away from the ball fields.

More fields were built for the youth, and the sites for the independent teams slipped away. Columbian Park is now the location of a trucking firm and a car dealer.

Still the killing blow was the loss of Patterson Field for baseball when football bleachers were erected. Many people are indignant about this, contending that the field was left for the use of the townspeople and not of the school district. As Mr. Miller states, smaller towns like Wellsville and Irondale have places to play, and East Liverpool does not.

Even the high school program is affected by the lack of a field. East Liverpool High's baseball team played virtually no home games this year, and those that were at home were on a borrowed field, the Colt League field. Small wonder the voters won't pass a levy for baseball when they can never see the team play.

THE SUPPOSED agreement, when the bleachers were erected at Patterson Field, was that when the new high school was built there would be a field there. But no such field was included in the plans.

Superintendent of Schools Paul Blair says that the school board wants to have not only a baseball field, but a practice football field and a track adjacent to the new school, and is working toward that end. But some ground will have to be leveled, and the expense of this is undetermined.

It is hoped that the board can see its way clear to approving the project, preferably in time for play next spring, so that not only amateur baseball but high school baseball may flourish in East Liverpool.

Letter To The Editor

I'm writing this letter in behalf of myself and other men I play ball with.

I just got out of the service and came back to my home town to live.

I enjoy playing baseball and always have, but ever since I got out of high school and turned 18 I was too old to play in smaller leagues. There hasn't been a ball field for the older guys to play ball in.

There are a lot of men in town who play baseball but are losing interest because our team always has to go to another town to get use of a ball field.

In 1965 our team (the East Liverpool entry in the Tri-County League) had to use Midland's ball field for its home field, but this year the Midland Legion has that field so we can't practice at all or have any home baseball games.

The men who play also live here, work in the area and support our businesses. I feel we're at least entitled to a baseball field to play on just the same as the Pony League, Colt League and Legion teams.

It seems that smaller towns around here can get the use of ball fields for their citizens who enjoy playing baseball the same as we do.

We have played Irondale and Wellsville, both of which have very nice fields. Those are just two of the small towns we play, and every one we do play has its own field.

Cunningham's Hit Key To Win

American Legion Post 374's baseball team avenged its only loss of the season with a 2-1 win over Salem at Midland last night.

Bill Montgomery was the winner, giving up a home run to Markovich in the first inning. Post 374 scored two in the bottom half, routing Palmer and bringing on Jim Ciotti, who dueled Montgomery on even terms the rest of the way.

After Markovic homered the next two batters singled, but Montgomery got the third out and then allowed only one more hit the rest of the game. He walked two and fanned eight in raising his record to 2-1. Post 374 is 7-1 overall and 3-1 in Columbiana County League play.

Bob Bartram singled to lead off the first for the locals. Gary (Mike) Caruso walked and Dan Cunningham, hitting at .437, singled to tie the score, with Caruso taking third. Ciotti came on at this point and Cunningham tried an "early steal". When the ball was thrown to second Caruso scored and Cunningham was safe. Ciotti slammed the door at that point, allowing only two more hits the rest of the way.

Mets Creep Toward .500; Dodgers Beat Marichal

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here come the Mets! Again!

New York's grown-up expansion babes soared within a stride of hitherto unreachable heights Thursday night . . . for the fifth time this month . . . by trimming Houston 3-1 behind right-handers Don Cardwell and Ron Taylor.

The victory put the Mets' season record at 35-36. They never have reached the .500 level, after the first week, in any of their previous six National League seasons. But for the past two weeks it's been touch and go.

A four-game winning streak brought the Mets within a step of the elusive break-even point on June 14. The next day they rattled 16 hits off San Francisco's Juan Marichal . . . and lost 9-5.

Last Saturday, Gil Hodges' youngsters were knocking at the door again, but Los Angeles' Don Drysdale applied the brakes. Then, two shots at .500 in Cincinnati this week became a pair of one-run losses.

Tonight in the Astrodome, Nolan Ryan, a 21-year-old rookie with a 6-5 record and speed to burn, leads the uphill assault against last-place Houston and fireballer Larry Dierker, 7-10 on the season.

In Thursday's only other NL games, Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 6-5 on Zoilo Versalles' 11th-inning homer, ending Marichal's personal winning streak at 10 games, and Atlanta shaded Philadelphia 4-3 under the lights as brothers Hank and Tommie Aaron combined to drive in three runs.

Cardwell, who went into the Houston game with six straight setbacks and a 1-8 record, blanked the Astros for seven innings before leaving under fire in the eighth. With one run in, Taylor came out of the Met bullpen and got the third out, stranding two base runners, then retired the Astros in order in the ninth.

Two of Ed Charles' three hits figured in the New York scoring. Singles by Cleon Jones and Charles, a late throw to the plate on Jerry Grote's grounder, a balk by losing pitcher Denny Lemaster and Jerry Buchek's sacrifice fly sent two runs across in the seventh. Singles by Charles, Grote and Don Bosch produced an insurance run in the ninth.

Versalles' leadoff homer off Marichal in the 11th ruined the Giant ace's bid for his 15th victory and dropped San Francisco into third place, one-half game behind Atlanta and seven back of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie McCovey drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers, staking Marichal to an early 5-2 lead. The Dodgers rebounded on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the fifth and tied it on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's run-scoring single in the sixth.

Four LA relievers then battled Marichal, 14-3, to a standoff until Versalles' second homer broke the tie.

Hank Aaron drilled his 14th homer . . . and 495th of his career . . . and brother Tommie delivered two runs with a pair of singles, helping the Braves take a 4-2 lead into the ninth.

But winner Pat Jarivs needed relief help from Cecil Upshaw, who retired Rich Allen on a sharp grounder to third baseman Marty Martinez for the fi-

Bosox Rout McDowell, Wallop Indians 9-3

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam McDowell was fine as long as he was throwing strikes. It was only when he let the Red Sox hit the ball that he got in trouble.

McDowell, selected as a member of the American League All-Star pitching staff earlier in the day, struck out the side in the first inning against Boston Thursday night. But between strikeouts the Red Sox scored six unearned runs on their way to a 9-3 romp over Cleveland.

Joe Foy opened the Red Sox first against McDowell with a bloop single and raced to third when Larry Brown threw wild on Jerry Adair's grounder. McDowell struck out Carl Yastrzemski but Ken Harrelson stroked the first of his three hits, scoring Foy.

Brown's second error of the inning gave Boston another run and Rico Petrocelli singled for the third one. George Scott struck out but Russ Gibson walked, loading the bases and Jose Santiago singled for two runs. McDowell wild pitched the sixth run in and walked Foy before fanning Adair for the third out.

Santiago, also an All-Star, worked five innings before leaving with a slight sorness in his right elbow. He got his ninth victory in 13 decisions.

McDowell lasted 2 1-3 innings, allowing seven unearned runs and striking out four. The loss evened his record at 7-7.

Minnesota moved into second place, one-half game in front of Baltimore and Cleveland and one game up on idle Oakland, by whipping the Orioles in a rain-abbreviated game.

Like McDowell, loser Jim Hardin was the victim of unearned runs. The Twins scored twice in the second when Tony Oliva opened with a wind-blown double and moved to third on brooks Robinson's error on Bob Allison's grounder.

Allison was caught off first as Frank Quilici struck out but reached second when the Orioles tried in vain to trap Oliva off third.

Tiant, McDowell All-Stars

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — New Faces of 1968 could well be the name for the youthful and relatively inexperienced pitching corps which will represent the American League in the All-Star game at Houston July 9.

Not a single repeater from 1967 was on the seven-man staff named Thursday by Manager Dick Williams. Four were chosen for the first time in their careers, while the other three—Denny McLain of Detroit, Sam McDowell of Cleveland and Mel Stottlemyre of New York—have hurled in just one previous classic each.

McLain, the league's big winner with a 13-2 record, was the starting pitcher the only other time he was selected in 1966, hurling three perfect innings.

McDowell, 7-6, pitched two innings in the 1965 game, giving up one run in taking the 6-5 loss. The fireballing left-hander also was selected in 1966, but had arm trouble and was replaced on the squad by teammate Sonny Siebert.

The 1968 starting team except for the pitcher, chosen by vote of the players and announced earlier includes catcher Bill Freehan, Detroit; first baseman Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota; second baseman Rod Carew, Minnesota; third baseman Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; shortstop Jim Fregosi, California; and outfielders Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, Frank Howard, Washington, and Willie Horton, Detroit.

The rest of the squad will be selected by Williams and named later.

Cleveland Open Golf Led By Jacklin's 66

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Jacklin appears to be in the groove again and he owes it all to an unintentional layoff.

The young British golfer failed to make the cut in last week's Canadian Open and did not qualify for the U.S. Open two weeks ago.

"I was mentally exhausted. I overplayed myself. I only had two weeks off in the last six months," the 23-year-old pro said Thursday after taking a three-stroke lead in the $110,000 Cleveland Open with a torrid five-under-par 66.

Jacklin figures only two rounds of golf in the last two weeks are putting him in stride again.

Gusty winds and temperatures in the 60s plagued most of the 144 golfers on the 6,742-yard Lakewood Country Club course but hardly bothered the popular Englishman.

Chasing Jacklin were a quartet of pros at 69. They were Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, Hideyo Sugimoto of Tokyo, Dave Stockton and Wayne Yates.

All-time leading money-winner Arnold Palmer, who shot a fine 67 in Wednesday's pro-amateur, soared to a 75 and was in danger of missing the cut.

Palmer suffered a double bogey on the 603-yard No. 14 when he drove into the rough, his ball landing under a tree. He used an iron trying to get out but his ball still was in the rough.

HIHS Loop Second Half Under Way

The second half of play, delayed by rain, finally got under way in the HIHS league last night with four games.

Hookstown, Lawrenceville Win Easily

Lawrenceville and Hookstown easily won senior division games in the South Side Athletic Club League Thursday night.

Lawrenceville whipped Newell 13-3 and Hookstown blanked Hanover 12-0. Bill Lyons was the winner for Lawrenceville and Dave Jividen the loser. Jay Mumaw had three hits, including a homer and double, to pace Lawrenceville while Bruce Haun had a double and single and Duke Reed and Rick Strosnider two hits. Jim Stine and Dave Williams had two hits for Newell.

NFL Players OK Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Strike talk was in the air today as National Football League players' and owners' representatives arrived in Detroit for a negotiating session.

The Associated Press learned Thursday night that NFL players have voted to strike unless owners grant demands for a higher minimum salary, improved pension plans and higher exhibition game pay.

All 640 NFL players were contacted in a telephone poll and a vast majority of them voted to authorize a strike, it was learned.

Detroit Lions owner William Clay Ford said today's meeting is a regular meeting between the players' association and owners' negotiating committees, not an emergency session as had been reported.

Time and place of the meeting could not be ascertained Thursday night.

Lions offensive lineman John Gordy, president of the association, and Philadelphia Eagles quarterback King Hill, vice president, were expected to lead the players' representatives.

Ford said reports of the strike threat were "strictly a rumor. "There is nothing to substantiate it." He said he spoke with Gordy Thursday night and Gordy made no mention of a strike.

"I know for a fact that the players have not been polled," Ford said. He declined to elaborate.

In Philadelphia, however, Eagles' linebacker Dave Lloyd said there had been an information telephone poll of Eagles players.

"We have been contacted, but we haven't had a group meeting to say whether we'd strike or not," Lloyd said.

Gordy was unavailable for comment in Detroit. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was not in New York and also could not be reached for comment.

In Wimbledon Play

Pasarell Meets Rosewall, Loses In Five-Set Match

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — If anyone is to stop Ken Rosewall from winning Wimbledon, he's got to do it by scoring points quickly.

Ask Charlie Pasarell, top-ranked U.S. amateur who came near to toppling the great Australian in the second round Thursday.

"Unless you score the points quickly, you don't win it at all," the husky star from Santurce, Puerto Rico said.

"Once a rally gets going, he get better and better with each stroke and eventually he puts one right through you."

Pasarell's booming service—one of the most powerful in the world—brought him close to glory on the center court. Finally Rosewall, after trailing 0-2 in the final set, won 7-9, 6-1, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3.

After four days of intermittent rain, the organizers are some 140 matches behind schedule. But they've finished all the first round of the men's single and all but seven of the second round.

Rod Laver moved into the third round Thursday with a hard-won 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 victory over No. 7 seeded Stan Smith of Los Angeles, Calif. Laver, who eliminated Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., in the first round, next faces another American—Marty Riessen, Davis Cup star from Evanston, Ill.

Pirates Get Henry; Deal Juan Pizarro

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs were the busiest team. The Cubs, who have dropped six straight and 11 of their last 12, swapped outfielder Lou Johnson to Cleveland for outfielder-pitcher Willie Smith, acquired catcher Gene Oliver from Boston, called up pitcher Bill Stoneman from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League and sent pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and first baseman John Boccabella to Tacoma.

L. Matthews Keeps Ahead In Ohio Golf

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—The defending champion and the tournament medalist were paired for today's 36-hole championship match on the Ohio Women's Amateur Golf Tournament at the Plum Brook Country Club course.

Lida Fee Matthews of Portsmouth, who won the title last year, scored an easy 5 and 4 decision over Sunny Moss, the Cleveland Women's Golf Association champion, in Thursday's semifinals.

In the other semifinal match, Pam Higgins, a 22-year-old Columbus telephone operator who won the medalist honors with a 75 Monday, defeated Mrs. Ned Oldham of Cuyahoga Falls 1 up.

"I knew I couldn't out drive Mrs. Oldham," said Miss Higgins, who has never won a major tournament. "So I just kept my cool and played a steady game."

The players had difficulty controlling their drives because of wind gusts of up to 50 miles per hour.

Lone Yacht Racers Begin To Finish

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — After nearly four weeks at sea, the single-handed ocean racers are trickling across the finish line off Newport 3,000 miles from the start at Plymouth, England.

The first two finishers came in Thursday. The 57-foot Sir Thomas Lipton was the first to finish early in the morning, and the 50-foot Voortrekker came in Thursday night. Both are ketches.

Both skippers, Geoffrey Williams of England and Bruce Dalling of South Africa, reported they had rough passages, especially the first two weeks out of England, when storms with winds up to 60 miles an hour drove across their courses.

There were 48 ocean racers at the start, but by today eight were known to have dropped out because of damages to hulls or spars in the storms. One boat sank.

The Sir Thomas Lipton was declared overall winner of the race, subject to any possible protests. When other boats are in, a winner on corrected time will be declared.

Williams' elapsed time for the passage was 26 days, 20 hours and 29 minutes. The Voortrekker came in 17 hours and three minutes later.

Americans Closing In On Curtis Cup

WALTON HEATH, England (AP) — TWo American girls from the same state, born and reared only a few miles apart, eyed each other with care and caution today. Both are getting close to the British Women's Golf championship, and only one of them can win.

The quarter finals of the 1968 British title play over Walton Heath's 6,242-yard, par-75 course have so worked out that the three American survivors all are in the top bracket of the draw.

Two of them must face the issue before the day is out. They are Peggy Conley, 21, of Spokane, Wash., and Anne Welts, 31, of Mount Vernon, Wash.

If both Americans win, they must tackle each other in the afternoon to reach Saturday morning's semifinals.

Fans Follow 10,000 Run With Lindgren In Race

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It used to be that the casual track and field fan stepped out for a soft drink during the 10,000-meter run and might not return for, say, the discus or the shot put.

Not anymore, and it won't be so when America's finest launch the two-day U.S. Olympic Trials in Memorial Coliseum on Saturday.

A little guy named Gerry Lindgren changed the fans' thinking on the 10,000 meters when, as a kid of 17 from Spokane, Wash., he taunted and ran away from the Russians in the USA-USSR international meet four years ago. It happened in this same coliseum.

Now a 21-year-old senior from Washington State University, the 5-6 Lindgren will be back to run in either or both the 5,000 and 10,000 Saturday and Sunday.

Parry O'Brien started the new trend toward shot putting when he broke the 60-foot barrier about a dozen years ago. He attended the University of Southern California. Dallas Long of USC carried on and now the unquestioned king is Randy Matson, late of Texas A&M.

Matson will delight the crowd Saturday and perhaps threaten his world record of 71-5½. He has one of the most cultivated grunts in the world of weight men.

In Europe the discus is big, and today the biggest in the event is a pleasant, 30-year-old insurance man from Smithfield, Utah, Jay Silvester. He'll perform Sunday. Last May 22 at Modesto, Calif., Silvester obliterated the world record of 213-11½ held by Ludvik Danek of Czechoslovakia when he hurled the thing 218-4.

There will be no TV of the trials, neither national or local.

West Favored By TD In Grid Game Tonight

129SPTlblqyqyxsueed11 eg28

ALTANTA (AP)—Both coaches in the eighth annual Coaches All-America football game say they think their squads are too small.

Injuries may hamper the West in tonight's game, slated for 8:30 p.m. at Atlanta Stadium, and although the East is expected to be at full strength, it could run into problems if some players are hurt in the contest.

There are 30 men on each squad.

"We need to increase the size of the squads," said West Coach Dee Andros of Oregon State Tursday. "We need to add two or three men to each team.

"We're too short-handed, particularly at end and in the backfield," Andro added.

East Coach John Pont of Indiana agreed. "We need more reserves, not so much in the offensive line, but particularly among the backs and ends," he said. "I'm going to recommend that they add a couple more players to the size of next year' team."

On the West squad, flanker Rick Eber of Tulsa is bothered by a stone-bruise and defensive back Ken Dyer of Arizona State has suffered a pulled muscle.

On the East side, defensive back Sammy Grezaffi of LSU sprained an ankle earlier but has fully recovered.

Andros said an earlier injury to Paul Toscano of Wymoing hurt the West.

UCLA's Gary Beban will start for the West and Greg Landry of Massachusetts will open at quarterback for the East.

Brechler New AD At California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Paul W. Brechler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, was named athletic director of the University of California's Berkeley campus today, succeeding Pete Newell who resigned in the wake of unrest among Negro athletes.

Brechler, 55, will assume the position Aug. 15, according to University Chancellor Roger W. Heyns.

Brechler was commissioner of the WAC six years, commissioner of the old Skyline Conference for three years, and was athletic director at the University of Iowa from 1947 until 1960.

Newell, who became Cal's athletic director in 1960, resigned in March while a university committee was conducting an investigation into charges by 40 Negro athletes that some members of the athletic department—but not Newell—discriminated against Negroes. The athletes had threatened to boycott varsity sports.

Newell has been named general manager of the San Diego Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

Belmont Race Winner In Saranac 'Cap

By The Associated Press

Stage Door Johnny, the Greentree Stable colt who upset Forward Pass in the Belmont Stakes, resumes his campaign for the 3-year-old championship on Saturday.

He is scheduled to go in the one-mile $50,000 Saranac Handicap at Belmont Park.

Sharing interest with the Saranac and Stage Door Johnny this weekend is the $75,000 Vanity Handicap at Hollywood Park.

Stage Door Johnny, assigned top weight of 126 pounds, likely will be opposed in the Saranac by Out Of The Way, Jig Time, Call A Cop and Papa Steve. Iron Ruler and Alley Fighter are other possibles.

Gamely, a 4-year-old filly who was second to Dr. Fager in the Californian, has been assigned top weight of 131 pounds in the Vanity Handicap. If she wins, she will be the first of her sex to take the 1⅛ mile test under such high weight.

Freshmen Eligibility Questioned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A movement to repeal recent action by the NCAA that allows freshmen to compete on varsity teams in most sports will be introduced at next year's NCAA convention.

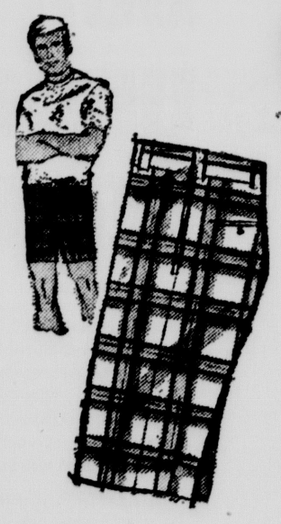

At a meeting of the 11 commissioners of the major collegiate athletic conferences, representatives of four of conferences said they would push for repeal.

The four-day meeting of the Collegiate Commissioners Association wound up Thursday. Bill Reed, Big Ten commissioner and outgoing president of the group, said the association was divided on the question.

NFL Players OK Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Strike talk was in the air today as National Football League players' and owners' representatives arrived in Detroit for a negotiating session.

The Associated Press learned Thursday night that NFL players have voted to strike unless owners grant demands for a higher minimum salary, improved pension plans and higher exhibition game pay.

All 640 NFL players were contacted in a telephone poll and a vast majority of them voted to authorize a strike, it was learned.

Detroit Lions owner William Clay Ford said today's meeting is a regular meeting between the players' association and owners' negotiating committees, not an emergency session as had been reported.

Time and place of the meeting could not be ascertained Thursday night.

Lions offensive lineman John Gordy, president of the association, and Philadelphia Eagles quarterback King Hill, vice president, were expected to lead the players' representatives.

Ford said reports of the strike threat were "strictly a rumor. "There is nothing to substantiate it." He said he spoke with Gordy Thursday night and Gordy made no mention of a strike.

"I know for a fact that the players have not been polled," Ford said. He declined to elaborate.

In Philadelphia, however, Eagles' linebacker Dave Lloyd said there had been an information telephone poll of Eagles players.

"We have been contacted, but we haven't had a group meeting to say whether we'd strike or not," Lloyd said.

Gordy was unavailable for comment in Detroit. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was not in New York and also could not be reached for comment.

In Wimbledon Play

Pasarell Meets Rosewall, Loses In Five-Set Match

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — If anyone is to stop Ken Rosewall from winning Wimbledon, he's got to do it by scoring points quickly.

Ask Charlie Pasarell, top-ranked U.S. amateur who came near to toppling the great Australian in the second round Thursday.

"Unless you score the points quickly, you don't win it at all," the husky star from Santurce, Puerto Rico said.

"Once a rally gets going, he get better and better with each stroke and eventually he puts one right through you."

Pasarell's booming service—one of the most powerful in the world—brought him close to glory on the center court. Finally Rosewall, after trailing 0-2 in the final set, won 7-9, 6-1, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3.

After four days of intermittent rain, the organizers are some 140 matches behind schedule. But they've finished all the first round of the men's single and all but seven of the second round.

Rod Laver moved into the third round Thursday with a hard-won 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 victory over No. 7 seeded Stan Smith of Los Angeles, Calif. Laver, who eliminated Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., in the first round, next faces another American—Marty Riessen, Davis Cup star from Evanston, Ill.

1st National Wins Again In Minor Play

First National won its 11th straight game in minor league play last night by whipping Tri-State 18-9.

M&A Dodge trounced Potters Bank 15-4 and Potters Savings edged TS&T 10-8 in the other games.

Jeff Badgley was the winning pitcher for First National and Tim Barton took the loss. Badgley, Andy Calhoun and Dave Wolfe had three hits each and Ken Morris and Dean Badgley triples. Murray had a single and triple and Woods two hits for the losers.

Pirates Get Henry; Deal Juan Pizarro

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs were the busiest team. The Cubs, who have dropped six straight and 11 of their last 12, swapped outfielder Lou Johnson to Cleveland for outfielder-pitcher Willie Smith, acquired catcher Gene Oliver from Boston, called up pitcher Bill Stoneman from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League and sent pitcher Chuck Hartenstein and first baseman John Boccabella to Tacoma.

L. Matthews Keeps Ahead In Ohio Golf

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—The defending champion and the tournament medalist were paired for today's 36-hole championship match on the Ohio Women's Amateur Golf Tournament at the Plum Brook Country Club course.

Lida Fee Matthews of Portsmouth, who won the title last year, scored an easy 5 and 4 decision over Sunny Moss, the Cleveland Women's Golf Association champion, in Thursday's semifinals.

In the other semifinal match, Pam Higgins, a 22-year-old Columbus telephone operator who won the medalist honors with a 75 Monday, defeated Mrs. Ned Oldham of Cuyahoga Falls 1 up.

"I knew I couldn't out drive Mrs. Oldham," said Miss Higgins, who has never won a major tournament. "So I just kept my cool and played a steady game."

The players had difficulty controlling their drives because of wind gusts of up to 50 miles per hour.

Lone Yacht Racers Begin To Finish

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — After nearly four weeks at sea, the single-handed ocean racers are trickling across the finish line off Newport 3,000 miles from the start at Plymouth, England.

The first two finishers came in Thursday. The 57-foot Sir Thomas Lipton was the first to finish early in the morning, and the 50-foot Voortrekker came in Thursday night. Both are ketches.

Both skippers, Geoffrey Williams of England and Bruce Dalling of South Africa, reported they had rough passages, especially the first two weeks out of England, when storms with winds up to 60 miles an hour drove across their courses.

There were 48 ocean racers at the start, but by today eight were known to have dropped out because of damages to hulls or spars in the storms. One boat sank.

The Sir Thomas Lipton was declared overall winner of the race, subject to any possible protests. When other boats are in, a winner on corrected time will be declared.

Williams' elapsed time for the passage was 26 days, 20 hours and 29 minutes. The Voortrekker came in 17 hours and three minutes later.

Americans Closing In On Curtis Cup

WALTON HEATH, England (AP) — TWo American girls from the same state, born and reared only a few miles apart, eyed each other with care and caution today. Both are getting close to the British Women's Golf championship, and only one of them can win.

The quarter finals of the 1968 British title play over Walton Heath's 6,242-yard, par-75 course have so worked out that the three American survivors all are in the top bracket of the draw.

Two of them must face the issue before the day is out. They are Peggy Conley, 21, of Spokane, Wash., and Anne Welts, 31, of Mount Vernon, Wash.

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It used to be that the casual track and field fan stepped out for a soft drink during the 10,000-meter run and might not return for, say, the discus or the shot put.

Not anymore, and it won't be so when America's finest launch the two-day U.S. Olympic Trials in Memorial Coliseum on Saturday.

A little guy named Gerry Lindgren changed the fans' thinking on the 10,000 meters when, as a kid of 17 from Spokane, Wash., he taunted and ran away from the Russians in the USA-USSR international meet four years ago. It happened in this same coliseum.

Now a 21-year-old senior from Washington State University, the 5-6 Lindgren will be back to run in either or both the 5,000 and 10,000 Saturday and Sunday.

Parry O'Brien started the new trend toward shot putting when he broke the 60-foot barrier about a dozen years ago. He attended the University of Southern California. Dallas Long of USC carried on and now the unquestioned king is Randy Matson, late of Texas A&M.

Matson will delight the crowd Saturday and perhaps threaten his world record of 71-5½. He has one of the most cultivated grunts in the world of weight men.

In Europe the discus is big, and today the biggest in the event is a pleasant, 30-year-old insurance man from Smithfield, Utah, Jay Silvester. He'll perform Sunday. Last May 22 at Modesto, Calif., Silvester obliterated the world record of 213-11½ held by Ludvik Danek of Czechoslovakia when he hurled the thing 218-4.

There will be no TV of the trials, neither national or local.

129SPTlblqyqyxsueed11 eg28

ALTANTA (AP)—Both coaches in the eighth annual Coaches All-America football game say they think their squads are too small.

Injuries may hamper the West in tonight's game, slated for 8:30 p.m. at Atlanta Stadium, and although the East is expected to be at full strength, it could run into problems if some players are hurt in the contest.

There are 30 men on each squad.

"We need to increase the size of the squads," said West Coach Dee Andros of Oregon State Tursday. "We need to add two or three men to each team.

"We're too short-handed, particularly at end and in the backfield," Andro added.

East Coach John Pont of Indiana agreed. "We need more reserves, not so much in the offensive line, but particularly among the backs and ends," he said. "I'm going to recommend that they add a couple more players to the size of next year' team."

On the West squad, flanker Rick Eber of Tulsa is bothered by a stone-bruise and defensive back Ken Dyer of Arizona State has suffered a pulled muscle.

On the East side, defensive back Sammy Grezaffi of LSU sprained an ankle earlier but has fully recovered.

Andros said an earlier injury to Paul Toscano of Wymoing hurt the West.

UCLA's Gary Beban will start for the West and Greg Landry of Massachusetts will open at quarterback for the East.

Brechler New AD At California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Paul W. Brechler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, was named athletic director of the University of California's Berkeley campus today, succeeding Pete Newell who resigned in the wake of unrest among Negro athletes.

Brechler, 55, will assume the position Aug. 15, according to University Chancellor Roger W. Heyns.

Brechler was commissioner of the WAC six years, commissioner of the old Skyline Conference for three years, and was athletic director at the University of Iowa from 1947 until 1960.

Newell, who became Cal's athletic director in 1960, resigned in March while a university committee was conducting an investigation into charges by 40 Negro athletes that some members of the athletic department—but not Newell—discriminated against Negroes. The athletes had threatened to boycott varsity sports.

Newell has been named general manager of the San Diego Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

Belmont Race Winner In Saranac 'Cap

By The Associated Press

Stage Door Johnny, the Greentree Stable colt who upset Forward Pass in the Belmont Stakes, resumes his campaign for the 3-year-old championship on Saturday.

He is scheduled to go in the one-mile $50,000 Saranac Handicap at Belmont Park.

Sharing interest with the Saranac and Stage Door Johnny this weekend is the $75,000 Vanity Handicap at Hollywood Park.

Stage Door Johnny, assigned top weight of 126 pounds, likely will be opposed in the Saranac by Out Of The Way, Jig Time, Call A Cop and Papa Steve. Iron Ruler and Alley Fighter are other possibles.

Gamely, a 4-year-old filly who was second to Dr. Fager in the Californian, has been assigned top weight of 131 pounds in the Vanity Handicap. If she wins, she will be the first of her sex to take the 1¼ mile test under such high weight.

Freshmen Eligibility Questioned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A movement to repeal recent action by the NCAA that allows freshmen to compete on varsity teams in most sports will be introduced at next year's NCAA convention.

At a meeting of the 11 commissioners of the major collegiate athletic conferences, representatives of four of conferences said they would push for repeal.

The four-day meeting of the Collegiate Commissioners Association wound up Thursday. Bill Reed, Big Ten commissioner and outgoing president of the group, said the association was divided on the question.

Accused Of Murdering Kennedy

Intense Precautions Set As Sirhan Makes Appeal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Intense security precautions are being taken at Los Angeles County Central Jail today for an appearance in a chapel-turned-courtroom by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Today's court appearance, Sirhan's third since the June 5 assassination and his first in three weeks, was set up for a plea. But Russell E. Parsons, Sirhan's attorney, said he planned to ask a three-week continuance for time to give the case more study.

Parsons said he wanted to study the lengthy transcript of the county grand jury proceeding June 7 that led to Sirhan's indictment on one count of murder and five counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

The assault charges were filed on behalf of five bystanders wounded in the fusillade of bullets that felled the Democratic presidential aspirant.

The most seriously wounded of those five, Paul Schrade, western regional director for the United Auto Workers Union, was reported Thursday to be making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Today's proceeding at the chapel, where Sirhan formally was charged with murder three weeks ago, originally had been scheduled for the Hall of Justice where he is to be tried.

The County Board of Supervisors has authorized installation of protection devises, at an estimated cost of $20,000 because of numerous threats against Sirhan and Parsons.

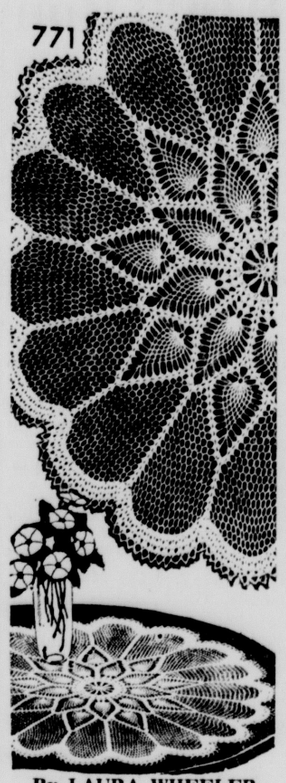

New walls and heavy steel doors are being installed in a 13th floor room which will be used for noncourtroom proceedings.

The trial will be held on the hall's eighth floor and the route Sirhan will take to the courtroom will be sealed and the windows covered with heavy steel plates. In the courtroom itself, Sirhan, the judge, jury and attorneys will be protected by a large shield of steel and bullet-proof glass.

George Washington's will provided that all 124 slaves he owned were to be free citizens upon the death of Martha.

Garbage Pickup Starts As Strike Ends In Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Pickup of more than 50,000 tons of accumulated garbage began today after a strike by 3,700 outside workers ended.

Members of the Canadian Union of Public Employes voted Thursday night 1,062-724 to accept wage proposals essentially the same as the government offered before the strike began a week ago.

The workers originally asked for a 50 per cent increase in the basic wage of $2.61 an hour for laborers. Prior to the strike they scaled down their demands to 20 per cent. They accepted a 15 per cent increase, 10 per cent retroactive to Dec. 31 and an additional five per cent on Dec. 31, 1968. The settlement will raise the hourly rate to $3 on Jan. 1.

Cavette Visits Hollywood

Dick Cavett, ABC's new morning talk show sensation, has been doing his turn from Hollywood the past two weeks instead of New York City. Why?

Hal Humphrey

"For the inherent excitement, I guess," says the droll Cavett, who obviously heard the phrase in one of those network executive huddles where such decisions are made and cloaked in that type of ostentatious language.

"AT FIRST I was too numb to think at all. I didn't think it was possible to do 90 minutes, five days a week, but now I know it's possible," he says, still with a tone of doubt in his voice, however.

Cavett was a writer on Jack Paar's "Tonight" show for a year and a half. He also wrote for Merv Griffin's weekday show and for Jerry Lewis when the latter did that abortive two-hour show of his for ABC a few weeks.

Following that, Cavett wrote for Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show, so he has plenty of experience being witness to such TV grinds.

"But you don't know what it is until you do it yourself. I still keep an emergency question written down on the corner of something in case I go blank with a guest," he says.

ABC WANTED HIM to do the show "live," but this Cavett refused. He didn't want to get up that early in the morning himself, and figured many of the guests from the show business world wouldn't either. As he pointed out to the network, nobody knows any more whether a show is "live" or not anyway, or cares particularly.

He tapes in the evenings, then frequently watches it the next morning, second-guessing himself on "what I should have said in that spot."

"I'll catch something a guest said that I didn't hear during the taping," he says. "Either I was trying to pick up a cue for a commercial break, or something distracted me.

"People tell me I look as if I was always listening to the interviewee, but I'm not sometimes.

"Now, Jack Paar has marvelous powers of concentration, and I think he got so used to his show that the mechanics of it never bothered him. I haven't reached that stage yet, I guess."

CAVETT ACTS as if he'd been interviewing people all of his adult life, but aside from 60 one-minute commercials he did with comedian - writter Mel Brooks ("the 2,000-year-old man"), this is his first experience.

"Those were beer commercials seen in the East only that Mel and I did. I interviewed him in each before we got to the plug. They made a big hit, I guess," he says.

He gets bored with show business talk and tries to get that type of guest off on something else. Plenty of guests are not in show business either, and those like author James Baldwin get quite controversial. The mail pours in afterwards, much of it beginning with, "Now we know what you are. . .," meaning Cavett, then going on to accuse him of being a right or left-winger.

"I'M TEMPTED to send the 'left' mail to the 'right' accusers and vice versa," says Cavett, who insists he has no desire to become the hard-hitting journalist.

"I don't like controversy for its own sake either," he adds, although admitting that most of the mail he gets is on the more serious topics discussed on the show.

What bothers Cavett most about the pressure of time on such a show is that he doesn't get to prepare enough for his guests. If, for example, he has on an author, he likes time to read from his books.

"I'm learning, though, that it's easier to be the host than a guest. A guest has just that one chance to look good, but I can come back tomorrow and make up for something I missed or didn't get to say," Cavett says.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says the Justice Department will continue to make limited use of wiretaps and other electronic bugging devices despite new authority for wider use of such methods.

Clark told an appropriations subcommittee Thursday as it considered his department's budget request that the value of wiretaps is not as great as many suppose and his department is winning an increasing number of convictions without them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers whose products fill the shelves of the nation's supermarkets have impressed the Commerce Department with the way they are abandoning a bewildering array of package sizes.

Undersecretary of Commerce Howard J. Samuels said Thursday he sees no need to ask Congress for more enforcement power to achieve the goals of the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act.

Eleven industries have already agreed, he said, to reduce the number of package sizes they distribute from 289 to 104.

Buckeye Power Purchases Half Of Giant Plant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $66 million deal representing the largest single financing agreement ever handled in Columbus—the purchase of half a giant electric power plant—was transacted Thursday.

Buckeye Power Inc., an organization of 27 Ohio rural electric cooperatives, became joint owner of the big Cardinal power plant on the Ohio River at Brilliant, south of Steubenville.

Donald C. Cook, president of American Electric Power Co. and its Ohio Power subsidiary, said the purchase "will turn out to be a landmark in the power field."

The Ohio National Bank acted as trustee in the transaction.

Buckeye anticipates about $1 million a year in savings, some of which will be passed on to its more than 155,000 consumers.

Patrons Terrorized, Man Shot And Killed

Lake County sheriff's deputies said William Hillen of nearby Grand River was shot in the left shoulder and killed as he tried to enter a bar near his home.

Delays Consideration Until July 9

Senate Committee Deals Blow To Stiffer Gun Law

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive for stronger gun control laws, already beset by delays and apparent adverse public reaction, has suffered what may be a crippling setback.

The latest blow was a 7-5 vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday to delay further consideration of weapons control bills until July 9.

"Those concerned about the passage of responsible firearms legislation had better realize that this was a real defeat," Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said.

The outlook for new legislation urged by President Johnson had been dimmed previously by a slowdown in the House and by a sharp reversal in an initial flood of mail favoring strong gun controls after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Congress had seemed moving toward speedy action on a measure to prohibit interstate mail order sales of all firearms and ammunition and to ban their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state.

This would have extended to rifles and shotguns the restrictions provided for pistol sales in the recently enacted crime control bill.

But the first of this week, Johnson also asked Congress for laws requiring the national registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

Immediately after, congressmen reported their mail had reversed itself from favoring stiffer control laws and was running heavily against the proposals, particularly those requiring registration. This came after the National Rifle Association, main opponent of controls, called for a letter campaign against the bills.

In an apparent move to keep the registration controversy from affecting the mail order ban extension, Johnson asked in his message that the registration proposals not delay enactment of the bills already before Congress.

When the Senate committee met, Sen. Tydings proposed an amendment adding the registration and licensing provisions to the mail order bill, which was approved by the House Judiciary Committee last week.

After extended closed-door debate on Tydings' amendment, Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., moved to postpone further consideration of the legislation until July 9 and his suggestion was adopted, 7 to 5.

Listed as voting for the motion to postpone action were Burdick and Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii; Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.; Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C.; Edward V. Long, D-Mo.; and James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman.

Those voting against were listed as Tydings and Sens. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Tydings said three absent senators "might have been able to help" if present when the vote was taken. He said they were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; George A. Smathers, D-Fla., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Also absent at the time of the vote was Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who was presiding over an appropriations subcommittee hearing.

Lindsay's Name Due Attention As Delegates Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New York City Mayor John Lindsay is not attending but his name is up for a lot of discussion at today's meeting of Ohio's delegation to the Republican national convention.

Lindsay is being supported by Cuyahoga County Republican leaders who want him to be the running mate for the GOP presidential nominee who will be selected at the convention opening Aug. 5 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Ohio delegation is pledged to the favorite son candidacy of Gov. James A. Rhodes for president.

Rhodes and State GOP Chairman John s. Andrews have repeatedly maintained that the Ohio delegation will remain uncommitted until convention time.

Andrews said today's closed meeting was called for Ohio's 58 delegates and 58 alternates to pick a chairman.

Freight Cars Derail

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—Twenty cars of an 87-car Penn Central Railroad freight train derailed three miles north of Kenton early Friday. No one was injured, and the cause of the derailment was not determined immediately.

Accused Of Murdering Kennedy

Intense Precautions Set As Sirhan Makes Appeal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Intense security precautions are being taken at Los Angeles County Central Jail today for an appearance in a chapel-turned-courtroom by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Today's court appearance, Sirhan's third since the June 5 assassination and his first in three weeks, was set up for a plea. But Russell E. Parsons, Sirhan's attorney, said he planned to ask a three-week continuance for time to give the case more study.

Parsons said he wanted to study the lengthy transcript of the county grand jury proceeding June 7 that led to Sirhan's indictment on one count of murder and five counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

The assault charges were filed on behalf of five bystanders wounded in the fusillade of bullets that felled the Democratic presidential aspirant.

The most seriously wounded of those five, Paul Schrade, western regional director for the United Auto Workers Union, was reported Thursday to be making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Today's proceeding at the chapel, where Sirhan formally was charged with murder three weeks ago, originally had been scheduled for the Hall of Justice where he is to be tried.

The location was changed because security measures at the hall were not complete.

The County Board of Supervisors has authorized installation of protection devises, at an estimated cost of $20,000 because of numerous threats against Sirhan and Parsons.

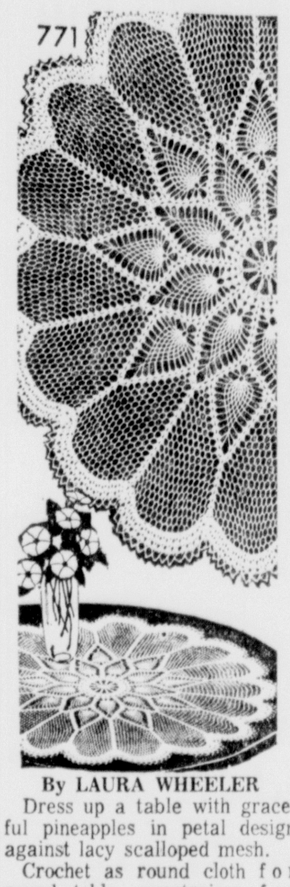

New walls and heavy steel doors are being installed in a 13th floor room which will be used for noncourtroom proceedings.

The trial will be held on the hall's eighth floor and the route Sirhan will take to the courtroom will be sealed and the windows covered with heavy steel plates. In the courtroom itself, Sirhan, the judge, jury and attorneys will be protected by a large shield of steel and bullet-proof glass.

Garbage Pickup Starts As Strike Ends In Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Pickup of more than 50,000 tons of accumulated garbage began today after a strike by 3,700 outside workers ended.

Members of the Canadian Union of Public Employes voted Thursday night 1,062-724 to accept wage proposals essentially the same as the government offered before the strike began a week ago.

The workers originally asked for a 50 per cent increase in the basic wage of $2.61 an hour for laborers. Prior to the strike they scaled down their demands to 20 per cent. They accepted a 15 per cent increase, 10 per cent retroactive to Dec. 31 and an additional five per cent on Dec. 31, 1968. The settlement will raise the hourly rate to $3 on Jan. 1.

Out Of The Air

Cavette Visits Hollywood

Dick Cavett, ABC's new morning talk show sensation, has been doing his turn from Hollywood the past two weeks instead of New York City. Why?

Hal Humphrey

"For the inherent excitement, I guess," says the droll Cavett, who obviously heard the phrase in one of those network executive huddles where such decisions are made and cloaked in that type of ostentatious language.

Cavett is not the least ostentatious himself, on or off the TV tube, and is a little dumbfounded at the success he's enjoying since his 90-minute morning show started last March.

"AT FIRST I was too numb to think at all. I didn't think it was possible to do 90 minutes, five days a week, but now I know it's possible," he says, still with a tone of doubt in his voice, however.

Cavett was a writer on Jack Paar's "Tonight" show for a year and a half. He also wrote for Merv Griffin's weekday show and for Jerry Lewis when the latter did that abortive two-hour show of his for ABC a few weeks.

Following that, Cavett wrote for Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show, so he has plenty of experience being witness to such TV grinds.

"But you don't know what it is until you do it yourself. I still keep an emergency question written down on the corner of something in case I go blank with a guest," he says.

ABC WANTED HIM to do the show "live," but this Cavett refused. He didn't want to get up that early in the morning himself, and figured many of the guests from the show business world wouldn't either. As he pointed out to the network, nobody knows any more whether a show is "live" or not anyway, or cares particularly.

He tapes in the evenings, then frequently watches it the next morning, second-guessing himself on "what I should have said in that spot."

"I'll catch something a guest said that I didn't hear during the taping," he says. "Either I was trying to pick up a cue for a commercial break, or something distracted me.

"People tell me I look as if I was always listening to the interviewee, but I'm not sometimes.

"Now, Jack Paar has marvelous powers of concentration, and I think he got so used to his show that the mechanics of it never bothered him. I haven't reached that stage yet, I guess."

CAVETT ACTS as if he'd been interviewing people all of his adult life, but aside from 60 one-minute commercials he did with comedian - writter Mel Brooks ("the 2,000-year-old man"), this is his first experience.

"Those were beer commercials seen in the East only that Mel and I did. I interviewed him in each before we got to the plug. They made a big hit, I guess," he says.

He gets bored with show business talk and tries to get that type of guest off on something else. Plenty of guests are not in show business either, and those like author James Baldwin get quite controversial. The mail pours in afterwards, much of it beginning with, "Now we know what you are. . .," meaning Cavett, then going on to accuse him of being a right or left-winger.

"I'M TEMPTED to send the 'left' mail to the 'right' accusers and vice versa," says Cavett, who insists he has no desire to become the hard-hitting journalist.

"I don't like controversy for its own sake either," he adds, although admitting that most of the mail he gets is on the more serious topics discussed on the show.

What bothers Cavett most about the pressure of time on such a show is that he doesn't get to prepare enough for his guests. If, for example, he has on an author, he likes time to read from his books.

"I'm learning, though, that it's easier to be the host than a guest. A guest has just that one chance to look good, but I can come back tomorrow and make up for something I missed or didn't get to say," Cavett says.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says the Justice Department will continue to make limited use of wiretaps and other electronic bugging devices despite new authority for wider use of such methods.

Clark told an appropriations subcommittee Thursday as it considered his department's budget request that the value of wiretaps is not as great as many suppose and his department is winning an increasing number of convictions without them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers whose products fill the shelves of the nation's supermarkets have impressed the Commerce Department with the way they are abandoning a bewildering array of package sizes.

Undersecretary of Commerce Howard J. Samuels said Thursday he sees no need to ask Congress for more enforcement power to achieve the goals of the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act.

Eleven industries have already agreed, he said, to reduce the number of package sizes they distribute from 289 to 104.

Buckeye Power Purchases Half Of Giant Plant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $66 million deal representing the largest single financing agreement ever handled in Columbus—the purchase of half a giant electric power plant—was transacted Thursday.

Buckeye Power Inc., an organization of 27 Ohio rural electric cooperatives, became joint owner of the big Cardinal power plant on the Ohio River at Brilliant, south of Steubenville.

Donald C. Cook, president of American Electric Power Co. and its Ohio Power subsidiary, said the purchase "will turn out to be a landmark in the power field."

The Ohio National Bank acted as trustee in the transaction.

The 27 cooperatives will receive their power from transmission lines tied in with Ohio Power and the plant.

Buckeye anticipates about $1 million a year in savings, some of which will be passed on to its more than 155,000 consumers.

Patrons Terrorized, Man Shot And Killed

Lake County sheriff's deputies said William Hillen of nearby Grand River was shot in the left shoulder and killed as he tried to enter a bar near his home.

Delays Consideration Until July 9

Senate Committee Deals Blow To Stiffer Gun Law

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive for stronger gun control laws, already beset by delays and apparent adverse public reaction, has suffered what may be a crippling setback.

The latest blow was a 7-5 vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday to delay further consideration of weapons control bills until July 9.

"Those concerned about the passage of responsible firearms legislation had better realize that this was a real defeat," Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said.

The outlook for new legislation urged by President Johnson had been dimmed previously by a slowdown in the House and by a sharp reversal in an initial flood of mail favoring strong gun controls after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Congress had seemed moving toward speedy action on a measure to prohibit interstate mail order sales of all firearms and ammunition and to ban their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state.

This would have extended to rifles and shotguns the restrictions provided for pistol sales in the recently enacted crime control bill.

But the first of this week, Johnson also asked Congress for laws requiring the national registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

Immediately after, congressmen reported their mail had reversed itself from favoring stiffer control laws and was running heavily against the proposals, particularly those requiring registration. This came after the National Rifle Association, main opponent of controls, called for a letter campaign against the bills.

In an apparent move to keep the registration controversy from affecting the mail order ban extension, Johnson asked in his message that the registration proposals not delay enactment of the bills already before Congress.

But his plea didn't seem to have any effect Thursday.

When the Senate committee met, Sen. Tydings proposed an amendment adding the registration and licensing provisions to the mail order bill, which was approved by the House Judiciary Committee last week.

After extended closed-door debate on Tydings' amendment, Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., moved to postpone further consideration of the legislation until July 9 and his suggestion was adopted, 7 to 5.

Listed as voting for the motion to postpone action were Burdick and Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii; Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.; Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C.; Edward V. Long, D-Mo.; and James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman.

Those voting against were listed as Tydings and Sens. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Tydings said three absent senators "might have been able to help" if present when the vote was taken. He said they were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; George A. Smathers, D-Fla., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Also absent at the time of the vote was Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who was presiding over an appropriations subcommittee hearing.

Lindsay's Name Due Attention As Delegates Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New York City Mayor John Lindsay is not attending but his name is up for a lot of discussion at today's meeting of Ohio's delegation to the Republican national convention.

Lindsay is being supported by Cuyahoga County Republican leaders who want him to be the running mate for the GOP presidential nominee who will be selected at the convention opening Aug. 5 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Ohio delegation is pledged to the favorite son candidacy of Gov. James A. Rhodes for president.

Rhodes and State GOP Chairman John s. Andrews have repeatedly maintained that the Ohio delegation will remain uncommitted until convention time.

Andrews said today's closed meeting was called for Ohio's 58 delegates and 58 alternates to pick a chairman.

LEGAL NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority will receive bids for the construction of a High Rise Apartment for the Elderly, containing 130 Dwelling Units, Project No. OH-26-1, until two o'clock, p.m., D.S.T. on 23 July 1968 at the office of the Local Authority, 126 West Sixth Street, East Liverpool, Ohio at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud. SEALED BIDS to be marked on outside of envelope.

All trades and work to be awarded under one General Contract.

Proposal forms of Contract Documents, including Plans and Specifications are on file at the office of the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority, 126 West Sixth Street, East Liverpool, Ohio, and at the office of the Architect, Robert F. Beatty, 403 Potters Savings and Loan Building, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Copies of the documents may be obtained by depositing One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars in the form of a certified check with and payable to the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority for each set of documents so obtained. The amount of the deposit will be refunded to each person who returns his plans, specifications, and other documents in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of the bids.

A certified check or bank draft payable to the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority, U.S. Government Bonds, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the Bidder and acceptable sureties in an amount equal to 5 per cent of the bid shall be submitted with each bid.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance and payment bond or bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of forty-five (45) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Junior Editors Quiz on SIMON BOLIVAR

QUESTION: Why is Simon Bolivar so famous?

ANSWER: There are 22 self-governing republics in Latin America (including Jamaica and Trinidad and Tobago, which were recently granted independence by England.) The Latin American countries were settled largely by Spanish, Portuguese and French peoplee. Since the languages that these people speak are based on ancient Latin, the settlers as a whole came to be known as Latin Americans. About 1791, these countries began to fight for independence from colonial power. Simon Bolivar, often called the George Washington of South America, is famous because he opened the way to freedom for these countries. His great victory in 1824 ended Spanish rule in South America. Bolivar hoped to form a union of South American democratic states. But the former colonies, with little experience in democracy, suffered from violent dictatorships and revolutions. By the middle of this century, a number had established stable governments. The "good neighbor policy," agreed on in 1933, pledged friendship between the U.S. and Latin American nations.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 28, the 180th day of 1968. There are 186 days left in the year.

On this date in 1914, the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated. The killing sparked World War I

On this date—

In 1778, the Revolutionary War Battle of Monmouth, N.J., was fought. Molly Pitcher's aid to the colonial troops made her a heroine in American history.

In 1838, Britain's Queen Victoria was crowned.

Ten years ago, the Soviet Union protested that a U.S. Air Force transport plane shot down in Soviet Armenia had deliberately violated Soviet air space.

Five years ago, Soviet Premier Nikita Khruschev received a luke warm welcome on a visit to East Berlin.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip To Make Buns Tasty

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR FOLKS: For those of you who like hot, soft hamburger and wiener buns, here's a new trick I tried last week.

Heloise

This is good if you have a lot of buns to fix, such as when a bunch of teenagers come in and are STARVING."

Before you get ready to serve your hamburgers, wieners or barbecue, remove the top rack from your oven and set on drainboard. Then turn your oven on to 450 degrees.

Get a big pan and fill it half full of hot water directly from your tap. There's no use to put a pan of cold water in your oven and wait for it to boil when you can use hot water from the tap and it will boil twice as fast.

While that water is getting hotter, open the rolls or buns and lay them face DOWN on that rack sitting on the counter. When the water starts to boil, slide the rack of buns in above the water.

The moisture that you are generating from the pan of water will fill those buns full of heat and moisture that give bread the freshness we want when serving our hamburgers and wieners.

If your bun is not pre-cut, cut it in half. Remember, you can't freshen a bun with this steam idea unless it's open and the cut side face down. It's the cut side which captures the steam and makes that bun moist and soft agsin.

You all might try it. We have found it absolutely wonderful.

PS. And all you mothers with baby bottle sterilizers remember they make excellent bun warmers, too! Just put your buns on the rack, add a bit of water and close the lid. Great.

DEAR HELOISE: My inquisitive toddler is at that "pulling-out-the-drawer" stage which makes quite a clean-up job for mother.

MRS. N. WILLIAMS.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I found a saying in a magazine during my "bride days" that has certainly helped me through the years, especially with four children.

Yes, Diane, we all have those days. I guess they have to be expected. God didn't promise us a heaven on earth every day. . . .

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Just how do you keep poached eggs from sticking in a skillet or pot?

Honey, this may sound way out, but so help me it's true.

A few years ago, a chef told me that if I would put two tablespsoons of vinegar in the water before dumping in the eggs to be poached, that they wouldn't stick. He cooks six eggs every morning in a big skillet with an inch of water using NO salt. Do not cover. He swore to me that I wouldn't taste the vinegar.

I've been poaching eggs in vinegar water ever since. Really, it doesn't smell and doesn't taste. And they sure don't stick.

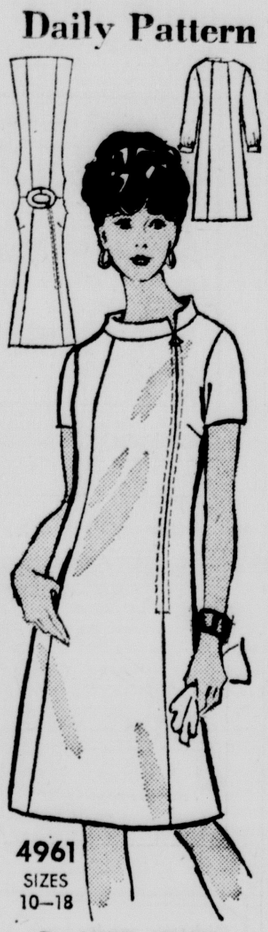

HELOISE .

DEAR HELOISE: I use my snow shovel in the yard the way I use a dust pan in the house.

I brush small amounts of trash on the shovel and put it in the incinerator. Savings stooping and since it's large, it holds a lot.

RUTH FIELD.

SHIPPINGPORT — Miss Vickie McCandless, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCandless, was honored Thursday at a birthday anniversary celebration. Twenty-six attended.

Softball was played. Dancing highlighted the affair.

Lunch was served by Mrs. McCandless and a daughter Patty.

The Jolly 8 Card Club met Thursday with Mrs. Nelle Gamble. Two tables of 500 were in play.

Prize winners were Mrs. Jeanette Hayward and Mrs. Gamble.

The next meeting will be July 1 with Mrs. Anna Mae Russell.

Mrs. Betty Call led devotions when the Willing Workers Sunday School Class of the Green Valley Methodist Church met Tuesday night with Mrs. Keith Bussard of Ohioville.

Mrs. Thomas Marker led the Bible study.

Meetings will resume in September.

The word nicotine is derived from the name of Jean Nicot, who introduced tobacco into France in 1560.

Union Slates Vote On New 3-Year Pact

CLEVELAND (AP) — Members of Local 49, Office and Professional Employes Union will vote Monday on a new three-year contract with the Addressograph-Multigraph Corp.

Agreement was reached Thursday on a new pact covering the union's 600 members, who have been on strike since June 3. Details were not disclosed.

Begins 10-Day Recess

Pennsylvania's Assembly Ends Productive Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly began a 10-day recess today after putting in one of its most productive work weeks of the current session.

Before vacating the legislative halls Thursday, the lawmakers sent Gov. Shafer the bulk of the appropriation he had asked for in his $2 billion budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The only major money bill not placed in the governor's hands were some 156 million in allocations for state-related and private universities, colleges and hospitals. The measures cleared the Senate, and the House planned to make them the first order of business when the legislature returns July 8.

The General Assembly put in a rare four-day week for two reasons: (1) To clear as many of the appropriations as possible before the start of the new fiscal year, and (2) To work on other key bills before the recess.

The major money bill approved by the legislature was a 1.71 billion general appropriation to cover 80 per cent of projected state expenditures in the coming year.

Shafer signed the measure Thursday.

It marked the first time since 1964 that the omnibus legislation won enactment prior to the start of the fiscal period. Last year's bill, requiring increased taxes to finance it, was held up for two months.

Some $575.9 million, or about one-third of the money provided in the bill, will go to local school districts. The figure represents $80 million more than they received in state subsidies for the current fiscal year.

Another 235.5 million will go for public assistance payments, which will be increased, effective Jan. 1. Last year's public assistance outlay was around $200 million.

Consumers — The House amended a Shafer administration consumer protection bill with a provision that would outlaw games and contest operated by gasoline service stations. Final action on hte measure was postponed, but two other consumer proposals were passed and sent to the Senate.

Vietnam — The House unanimously approved a bill that would authorize a statewide referendum on a proposed bonus for Pennsylvania veterans of the Vietnam war. The estimated cost of the bonus is $28 million which would be raised through the issuance of bonds.

Elections — The Senate Elections Committee released to the floor a House-passed bill after stripping virtually every major provision from the legislation. The bill was aimed at tightening restrictions on absentee voting.

Gun control — The Shafer Administration's proposed gun control bill was introduced formally in the House by Rep. John S. Renninger, R-Bucks. The measure would require owners of firearms to obtain identification cards from the State Police.

Club Hears Talk On City Notables

A review of East Liverpool residents who have achieved notable successes in their careers was presented by Miss Gladys DeBolt during a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Miss DeBolt discussed various men and women who have become widely known at state or national levels, including Ursilla Kinsey, the first woman telephone operator in the country; Dr. George Ikirt, congressman and friend of William Jennings Bryan; Dr. Frederick Reinartz, church figure; Art Schreiber, radio news figure, and Marine Maj. Gen. Keith McCutcheon.

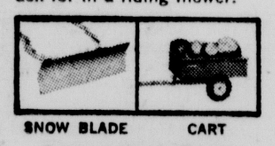

She was introduced by James Locke.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tip To Make Buns Tasty

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR FOLKS: For those of you who like hot, soft hamburger and wiener buns, here's a new trick I tried last week.

Heloise

This is good if you have a lot of buns to fix, such as when a bunch of teenagers come in and are STARVING."

Before you get ready to serve your hamburgers, wieners or barbecue, remove the top rack from your oven and set on drainboard. Then turn your oven on to 450 degrees.

Get a big pan and fill it half full of hot water directly from your tap. There's no use to put a pan of cold water in your oven and wait for it to boil when you can use hot water from the tap and it will boil twice as fast.

Slide the pan of hot water in on that bottom rack and close your oven.

While that water is getting hotter, open the rolls or buns and lay them face DOWN on that rack sitting on the counter. When the water starts to boil, slide the rack of buns in above the water.

The moisture that you are generating from the pan of water will fill those buns full of heat and moisture that give bread the freshness we want when serving our hamburgers and wieners.

If your bun is not pre-cut, cut it in half. Remember, you can't freshen a bun with this steam idea unless it's open and the cut side face down. It's the cut side which captures the steam and makes that bun moist and soft agsin.

You all might try it. We have found it absolutely wonderful.

PS. And all you mothers with baby bottle sterilizers remember they make excellent bun warmers, too! Just put your buns on the rack, add a bit of water and close the lid. Great.

DEAR HELOISE: My inquisitive toddler is at that "pulling-out-the-drawer" stage which makes quite a clean-up job for mother.

I found that wedging an old sock in the top of the drawer holds it fast enough so she can't pull it open.

MRS. N. WILLIAMS.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I found a saying in a magazine during my "bride days" that has certainly helped me through the years, especially with four children.

Yes, Diane, we all have those days. I guess they have to be expected. God didn't promise us a heaven on earth every day. . . .

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Just how do you keep poached eggs from sticking in a skillet or pot?

Honey, this may sound way out, but so help me it's true.

A few years ago, a chef told me that if I would put two tablespsoons of vinegar in the water before dumping in the eggs to be poached, that they wouldn't stick. He cooks six eggs every morning in a big skillet with an inch of water using NO salt. Do not cover. He swore to me that I wouldn't taste the vinegar.

I've been poaching eggs in vinegar water ever since. Really, it doesn't smell and doesn't taste. And they sure don't stick.

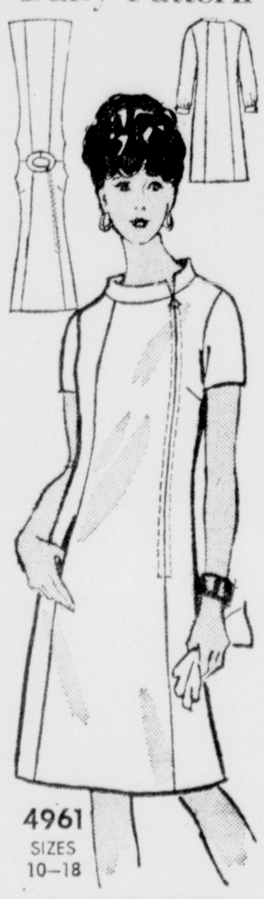

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use my snow shovel in the yard the way I use a dust pan in the house.

I brush small amounts of trash on the shovel and put it in the incinerator. Savings stooping and since it's large, it holds a lot.

RUTH FIELD.

Begins 10-Day Recess

Pennsylvania's Assembly Ends Productive Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly began a 10-day recess today after putting in one of its most productive work weeks of the current session.

Before vacating the legislative halls Thursday, the lawmakers sent Gov. Shafer the bulk of the appropriation he had asked for in his $2 billion budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The only major money bill not placed in the governor's hands were some 156 million in allocations for state-related and private universities, colleges and hospitals. The measures cleared the Senate, and the House planned to make them the first order of business when the legislature returns July 8.

The General Assembly put in a rare four-day week for two reasons: (1) To clear as many of the appropriations as possible before the start of the new fiscal year, and (2) To work on other key bills before the recess.

The major money bill approved by the legislature was a 1.71 billion general appropriation to cover 80 per cent of projected state expenditures in the coming year.

Shafer signed the measure Thursday.

It marked the first time since 1964 that the omnibus legislation won enactment prior to the start of the fiscal period. Last year's bill, requiring increased taxes to finance it, was held up for two months.

Some $575.9 million, or about one-third of the money provided in the bill, will go to local school districts. The figure represents $80 million more than they received in state subsidies for the current fiscal year.

Another 235.5 million will go for public assistance payments, which will be increased, effective Jan. 1. Last year's public assistance outlay was around $200 million.

In non-fiscal legislative developments:

Consumers — The House amended a Shafer administration consumer protection bill with a provision that would outlaw games and contest operated by gasoline service stations. Final action on hte measure was postponed, but two other consumer proposals were passed and sent to the Senate.

Vietnam — The House unanimously approved a bill that would authorize a statewide referendum on a proposed bonus for Pennsylvania veterans of the Vietnam war. The estimated cost of the bonus is $28 million which would be raised through the issuance of bonds.

Elections — The Senate Elections Committee released to the floor a House-passed bill after stripping virtually every major provision from the legislation. The bill was aimed at tightening restrictions on absentee voting.

Gun control — The Shafer Administration's proposed gun control bill was introduced formally in the House by Rep. John S. Renninger, R-Bucks. The measure would require owners of firearms to obtain identification cards from the State Police.

Club Hears Talk On City Notables

A review of East Liverool residents who have achieved notable successes in their careers was presented by Miss Gladys DeBolt during a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

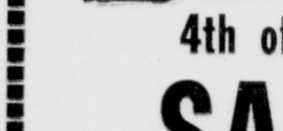

Miss DeBolt discussed various men and women who have become widely known at state or national levels, including Ursilla Kinsey, the first woman telephone operator in the country; Dr. George Ikirt, congressman and friend of William Jennings Bryan; Dr. Frederick Reinartz, church figure; Art Schreiber, radio news figure, and Marine Maj. Gen. Keith McCutcheon.

She was introduced by James Locke.
